PLENTY OF BIG RACE OPTIONS FOR I AM A STAR

I Am A Star will kick off her spring campaign at Flemington tomorrow

A host of feature spring races are in the thoughts of trainer Shane Nichols as he prepares his stable flag bearer I Am A Star (NZ) (I Am Invincible) for her return at a track where the mare is unbeaten.

I Am A Star resumes in tomorrow's Gr.3 Aurie's Star Handicap (1200m) at Flemington and while Nichols has bigger targets in sight for the four-year-old, he is certainly not discounting her making an immediate impact.

"With 58 kilos and giving the older geldings weight, she'll certainly have to be on song on Saturday," Nichols said.

"But I do expect her to run really well.

"She's not really ripped up for Saturday. This is the kick-off point and hopefully one of the lesser races she will run in during the spring.

"We're trying to have her really spot-on for the Memsie and then if she runs well there we might go to the Makybe Diva."

The A$1 million Gr.1 NZB Memsie Stakes (1400m) is three weeks after Saturday while the Gr.1 Makybe Diva Stakes (1600m) is on September 16.

Nichols said the Gr.2 Stocks Stakes against her own sex at Moonee Valley in late September could be an ideal target after that.

There are a number of other options including the Underwood Stakes and Epsom Handicap on the same weekend, and the Toorak Handicap, depending on how last year's Myer Classic winner is going.

A defence of the Myer and even a Cox Plate tilt are among the later spring considerations.

"There's a lot of options for her," Nichols said.

Nichols said sending I Am A Star to the paddock after her third in the Robert Sangster Stakes on May 6 rather than pressing on to The Goodwood two weeks later, allowed her to have a good break and she had returned a stronger horse.

"She looks as good as she has looked and I'm very happy with her at this stage," he said.

I Am A Star's Flemington starts have netted wins in the Myer and Kewney Stakes last season while she won down the straight as a two-year-old.

I Am A Star will be giving weight to eight of her nine rivals on Saturday with Australian Guineas winner Hey Doc (Duporth) topweight with 59kg.

OULAGHAN CHASES ANOTHER NATIONAL WIN

Mark Oulaghan is taking a neutral approach in assessing whether he has the firepower to win Saturday's Grand National Steeplechase (5600m) at Riccarton for a sixth time.

The Awapuni trainer made it five wins in the iconic jumping feature when Upper Cut (NZ) (Yamanin Vital) won last year's race and the now 11-year-old Yamanin Vital gelding returns to defend his crown in the Racecourse Hotel & Motor Lodge-sponsored event on Saturday, along with less-heralded stablemate Paddy Owen (NZ) (Patapan).

"It would be good to make it six, but I just don't know," Oulaghan said.

"There's one or two handy horses in there and I think you have to judge it on the Koral [Steeplechase] from Saturday. The winner [The Big Opal], if he can do another round, is going to be hard to beat.

"He didn't last year, but he looks a stronger horse this year. And the two South Island horses [Kina Win and High Forty] both went good races the other day [for second and sixth]."

Upper Cut finished fourth in the Koral, beaten 20 lengths, but that was his first steeplechase since his Grand National win last year and Oulaghan was pleased with the effort.

"It was a tough run in the Koral. He kept plugging away and he wasn't far off them," Oulaghan said.

"He comes to it quickly which is a plus and that run would have brought him on a bit. Whether it's brought him on enough, I guess we'll find out on Saturday."

Upper Cut's win last year made Oulaghan the most successful trainer in the race's history, overtaking Ken Browne and Brian Anderton, with both producing the winner on four occasions.

Anderton could level the score if High Forty (NZ) (Danzighill) can win on Saturday.

Upper Cut is one of the favoured candidates for tomorrow's Racecourse Hotel & Motor Lodge Grand National Steeplechase at Riccarton

Oulaghan's previous wins were with Deecce Seven (NZ) (Bandmaster II) in 1997 and 1998 and Counter Punch (NZ) (Yamanin Vital) in 2010 and 2011.

His past success in the race puts him in the perfect position to assess his charges against his previous winners.

"Upper Cut is a Yamanin Vital and they seem to be able to pull something out when the going gets tough. Counter Punch and Deecce Seven both won this race twice and this horse isn't far off them."

Oulaghan rated maiden steeplechaser Paddy Owen as a runner's chance in the National.

"He's a bit of a dark horse. He's a maiden jumper and it's a bit unusual to go into a National with that type of form," he said.

"He's got a bit of ability, but he's hasn't done anything like what the other horses have. He's a good little galloper and he could lob into fourth or fifth with a bit of luck."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Swampland (NZ) (Redwood)

Flemington for Swampland instead of Rosehill

Caulfield trainer Henry Dwyer will spare Swampland (NZ) (Redwood) from a trip to Sydney after deciding a race at Flemington was the right assignment for the in-form mare.

Swampland was an acceptor for Saturday's Clubs NSW Handicap (1400m) at Rosehill but the four-year-old will chase a hat trick of wins when she steps out in the Mark Young Handicap (1400m) at Flemington.

Dwyer said a wide gate and a previous failure in Sydney swayed him to run at Flemington rather than Randwick.

"She just drew wide and she would have had to have gone back to last and the Flemington race looked a more suitable race so we'd thought we'd keep her at home," Dwyer said.

"Last time she went to Sydney, she didn't travel well and went no good so we thought she's in good form and is a better chance in that (Flemington) race so it all makes sense."

Swampland beat handy filly Moonlites Choice (Bushranger) to get home narrowly in three-year-old fillies' company on July 22, but Dwyer said the winner of three from 10 starts was an improving type.

"She's in good order and had a little freshen up after that race at Flemington when she went no good but she had a little internal bleed in that race and she was really disappointing.

"We gave her two weeks in the paddock and then we brought her back and I thought she'd need to run at Cranbourne when she won but she did a good job.

"She went to Flemington and went well there so she's still on the improve. The 1400m Saturday is ideal and we've kept her fresh for that."

Regan Bayliss will ride Swampland while Jake Bayliss will be aboard Dwyer's other runner Tavi Bay (NZ) (Tavistock) in the Mark Young Handicap.

Tavi Bay won first-up at Flemington on Oaks day last year but Dwyer said he would be surprised if she repeated that effort on Saturday.

Kilmacurragh ready to make his mark

Dwayne Dunn is hoping this campaign can be the turning point for the Michael, Wayne and John Hawkes-trained Kilmacurragh (NZ) (O'Reilly) in Saturday's VRC Member Joan Watson Handicap (1400m) at Flemington.

The five-year-old son of O'Reilly has had just six starts for two wins and two placings, and has not had a preparation extend beyond two races.

"He's been trialling up nicely. Obviously they've thrown him into a difficult event, it's not easy but we think he's up to the task," Dunn said.

"He's shown us plenty at home, we have a really big opinion of him, he's just been a bit of a slow learner, he did a few things wrong early in his life.

"He's starting to put it all together now so hopefully this should be his preparation where he stands up, puts his hand up, says that he's there and 'take notice' and hopefully Saturday we start the ball rolling."

I Boogi (NZ) (Iffraaj)

Cameron's plan a winning Boogi

I Boogi (NZ) (Iffraaj) has become a much more backable proposition in recent times, and his trainer Scott Cameron said the quirky horse might even have the scope to stick a trip.

The five-year-old Iffraaj gelding has finished top-two in eight of his 12 starts, including winning three of his last four.

Cameron junior, who trains in partnership with father Russell at Flemington, said he's confident I Boogi will cope with the 1400m trip ahead of his crack at the VRC Member Joan Watson Handicap on Saturday.

"He had a little jump-out Friday, and I thought he trialled better Friday than he did before his first-up run," Cameron said.

"His work Tuesday was good, and looking forward to seeing him run Saturday.

"He's won two at a mile, so the mile's no doubt, but I think he might get 2000m if he relaxes.

"We'll let him tell us, and slowly step him up.

"He can go forward or go back [on Saturday]. Damian [Lane] knows him, he'll ride him where he's happy, and hopefully he's in the finish."

Nashville (NZ) (Darci Brahma)

Two race quandary with Nashville

Hunterville trainers Adrian and Harry Bull are in a quandary as to which race their Gr.3 Winter Cup winner Nashville (NZ) (Darci Brahma) should line-up in at Riccarton tomorrow.

The Darci Brahma gelding is currently in the fields for the Millenium Hotels and Resorts Premier Open 1400 and the Christchurch Casino Winter Classic over 1800m.

Adrian Bull highlighted weight as the main reason the multiple Group One winner still remains in both and would make a decision by Friday night.

"The weight relief in one field is the main reason," Bull said. "He only gets 55.5kg with a claim (in the 1400m). The other one he gets 60kg and there are a few good horses on 53kg." Full story here

Grand day for loyal jockey

Hamish McNeill's loyalty was repaid at Riccarton on Wednesday when he celebrated the biggest victory of his career aboard Ready Eddie (NZ) (Yamanin Vital) in the Grand National Hurdles.

The 21-year-old Scottish jockey had made a commitment to ride the Awapuni fencer in the Hospitality New Zealand Canterbury-sponsored feature prior to the events of last Saturday.

Ready Eddie (NZ) (Yamanin Vital)

McNeill was true to his word, even though he partnered Go Go Gonzo (NZ) (Golan) to a runaway win in the Sydenham Hurdles on the opening day of the carnival and the Laura Knight-trained Ready Eddie proved worthy of his rider's confidence. Full story here

Kiwi blueblood scores at Geelong

New Zealand-bred filly True Excelsior (NZ) (Exceed and Excel) is the newest addition to the honours board of the legendary Eight Carat family.

The daughter of Exceed And Excel and the Zabeel mare Special Diamond was successful when resuming at Geelong on Wednesday following placings at both of her two-year-old appearances last season.

Trained by Leon and Troy Corstens, True Excelsior was a $450,000 Karaka purchase for Rosemont Stud out of the 2016 Premier Sale draft of Cambridge Stud.

Cool hurdle debut from Jackfrost

The well-travelled Jackfrost (NZ) (Gallant Guru) has made an immediate impression in his new role.

The grey made a successful jumping debut on Wednesday for Brian and Shane Anderton when he bolted away with the Trevino's Restaurant & Bar Maiden Hurdles at Riccarton.

"He's taken to it like a duck to water, it was a good effort," Shane Anderton said. "We'll see how he is and look at the last day and might line up again."

Jackfrost won five times on the flat for David and Emma Haworth before he transferred south to Andrew Carston and subsequently to the Andertons.

Cups not Cox for classy Cambridge quartet

The presence of Australia's champion mare makes Moonee Valley a highly unlikely spring destination for a quartet of Group One performers from Cambridge.

Jon Snow (NZ) (Iffraaj)

"While Winx is around the Cox Plate is very much a back-up plan," said Andrew Forsman, who trains in partnership with Murray Baker. "The Caulfield Cup is more the focus."

He was referring to their spring contenders Bonneval (NZ) (Makfi), Eleonora (NZ) (Makfi), Jon Snow (NZ) (Iffraaj) and Lizzie L'Amour (NZ) (Zabeel) who, along with the three-year-old Weather With You (Teofilo), are Melbourne-bound although their departure date is yet to be confirmed. Gary Knight & Stephen Nickalls

Further Christchurch sporting success for All Black

Not too many owners can boast that they have two Grand National Hurdle winners in the paddock.

But when Ready Eddie (NZ) (Yamanin Vital) arrives home next week, Manawatu dairy farmer and former All Blacks prop Gary Knight will be able to do just that.

Knight races Wednesday's Grand National Hurdles winner Ready Eddie with his daughter Laura, who also trains the Yamanin Vital nine-year-old gelding.

Knight was also a part-owner of 2012 winner Wotabuzz (NZ) (His Royal Highness), who retired to the Rangiotu farm and now serves as a showjumper and sport horse for Laura and her partner Stephen Nickalls, also a racing trainer. Full story here

Bonneval (NZ) (Makfi)

Ratings expert favours mare

Leading form analyst Daniel O'Sullivan from The Rating Bureau in Australia rates Bonneval (NZ) (Makfi) as the best of New Zealand's classic winners in the 2016-17 season and expects a bold showing from her in Melbourne during the spring.

According to O'Sullivan, the daughter of Makfi ran to a peak rating of 104.5 in her Gr.1 Australian Oaks romp, placing her ahead of fellow Group One winners Gingernuts (NZ) (Iffraaj) with a peak rating of 100 and Jon Snow (NZ) (Iffraaj) at 99.

"There's no doubt in my mind that Bonneval is the superior horse based on exposed form," O'Sullivan said.

"Her Australian Oaks win was a supreme staying performance, above the historical average of the race. It was a fast pace, higher pressure race which she relished, racing away to be a dominant winner in a fast time. Full story here

Riccarton on filly's radar

Highly-regarded filly Campari (NZ) (O'Reilly) has the Gr.1 gavelhouse.com New Zealand 1000 Guineas on her three-year-old radar.

The daughter of O'Reilly won both of her trials last season before she finished third at Rotorua on an unsuitably heavy track.

"She could go to the Gold Trail Stakes or we might find a nice three-year-old maiden field for her," trainer Stephen Marsh said.

"We will work that out after she trials, which is likely to be at Cambridge on September 7."

Hastings candidate making good progress

Nymph Monte (NZ) (Tavistock) made his mark at stakes level last season and the six-year-old will be on the trail of higher honours this preparation.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Nymph Monte (NZ) (Tavistock)

The Listed Metropolitan Trophy Handicap winner took a step closer to a new campaign at Waverley on Tuesday when he finished a tidy third in an open 1000m heat.

"It brought him on again and he did it all under his own steam," part-owner and trainer Grant Nicholson said.

"He'll trial again on August 22 at Foxton and then head to Hastings. At this stage, he will run on the first day in the open mile and then into the open 2000m handicap on the second day before the Livamol Classic.

"He's a pretty clean-winded horse and two runs should have him right for the Group One. We just hope the tracks will be good for him."

Hasahalo (NZ) (Savabeel)

Hasahalo on golden trail

Hasahalo (NZ) (Savabeel) will shoot for further stakes success when she resumes in the Gr.3 Hawke's Bay Breeders' Gold Trail Stakes.

The daughter of Savabeel will trial early next month ahead of her three-year-old debut at Hastings on September 23.

"We know she goes well fresh and she is just thriving on her fast work," trainer Stephen McKee said.

The winner of last season's Gr.3 Eclipse Stakes and runner-up in the Karaka Million, Hasahalo's main target will be the Gr.1 gavelhouse.com 1000 Guineas at Riccarton in November.

Magnum (NZ) (Per Incanto)

No place like home for smart Kiwi sprinter

A New Zealand-bred who was formerly among Singapore's top three-year-olds is on his way home in a bid to resurrect his career.

Magnum (NZ) (Per Incanto) will arrive later this month at his Wairarapa birthplace at Little Avondale Stud where he will enjoy a break before his connections try him again on the track.

"He was a gorgeous horse, a stunner, and the second to last foal of Sound Lover, whose 11 foals have won 57 races between them," said breeder Sam Williams, who is a part-owner of Magnum and stands his sire Per Incanto. Full story here

Folk Tales' success no surprise

Cambridge horsewoman Linda Laing hasn't been surprised by the progress of Folk Tales (NZ) (Stravinsky) in Australia.

She gave the New Zealand-bred Stravinsky gelding his early education and he was a trial winner for her before transferring to Richard Laming's Cranbourne stable.

From the family of the Gr.1 Railway Handicap winner Alynda (Nassau), Folk Tales was successful on Monday's Darwin Cup undercard for the fourth win of his 10-start career.

"I pre-train for a number of good stables here and in Melbourne and we always liked Folk Tales," Laing said.

"I had him for quite a while and he went over to Richard as a three-year-old. He was always going to mature into a beautiful stayer."

Otaki pencilled in for Group One candidate

Maybe Miami (NZ) (Iffraaj) is likely to hit the road earlier than originally planned in his bid for Group One honours.

The Riccarton galloper has been set for the Tazino Trophy at Hastings and the harsh southern winter has made the task of getting him ready a tricky one for trainers Kevin and Pam Hughes.

Maybe Miami (NZ) (Iffraaj)

"It's been difficult with the terrible weather we've had," Kevin Hughes said. "He's done enough ground work, but he needs a suitable lead-up race to sharpen him up."

Perfect Fit (NZ) (Elusive City)

Top mare a perfect fit for Munz

A change in the ownership of Perfect Fit (NZ) (Elusive City) hasn't altered plans for the Group One winner.

Under his GSA Bloodstock banner, Melbourne breeding and racing identity Johnathan Munz has bought into Haunui Farm's daughter of Elusive City.

"Johnathan has purchased a half share in her," Munz's Cambridge-based bloodstock manager Dean Hawthorne said. "She'll run in the Foxbridge Plate first-up and hopefully the track will be okay for her."

"She doesn't mind a bit of cut in the ground, but we don't want it too testing, and if she's going well then she'll head to the Tazino Trophy." Full story here

Group One opportunity for Harris

Troy Harris has yet to ride Sofia Rosa (NZ) (Makfi) on race day, but he has been hands on with the Group One winner for some time.

Monarch Chimes (NZ) (Shinko King)

rides her in all her trackwork and he was her strapper when she won the ATC Oaks and he'll have first refusal of the ride," said Bruce Perry, who manages owner Lib Petagna's bloodstock portfolio.

"She's had a jump-out and she's coming up very well. We're all happy with her and she will be going straight to Hawke's Bay for the Tarzino Trophy." Full story here

Trainers happy with quiet approach for talented hurdler

Monarch Chimes' (NZ) (Shinko King) trainers aren't concerned about their rising jumping star going a month between runs in his build-up to the Great Northern Hurdles.

The Cambridge six-year-old is unbeaten over the smaller fences and David and Emma-Lee Browne are happy to keep him ticking over at home until the Harrison Lane Hurdle on August 26.

"He'll run at the Pakuranga Hunt meeting next and it might be quite a long time between runs from his last race, but we think that will suit him best," Emma-Lee Browne said. Full story here

3YO contest upgraded

Three-year-olds have been presented with an added black type opportunity on the opening day of the Hawke's Bay carnival on September 2.

The New Zealand Pattern Committee has upgraded the El Roca Trophy to Listed status with the stake increased from $25,000 to $50,000.

The race has attracted strong fields in each of the past three editions and last year it was won by Ugo Foscolo (NZ) (Zacinto), who beat Hall Of Fame (NZ) (Savabeel). Both horses were subsequent Group One winners.

Malih Al Basti

Dubai Cup trip on offer

A trip for two to the 2018 Dubai World Cup will be up for grabs at next month's New Zealand Thoroughbred Horse of the Year Awards.

All ticket purchases to the function to be held at the Langham Hotel in Auckland on September 10 will go into the draw for the prize, courtesy of Al Basti Equiworld. The winner will be drawn on the night.

The Al Basti Equiworld VIP Experience for two includes return Emirates business class flights, airport pick up and transfer to the Meydan Hotel for six nights, tickets to the Dubai World Cup barrier draw, the Breakfast with the Stars and the Gala Reception and hospitality in the Al Basti private box on Dubai World Cup night.

"The atmosphere at Meydan on Dubai World Cup night is unparalleled anywhere in the world," Al Basti owner and founder Malih Al Basti said.
