CRUZ HAPPY WITH FORMER HONG KONG STAR FOR FOXBRIDGE

Classy Hong Kong galloper Packing Eagle (formerly Packing Pins) will have his first start in New Zealand tomorrow at Te Rapa

Reassurance that former Hong Kong star Packing Eagle (NZ) (Pins) is progressing as planned ahead of tomorrow's Gr.2 Lisa Chittick Foxbridge Plate (1200) at Te Rapa has come from one of the respected figures in Hong Kong racing.

Packing Eagle makes his New Zealand debut in the weight-for-age Te Rapa feature, having established himself among Hong Kong's elite gallopers before he was retired from racing there after just 19 starts that yielded six wins.

Trained by Ricky Yiu in Hong Kong and racing there as Packing Pins, his most notable performance was his third placing in the Gr.1 Champions Mile, beaten just 2 3/4 lengths by six-time Group One-winning Japanese champion Maurice (Screen Hero). He also finished ahead of fourth-placed Beauty Only (Holy Roman Emperor), who went on to win the Gr.1 Hong Kong Mile.

"He'd just reached his mark against those top-class horses in Hong Kong so rather than thrashing him to lose points down to where he could be competitive in the ratings again, the owners decided to retire him," Trevor Cruz said.

Retirement from racing in Hong Kong hasn't ended his career though and now in the ownership of Cruz's mother Angel, the Cambridge conditioner has visions of rejuvenating him as a Group One horse in New Zealand.

"If you translate his Hong Kong form, on a fast track he'd be thereabouts with the good horses here but on these changeable wet tracks, it's hard to know," said Cruz, who trains with his brother Martin.

"He likes fast ground a lot more. He probably never raced on a track in Hong Kong that was worse than a dead five here so I took him to the Avondale trials in May to see what he's like in the wet.

"Trudy [Thornton] rode him and was very happy. He did all right and he was able to quicken which was good to see. He's going to need the run on Saturday for sure, but the main target is really the first race [Gr.1 Tarzino Trophy] at Hawke's Bay.

"Hopefully he can run a good strong race at Te Rapa regardless, but against those good horses on a track wetter than he has raced on before won't be easy. We are just giving him his chance."

Cruz believes Packing Eagle will be at his most potent at sprint trips in New Zealand and is unlikely to test the Waikato Stud-bred Pins gelding past 1400m any time soon, though he has been encouraged by just how well he has settled into life in the Waikato.

"He spelled here to start with and he probably hadn't seen a paddock for a few years and it's done him a world of good," he said. "He's such a relaxed horse now and he's enjoying life. He's loving New Zealand. There's less pressure on him here and he's really enjoying the environment."

Cruz is surrounding himself with the right people at the moment as well, with his parents in New Zealand for the Foxbridge Plate and that has meant the opportunity to get his father, leading Hong Kong trainer Derek Cruz, to gallop Packing Eagle in trackwork.

"My father has been riding the horse in work and he clearly likes him a lot. It's been good having the family here and fingers crossed he can run a good race for them."

ECUADOR TO TACKLE WINX BEFORE EPSOM

While Winx (Street Cry) is in a different league compared to her Warwick Stakes rival Ecuador (NZ) (High Chaparral), the durable gelding needs to start his campaign somewhere and the Warwick Stakes at Randwick fits into his program.

Gai Waterhouse and Adrian Bott had no hesitation earmarking Saturday's Group Two 1400m-feature as the ideal opportunity to get the eight-year-old back racing as they set him for the Epsom Handicap at the end of next month.

"It's a nice race to resume in irrespective of whether Winx is in there or not," Bott said.

"We've got the Epsom in mind for him. He's had a couple of nice trials now and he's ready to resume.

"Yes, it will be very difficult to win the race but we're looking forward to three or four starts time when our grand final is."

Ecuador, one of seven rivals for Winx, last raced in the Group One Doncaster Mile on April 1 when he finished 13 lengths adrift of It's Somewhat (Dynaformer).

After a break he had three trials and is rated a $26 hope with the TAB on Saturday.

Bott said Winx's presence as the $1.06 favourite had no bearing on preparing Ecuador for what appears to be a forlorn task, in terms of winning for the 11th time.

"We're just concentrating on our performance. We know exactly where he's at in his preparation and what we expect of him on the weekend," Bott said.

"I think he's forward enough to run a very competitive race. We saw that last campaign when he resumed, albeit in a much lesser grade. He carried 62kg and won first-up over the 1400 metres (December Handicap).

"He had a terrific campaign last time in. I thought he showed he was in career-best form and he's come back particularly well.

"From what we've seen at home and in his trials, I feel he's carried that form through to this campaign."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Hall Of Fame (NZ) (Savabeel)

Antonio Giuseppe (NZ) (Shocking)

No More Tears (NZ) (Darci Brahma)

Top colt to continue career overseas

Group One-winning colt Hall Of Fame (NZ) (Savabeel) has been purchased for a seven figure sum by offshore interests.

In a deal brokered by Brian Hedley Bloodstock and the Australian Bloodstock Agency's Greg Zarra, the four-year-old son of champion stallion Savabeel will be doing his future racing in Hong Kong.

"Obviously, he's been a great horse to us," said Jamie Richards, who trains in partnership at Matamata with Stephen Autridge. "It was a pleasure to have a horse like him to train, he's such a lovely horse."

Hall Of Fame won five of his 11 starts, including the Gr.1 Levin Classic at Trentham, where he defeated Savile Row (NZ) (Makfi) and Jon Snow (NZ) (Iffraaj), and the Listed Zacinto Stakes at Riccarton.

His last appearance was at the Brisbane winter carnival when he finished fifth in the Listed Queensland Day Stakes.

Hall Of Fame was purchased out of Lyndhurst Farm's Ready to Run Sale draft to Karaka in 2015 by Te Akau principal David Ellis for $230,000. – NZ Racing Desk.

Northern stallion parade

The Auckland branch of the New Zealand Thoroughbred Breeders' Association will hold its annual stallion parade on Sunday.

The tour will begin at Haunui Farm (Belardo, Iffraaj, Showcasing) at 10.30am followed by a visit to Westbury Stud (El Roca, Postponed, Redwood, Reliable Man, Swiss Ace, Tarzino, Telperion).

The branch's awards lunch will follow at 12.30pm at New Zealand Bloodstock's Karaka complex.

Antonio takes on star stablemate

Former New Zealand galloper Antonio Giuseppe (NZ) (Shocking) will line up against champion mare Winx (Street Cry) in Saturday's Gr.2 Warwick Stakes (1400m) at Randwick.

Trained by Chris Waller, Antonio Giuseppe is a five-time winner in Australia, and ran second in the Gr.1 The Metropolitan (2400m) in October last year.

Antonio Giuseppe is resuming after his last run at Randwick in April, and has drawn barrier five with Tye England to ride.

Mime (NZ) (Mastercraftsman)

Rain may give Mime an edge

Andrew Forman finds it hard to split the stable's runners in Saturday's Group Two feature at Te Rapa with the weather likely to have the final say.

With Murray Baker, he will be represented by the resuming duo of Coldplay (NZ) (Savabeel) and Mime (NZ) (Mastercraftsman) in the Lisa Chittick Foxbridge Plate.

Forsman said the 1200 metres is likely to be on the short side for the pair, but the wet track would be more in Mime's favour.

Track in capable mare's favour

Multiple stakes winner No More Tears (NZ) (Darci Brahma) faces quality opposition at Te Rapa this weekend, but likely underfoot conditions are expected to boost her chances.

The Darci Brahma mare beat all but Saracino (NZ) (Per Incanto) in last year's Gr.2 Lisa Chittick Foxbridge Plate and trainer Stephen Marsh can't fault her condition as she bids to go one better in Saturday's edition.

"She's going really well and her trial at Te Teko was very good," he said.

"It's a very good field, but with all the rain we've had the track will affect others more than us – she'll cop it okay."

Sea King (NZ) (Shinko King)

King back to steeplechasing

Versatile Kiwi jumper Sea King (NZ) (Shinko King) will revert to the big fences in his next Australian appearance.

He trialled satisfactorily at Ballarat earlier this week and he will return there on Sunday for the Grand National Steeplechase.

"He just jumped a bit big and high, but on race day when they are going quicker he'll come down a bit I would think," trainer Patrick Payne said.

Sea King's current Australian campaign includes a victory, his 16th over jumps, in the Brendan Drechsler Hurdles at Bendigo.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Astor (NZ) (Iffraaj)

Gold Trail beckons smart filly

Another bold showing at Taupo will confirm Astor's (NZ) (Iffraaj) first crack at black type.

The lightly-raced Iffraaj filly broke her maiden in fine style last time out and she will bid for further success in Friday's New Zealand Bloodstock Insurance Pearl Series Race.

"She's looking good and we're really pleased with her," trainer Danica Guy said.

"It was a heavy and testing track at Hawke's Bay and she didn't enjoy it, but she got through it to get the job done. Full story here

Redwood

Promising signs for Redwood

Patience is paying dividends for supporters of the Westbury Stud-stallion Redwood, with the Group One-winning son of High Chaparral starting to hit his straps as a sire.

With his eldest progeny having just turned four, Redwood was represented by a trio of winners last weekend.

They included impressive Flemington winner Swampland (NZ), who has strung together three successive wins for Henry Dwyer. Meanwhile, progressive galloper Night's Watch (NZ) was a winner on Australian debut for Darren Weir, and talented stayer Suliman (NZ) saluted at Pukekohe by Graham Richardson and Gavin Parker. ### Group success boosts Eminent's stallion credentials

Sir Peter Vela's huge admiration for Frankel has been further repaid with the unbeaten champion's son Eminent adding a Group Two victory in France to his record.

The New Zealand Bloodstock and Pencarrow Stud principal is the owner of the three-year-old, who was a front-running winner of the Prix Guillaume d'Ornano (2000m) in a slick 2.02.26 at Deauville.

Previously successful in the Gr.3 Craven Stakes and fourth in the Gr.1 English Derby, Eminent's performances have drawn serious attention to his future stud prospects, potentially in New Zealand. Full story here

Sophie's Choice (NZ) (Darci Brahma)

Filly's luck turns around at Ruakaka

Promising filly Sophie's Choice (NZ) (Darci Brahma) opened her three-year-old season in perfect style on Wednesday.

She sat outside the leader to the turn and then lengthened stride under Danielle Johnson to gain an overdue victory in the Ruakaka's Celebrating 40 Years – 15/16 September.

"That was nice, she's had a few unlucky runs so it's good to get her confidence up," she said.

Trained by Stephen Marsh for Go Racing, Sophie's Choice placed four times as a two-year-old and she was also a luckless eighth in the Karaka Million.

"She could have filled a placing and she's got form behind some pretty smart horses," syndicate manager Albert Bosma said.

Bright future tipped for Rocstock

Tavistock four-year-old Rocstock (NZ) is expected to make his mark in good company given time.

"He's a horse that can go through the grades quite easily, he's one to follow," his regular rider Troy Harris said.

The pair are unbeaten in two starts after Rocstock followed up his debut success with a tidy win in the Christmas at the Races

Rocstock (NZ) (Tavistock)

Ruakaka 19 December on Wednesday.

"He got a beautiful run from the draw," Harris said. "I was a bit worried on the turn, but when I got at him with the stick he was away."

Thee Auld Floozie (NZ) (Mastercraftsman)

Taupo trials draw top performers

A pair of Group One winners from Stephen Marsh's stable will be keeping the best of company when they enjoy a hit-out at Taupo today.

The Cambridge trainer will run Thee Auld Floozie (NZ) (Mastercraftsman) and Sofia Rosa (NZ) (Makfi), as well as his Gr.2 Brisbane Cup winner Chocante (NZ) (Shocking), in the 1100m trials that will precede the race meeting.

"My three are all coming up great and they will just be enjoying a trip away and a nice day out," Marsh said. "They won't be put under pressure." Full story here

Group One candidate looking good

Spring Cup hope Chance To Dance (Teofilo) is making sound progress toward his seasonal debut.

The Teofilo eight-year-old, trained by Stephen Autridge and Jamie Richards for Fortuna Syndications, galloped well at Te Rapa on Thursday morning over 1000m ahead of a trial at Avondale next Tuesday.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Chance To Dance (Teofilo)

"Thursday's gallop was his first serious piece of work since returning from his spell," Fortuna director John Galvin said. "He has put on over 40kgs of weight since his run in the Sydney Cup and has not put a foot wrong in his preparation to date.

"After two trials, he will resume over 1600 metres and then head to the Gr.1 Livamol Classic at Hastings on October 7 where a good strong performance could see him head to Melbourne to contest the Caulfield Cup."

Five To Midnight (NZ) (Domesday)

Classic on the final day of the Hawke's Bay carnival at the top of her wish list for the five-year-old, who will have just one lead-up run before the October 7 weight-for-age feature.

Five To Midnight will resume in the Listed Merial Ancare Metric Mile on his home track on September 16 and Latta is confident he will then strip at peak fitness for the Hastings event.

"He'll have another trial and a jump-out and that should all have him spot on," Latta said. Full story here

Battle Time (NZ) (Battle Paint)

Weather forces a change of plan

Forces beyond the control of Tim and Margaret Carter have forced a rethink of Battle Time's (NZ) (Battle Paint) early season programme.

The Cambridge trainers decided against the entire resuming in Saturday's Gr.2 Lisa Chittick Foxbridge Plate at Te Rapa and, as a result, he will also bypass the Gr.1 Tarzino Trophy at Hastings.

"The weather has been terrible and we didn't want him having a gut-buster of a run first-up so the Foxbridge was out and we've withdrawn him from the first leg at Hawke's Bay," Tim Carter said. Full story here

Group One hopes rest on light build-up

Lisa Latta believes she can get a maximum result from Five To Midnight (NZ) (Domesday) on a minimum of racing.

The Awapuni trainer has the Livamol

Talented galloper reacting well to change

Life in the central districts is agreeing with Group One performer El Pescado (NZ) (El Hermano).

The lightly-raced seven-year-old joined Polly Macdonald's Opaki stable last month and, as often is the case, the change of environment has had a positive impact.

"He's doing really well and I think the horse is on track," Macdonald said. "Sometimes the different scenery can sort a lot of things out.

"He's very bright and happy in himself. He's put on some condition and looking great. Full story here

Brandon Morgenrood

South African jockey chasing dream start

A former champion South African apprentice is hoping to make an early impact in New Zealand.

Brandon Morgenrood has been granted his jockey's licence and he is keen to get down to business with his first opportunity to show his skills coming at Tauranga on August 23 aboard the Janenne Dalley-trained Grandiscocymelums (NZ) (Istidaad).

"I've been riding him in trackwork and I think he's got a big chance of winning," the 39-year-old said.

Trevor Cruz, Dalley, Brendon Hawtin and Lee Somervell are among the trainers to have utilised his services at Cambridge. Full story here

Ugo Foscolo (NZ) (Zacinto)

Ugo Foscolo impresses at trials again

New Zealand Group One winner Ugo Foscolo (NZ) (Zacinto) is making sharp progress toward a return to racing.

The son of Zacinto was an easy trial winner at Rosehill earlier this month and he produced a repeat performance over 950m at Warwick Farm on Monday.

"We will just weigh up his options over the next couple of weeks," said Adrian Bott, who now trains the New Zealand 2000 Guineas with Gai Waterhouse.

"His immediate plan would be a lead-up race to the Epsom Handicap before heading down to Melbourne where we could stretch him over a bit further."

Bott believes Ugo Foscolo could be the stable's leading contender for the Gr.1 Caulfield Cup, which is to be run three weeks after the Epsom. The Gr.1 Cox Plate also remains in the mix.

Lowry to enjoy stint with Weir

Leading South Island apprentice Jacob Lowry is furthering his experience across the Tasman.

The 19-year-old is in Victoria where he will spend the next fortnight attached to Darren Weir's Ballarat operation.

Apprenticed to his grandfather Brian Anderton, Lowry rode 48 winners last season, including four at stakes level to achieve his goal of finishing as the top South Island apprentice.

His consistent form was emphasised by his outstanding strike rate of 4.96, second only to Opie Bosson in the flat ranks.

"It is something I pride myself on a lot," Lowry said. "I'm just trying to be consistent in my riding and that strike rate is a good way of reflecting it."

Kate Cowan

Cowan adjusting to life in the fast lane

Central districts apprentice Kate Cowan is still coming to terms with her rapid rise to prominence.

In the space of six months, she has gone from cheering her parents' horse to a January Group One victory to beginning her riding career a month later and subsequently winning her first stakes race in August.

That victory came in the Gr.3 Winter Cup at Riccarton aboard the evergreen Nashville (NZ) (Darci Brahma) who is prepared at Hunterville by her employer Adrian Bull. He trains in partnership with his son Harry, who is Cowan's partner.

"It was amazing," she said. "I'm still not getting over it, it's still not real, those things just don't happen." Full story here

Blueblood tipped to make her presence felt

One of the more valuable fillies in the country can add race performance to her rich pedigree this season, according to her trainers.

A daughter of the champion sire Fastnet Rock in the Matamata stable of Stephen Atridge and Jamie Richards created a stir earlier in the year before a set-back placed her on the easy list.

Out of the stakes-performed Storm Cat mare Forest Native, she is an unnamed sister to the Gr.1 William Reid Stakes winner and Group One producer Foxwedge. Full story here

Ride To Time

Initiative hopes to attract youth

In a bid to attract young New Zealanders into a career in racing, New Zealand Thoroughbred Racing has launched a pilot programme called 'Ride to Time' to teach pony club riders how to judge the pace of their horse.

"Essentially, it is about recruitment," NZTR Industry Training and Education Consultant Chris Watson said.

"We want to do more to recruit young people into the industry. There is probably no better place than the pony clubs to start that recruitment and get them experience on the racecourse under instruction and in a safe environment.

"That could give them the confidence later on to pursue a career or part-time opportunity in the industry." Full story here

Vale Bill Freeman

Respected former central districts racing administrator Bill Freeman passed away this week.

He served as secretary of the Manawatu Racing Club for nearly three decades until his retirement in 1992, when he was succeeded by Allan Fenwick.

"Bill was very much old school and back then secretaries promoted their own meetings, travelling and cajoling trainers to bring their horses to Awapuni," Fenwick said. "He was a very popular figure and had a wealth of knowledge and genuinely shared it.

"He started off at the Wellington Racing Club and subsequently became a stipendiary steward. He did that for quite a time before he came to Manawatu.

"During his time it became known as the Awapuni Partnership and Bill was also secretary for the Rangitikei Racing and the Marton Jockey Club, who both relocated to race at Awapuni. When he retired, he was also secretary of the Feilding Jockey Club."

Freeman also raced horses with success for many years from the Stratford stable of the recently-retired trainer Dick Bothwell.

The only apprentice to salute the judge before a young Queen Elizabeth at the Royal Ellerslie meeting of 1953 Dave O'Sullivan rode for less than a decade (125 winners) before weight problems forced him out.

Setting up as a trainer at Matamata, he first became known as a successful mentor of apprentices. Roger Lang, Peter Johnson, Shane Dye and eventually his son Lance were just some of the top riders who came from the stable.

Equine winners also came off the property in a steadily expanding stream and Dave made the top three trainers (many in partnership with his son Paul) list for 19 years and won 11 premierships.

Dave O'Sullivan retired in 1998 with a lifetime tally of 1877 wins, 1613 in partnership with Paul.

Oopik, Golden Rhapsody, Sharivari, Waverley Star, Paul De Brett, La Souvronne, Blue Denim, Mapperley Heights and champion mare Horlicks were among the many Group One performers to wear the O'Sullivan polish.
