MOORE AND BERRY ARE SWEET ON WERTHER

Werther works in fine style at Sha Tin on Thursday morning

Werther (NZ) (Tavistock) and Helene Paragon (Polan) caught the eye in their final fast workouts at Sha Tin Racecourse on Thursday morning, but for contrasting reasons.

John Moore sent four of his seven LONGINES Hong Kong International Races contenders around the turf track before dawn – each paired with a companion horse – and while Werther put in a strong gallop, Helene Paragon did not.

“If all goes well on the day, Werther’s the one they have to beat, I think,” big-race pilot Tommy Berry said later.

And of Helene Paragon’s lacklustre show, the rider said: “It wasn’t the best piece of work he’s put in – I won’t shy away from saying that. He’s definitely worked better in the past.”

Werther needs to win this weekend’s HK$25 million Gr.1 LONGINES Hong Kong Cup (2000m) to complete a full-set of Sha Tin’s elite mile and a quarter races. The three-time Group

One winner, successful in the Gr. 2 Jockey Club Cup (2000m) at the course and distance three weeks ago, quickened past Midnight Rattler (Clang) down the floodlit home stretch. The Tavistock gelding clocked 1m 21.5s (29.2, 28.7, 23.6) for 1200 metres and was well on top as the pair swung past trainer John Moore, positioned on the turn just after the winning post.

“Werther was the pick of them this morning, the standout,” the handler said. “He hit the line really well. We’ve done all we can to get him to peak fitness and now we’re just hoping he can give the race a real shake.

“I think he’s in as good form as he’s ever been. He’s got a very big heart, this horse, and we’re going in with confidence. He was underdone last time and he still fought off a pretty smart horse (Time Warp) to win – and the pace didn’t suit that day either. He’s a fitter horse now.”

The manner of Werther’s gallop was just what Berry was looking for, too.

“He hasn’t worked badly all preparation, he’s always a good worker, so we didn’t expect anything different from him,” the rider said.

“He did have a bit of a blow, so that work will top him off perfectly for the weekend. It’ll probably take a bit of the sting out of him as well, because the last three or four days he’s been travelling quite keen in his work – he’s been getting a little bit above himself.”

Amongst Moore’s other LONGINES HKIR entrants is Beauty Generation (NZ) (Road To Rock) who will contest the Gr. 1 LONGINES Hong Kong Mile (1600m) off the back of some impressive form that includes two wins from his last three starts, all in stakes company.

BARY PLEASED WITH HIS TRENTHAM FEATURE DUO

John Bary has his Jimmy Choux swagger on as he prepares for Group racing at Trentham on Saturday.

The Hastings trainer was well-known for declaring star galloper

Jimmy Choux (NZ) (Thorn Park) "past-the-post" to media in certain pre-race discussions and was rarely wrong.

While Bary has preferred to play his cards closer to his chest in recent times, he admits he's got a good feeling about heading to the races on Saturday with Gr.1 Rydges Wellington Captain Cook Stakes (1600m) contender Miss Wilson (Stratum) and Gr.2 Randwick Meats Wakefield Challenge Stakes (1200m) candidate King Louis (NZ) (Equiano).

Both race in the colours of Jimmy Choux's breeder-owners Richard and Liz Wood.

"It's a bit like when we used to take Jimmy to the races. You are not going along just hopeful that your horse is going to run a good race, but not really being sure. We'll turn up on Saturday knowing we are a genuine chance in both races," Bary said.

TAB bookmakers have opened Miss Wilson an equal $6.50 second favourite for her weight-for-age weekend assignment behind six-time Group One winner and $2.80 favourite Kawi (NZ) (Savabeel), a horse she beat home when both filled minor placings in last month's Gr.2 Tauranga Stakes (1600m).

"I just wasn't that happy with her at Tauranga. Her coat was a bit off and whether it was the over-nighter because she's not the best traveller, I'm not really too sure," Bary said.

Trainer John Bary is full of confidence with his stable runners at Trentham tomorrow including Gr. 1 Rydges Wellington Captain Cook Stakes candidate Miss Wilson

“But she’s done really well since. Her coat is much better and everything is perfect with her action and condition.

“She’s had a good season. She’s won the Group Three sprint and run a couple of other nice seconds and I really feel she’s still on the way up. She’s got a good track and she’s two-from-two at Trentham. She’s older and more mature now, so this could be her time.”

Miss Wilson has drawn the outside barrier of 11 and while Bary intimated that the five-year-old Stratum half-sister to Jimmy Choux could press forward, he would leave that decision with jockey Sam Collett.

“She drew wide when she won the Cuddle Stakes at Trentham, though that was a Group Three set weights and penalties race. She does have good speed but whether she uses it or not will be up to Sam.

“She has tactical speed which helps and there’s only 11 in it, so it’s not like she’s having to press forward from 16 or 18. She’s a big mare and a big-striding mare so it won’t worry me if she’s in front or tracking other horses.

“She’s at her best at 1400m to 1600m, I think, but she’s got that high-cruising speed which puts her up with the good ones.”

Bary was also expecting a bold run from exciting two-year-old King Louis, who was a trial winner at Foxton last month after his debut second in the Listed Wellesley Stakes (1000m) at Trentham in October.

“He was green in that race, but that was about that other horse moving out on the crossing and the same thing happened at the 200m, he was green when another horse came out at him,” Bary said.

“He did everything right at the trials. He’s an intelligent horse and a quick learner. He’s like Jimmy Choux in that he’ll only do what he has to in trackwork. He’ll beat a maiden by a nose but then front up against a good three-year-old.”

NEWS IN BRIEF

All Our Roads (NZ) (Road To Rock)

Crack Me Up (NZ) (Mossman)

Tough road for kiwi in Kingston Town

Chris Waller was hoping for a change of luck for All Our Roads (NZ) (Road To Rock) in the barrier draw for the Gr.1 A$1m Kingston Town Classic (1800m) at Ascot in Perth on Saturday.

Things did not go to plan with the New Zealand Group Two winner drawing gate 14.

All Our Roads did it tough last start from barrier 14 when ninth, only two and a half lengths behind the winner in the Gr.1 Railway Stakes (1600m) at Ascot on November 25.

Michael Walker takes over from Craig Williams on All Our Roads who has had four starts for the Waller stable after having done most of his racing in New Zealand from the stable of Donna Logan and Chris Gibbs.

McGillivray keeps plum Brisbane Hcp ride

In-form Matt McGillivray will retain the ride on Crack Me Up (NZ) (Mossman) in the Listed Brisbane Handicap but Jason Collett is likely to be aboard when the gelding goes to Sydney.

McGillivray has been doing a lot of riding for trainer Liam Birchley with the pair combining for nine winners this season.

He won his first stakes race on Crack Me Up in the Recognition Stakes (1350m) at Doomben two weeks ago.

Saturday's Brisbane Handicap will be Crack Me Up's final hit-out before the Gr.2 Villiers Stakes (1600m) at Randwick on December 16. Full story here.

Volpe Veloce set to resume

Volpe Veloce (Foxwedge) will be back in action in the open 1200m sprint at Ellerslie on Saturday.

"She goes well fresh, but it will be a very strong field," Graham Richardson, who trains in partnership with Gavin Parker, said. "I'm happy with her and, all going well, she'll go on to the Railway."

To be ridden by Jake Bayliss, Volpe Veloce hasn't raced since she was tripped up by a Slow 9 track when unplaced in the Gr.1 Windsor Park Plate (1600m) at Hastings in September.

Asama Blue (Fastnet Rock)

Mare making the most of her opportunities

Asama Blue (Fastnet Rock) has an opportunity at Matamata today to add another winning strike to her record before beginning the second phase of her career.

The well-related Fastnet Rock mare, who was successful last time out at Awapuni, will step out in the Bay Insurance & Dawson Insurance Benchmark Rating 70 (1600m) and will be ridden by Danielle Johnson.

"She's in foal to Tavistock and that often gives them a natural lift so we feel that she's going to be pretty competitive again," said part-owner Sir Peter Vela's racing manager Garry Cossey. "She's very well at the moment." Full story here

Haussmann (NZ) (Pour Moi)

Quiet approach with Haussmann

Tony Pike's challenge with Haussmann (NZ) (Pour Moi) is to get the capable three-year-old to settle better in his races.

The Cambridge trainer will run the son of Pour Moi in Saturday's Gr.3 Hynds Holdings Limited Bonecrusher Stakes (1400m) off a two-month break.

"He's well and his biggest issue is that he gets too keen," Pike said. "We'll be riding him quietly at Ellerslie. He's in the Derby, whether he'll stay I'm not sure, but we'll be giving him every opportunity."

Jamie Kah

Star jockey Kah excited by NZ invitation

A history-making South Australian jockey can't wait to make her New Zealand riding debut.

Jamie Kah will join Melbourne's Damian Lane and expatriate New Zealander Jason Collett, now based in Sydney, for the Jockeys' World Cup Prelude at Ellerslie on December 13.

"I've been to New Zealand for a holiday before and now to ride there is pretty exciting," the 21-year-old said. "I'm coming off a great carnival and to be recognised is really nice." Full story here

'Nightmare' Kiwi wins third Cup

Former New Zealand Group One winner Survived (NZ) (Zed) has the full admiration of his Ballarat trainer Archie Alexander.

The son of Zed, who isn't the easiest horse to manage, produced another gritty display on Monday to win his third consecutive Mt Gambier Cup (2400m).

"To win three cups three years in a row is unbelievable because he is a very tricky horse," Alexander said.

NEWS IN BRIEF

"He's actually a nightmare to train. He picks and chooses what day he is going to show up, but there's something in the air here. He always turns up. I may have better than him, but I don't have any tougher than him."

Survived won seven races in New Zealand, including the Gr.1 Makfi Challenge Stakes (1400m) in 2013 for trainer John Bary.

Scream Park (NZ) (Ocean Park)

Scream Park in the mix for Ellerslie

Chris Waller is hoping for a return home for Ocean Park's son Scream Park (NZ).

The expatriate New Zealand trainer is keen on a start in the Karaka Million 3YO Classic (1600m) at Ellerslie on January 27 for the colt, who on Wednesday at Warwick Farm was successful over 1400m in his third race day appearance.

Scream Park was purchased at Karaka last year for $185,000 from the Premier Sale draft of Lime Country Thoroughbreds.

"When you go to New Zealand you've got to buy something with a bit of quality and something our Australian investors respect," Waller said.

"We've bought a few Ocean Parks so it's good for us and good for New Zealand's breeding (industry) if they can start to win a few races."

Koru Thoroughbreds will offer a half-brother (Lot 92) by Dundee to Scream Park during the Book 1 Sale at Karaka in 2018.

Lisdoonvarna ploughs through W Farm wet

Former New Zealand filly Lisdoonvarna (NZ) (Super Easy) has continued a promising start to her Australian career with a Warwick Farm win.

Sent out a $6 chance, Lisdoonvarna made the running on a rain-affected track in the TAB Handicap before clearing out to win by 2-3/4 lengths.

After one run in New Zealand for a placing on a wet track in a two-year-old race at Ruakaka last season, Lisdoonvarna started her Australian career with successive wins at

Lisdoonvarna (NZ) (Super Easy)

Nowra during October before a Hawkesbury defeat.

But she was back on her game at Warwick Farm with Amanda Turner revealing the filly had become too worked up at Hawkesbury.

"She's done a lot in one prep so I hope she can keep doing what she's doing," Turner said.

Jockey Peter Wells, who has ridden Lisdoonvarna in all four runs for Turner and co-trainer Mauro Poletti, says the filly is still learning but progressing well.

"The way she's going, the sky's the limit for her," he said.

Nirvana In Fire (NZ) (Showcasing)

Speedy colt makes early deposit

A hot start to Nirvana In Fire's (NZ) (Showcasing) career has the precocious youngster on target for a crack at the country's richest prize.

The colt carried his trial form over to race day with a tidy front-running performance to bank the $6250 winning purse of Wednesday's New Zealand Bloodstock Insurance Pearl Series Race (1100m) at Pukekohe.

Nirvana In Fire is eligible for next month's Karaka Million (1200m) and will have another chance to secure a berth in the race with past years indicating around $10,000 in stakes earnings to be the entry level. Full story here

Charles Road (Myboycharlie)

Loftier goals await one of last season's better three-year-olds following a return to form at Pukekohe.

Charles Road (Myboycharlie) bounced back to his best with a comprehensive defeat of a competitive Rating 85 line-up over 1600m on Wednesday to confirm plans to a future return to black type racing.

"It's really encouraging going into the summer months and some of the better mile races," said Andrew Scott, who trains the gelding with Lance O'Sullivan.

"Lance picked out this race some time ago and it's good for the horse's confidence, hopefully onwards and upwards now."

Charles Road won the Gr.3 Manawatu Classic (2000m) last term off the back of a solid run for sixth in the Gr.1 New Zealand Derby (2400m).

However, he failed to come up in the spring which Scott attributed to the weather and Charles Road's age.

"There were wet tracks and it's not easy at that stage against the older horses," he said.

Bright future predicted for green 3YO

Trainer Tony Pike believes Merlini (I Am Invincible) will make his mark in better company as his racing manners improve.

The Cambridge trainer produced the I Am Invincible three-year-old to win at his second start in the Ssangyong Maiden (1100m) at Pukekohe on Wednesday.

"He's always had a lot of natural ability, but he's still very much a work in progress," Pike said.

"When the penny drops and he puts it all together, he'll be going through the grades pretty quickly."

Merlini led early before dropping into the trail and despite racing greenly in the closing 400 metres he did enough under apprentice Jordan Nason to open his winning account.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Sandrine off to flying start

Highly-regarded filly Sandrine (NZ) (Savabeel) made the perfect start to her career at Pukekohe on Wednesday.

The three-year-old daughter of Savabeel had two trials to prepare her for a winning debut under jockey Leith Innes in the Lone Star Pukekohe Maiden (1200m).

"Her trials were very good and she's always showed a lot of promise and I think she can go right through the grades," said Debbie Rogerson, who trains the Joan Egan-bred and raced filly with husband Graeme.

"Leith rode her at the trials and wanted to get on when I lined her up. I rang Joan and asked her if I could nominate her for the New Zealand Oaks, which I've done.

"It's a dream and there's a lot of water to go under the bridge yet."

Rock My Soul (Stratum)

Group One hope for injury-plagued galloper

Talented but unsound sprinter Rock My Soul (Stratum) is in line for a crack at the best short course performers in the country.

The six-year-old has overcome serious injuries to win four of his 11 starts and returned from a lengthy lay-off at Otaki last time out to finish second over 1200m in Rating 75 company.

"We were delighted with him," part-owner and trainer Emily Holmes said. "It was a little bit of a surprise given he'd had nearly two years off." Full story here

Zabeel plan for quality mare

Devise's (NZ) (Darci Brahma) connections are hoping for a knock-out blow from their well-performed mare on Boxing Day.

The daughter of Darci Brahma finished runner-up behind Bonneval (NZ) (Makfi) in last season's Gr.1 New Zealand Oaks and she will get her chance to go one better at the top level in the Gr.1 Zabeel Classic (2000m) at Ellerslie.

"She's a fantastic mare and her form is right up there with the best in New Zealand," said Shaune Ritchie, who trains her for breeders The Oaks Stud. Full story here

Dijon Bleu (NZ) (Burgundy)

CD features for leading filly

Group One performer Dijon Bleu (NZ) (Burgundy) will be sticking closer to home during the summer.

She is back in work with Awapuni trainer Lisa Latta following a brief break after her gallant effort to finish runner-up behind Hasahalo (NZ) (Savabeel) in the New Zealand 1000 Guineas (1600m) at Riccarton.

"She is quite a highly-strung filly, one of those that's best doing a bit of work," Latta said. Full story here

Start Wondering (NZ) (Eighth Wonder)

Railway defence next for Wanganui star

Start Wondering (NZ) (Eighth Wonder) won't race again before the defence of his Gr.1 Sistema Railway title at Ellerslie on New Year's Day.

"He'll possibly have a trial or a gallop between races somewhere, it's worked for us before," said Evan Rayner, who trains the champion sprinter at Wanganui with his daughter J.J.

The seven-year-old was a gallant second when resuming in last week's Listed Levin Stakes (1200m) at Otaki where he conceded the winner Chambord seven and-half kilos.

It is the same preparation that resulted in Start Wondering's Railway defeat 12 months ago of Perfect Fit (NZ) (Elusive City).

Internationally-respected Plumptre to guide iconic stud

Vastly-experienced thoroughbred identity Henry Plumptre is to play a leading hand in the future of powerhouse New Zealand nursery Cambridge Stud.

He will assume the role as the farm's chief executive when new owners Brendan and Jo Lindsay take control in April of next year from Sir Patrick and Justine Lady Hogan.

In a coup for the New Zealand industry, Plumptre boasts a distinguished global career spanning three continents and over 40 years' experience in bloodstock, stud farms and racing operations. Full story here

Ellerslie feature favoured for Hiflyer

Peter Lock has narrowed down his options for Hiflyer (NZ) (Tavistock) with the favoured path a trip to Ellerslie on Boxing Day.

"Although nothing is set in concrete just yet, at this stage I'm leaning toward the Zabeel Classic. I think he'll get the 2000m," the Te Aroha trainer said.

"There's also the Rich Hill Mile, but he's not a big, gross horse and I think that he would

NEWS IN BRIEF

"He always goes well on the fresh side," Rayner said. "After Ellerslie, he'll go to Trentham for the Telegraph."

Star galloper suffers setback

Multiple Group One winner Gingernuts (NZ) (Iffraaj) has returned to the Werribee University Clinic.

"Despite looking well and outwardly appearing in great shape, the veterinary team overseeing his recovery have become concerned over a possible infection developing as a result of the surgery," Te Akau said in a statement.

Gingernuts suffered a serious pastern injury when cantering to the start of the Gr.1 Emirates Stakes (2000m) at Flemington and following surgery he was discharged a week ago to a rehabilitation spelling farm.

"He will remain at the University Clinic until at least the end of the week," Te Akau said.

Ocean Emperor (NZ) (Zabeel)

Awapuni run for Classic hope

Ocean Emperor (NZ) (Zabeel) is likely to make his next appearance in the central districts.

"I'm giving consideration to going to Awapuni for an open 2000m race on December 16 and then the Zabeel Classic," part-owner and trainer Gary Hennessy said. "It's a nice opportunity to give him a run over a bit of ground."

Ocean Emperor produced a career-best performance last time out when the good-looking son of Zabeel beat Miss Wilson (Stratum) and Kawi (NZ) (Savabeel) in the Gr.2 Tauranga Stakes (1600m).

"He was back at the track this morning for the first time, he's fresh and very well in himself," Hennessy said.

Eulogy start on cards

Having successfully passed a distance test, the well-related Divine Power (NZ) (Power) is now likely to tackle the Gr.3 Lawnmaster Eulogy Stakes (1600m) at Awapuni on December 16.

The two-time winning daughter of Power gave another strong account of herself last time out when third in the Gr.3 Wellington Stakes (1600m) at Otaki.

"She went a great race, I was very happy with her in her first start over a mile," trainer Kevin Gray said.

A grand-daughter of the multiple Group One winner Lashed (Encosta De Lago), Divine Power's half-sister (Lot 333) by Tavistock will be offered by Cambridge Stud during Book 1 at Karaka next year.

Persian Empire (NZ) (Savabeel)

Derby attracts interest from across the Tasman

Connections of the promising three-year-old Persian Empire (NZ) (Savabeel) are keen to send him home on a Group One mission.

The Victorian-based son of Savabeel has been set for the Vodafone New Zealand Derby (2400m), the March feature his expatriate Kiwi trainers Trent Busuttin and Natalie Young went close to winning last season.

They sent Rising Red (NZ) (Redwood) over from their Cranbourne base to finish runner-up to Gingernuts (NZ) (Iffraaj). Full story here

Allpress facing lengthy spell away

Injured jockey Lisa Allpress has received news she didn't want to hear and will be out of action for considerably longer than initially hoped for.

The leading rider suffered severe shoulder injuries in a fall at the Hawera jump-outs in October and progress since has been unfortunately slow.

"I went to the surgeon today and I'm going to be another six weeks in a sling on my right side and I'll know more about the left side in three months and whether it heals or I'll need an operation," Allpress said.

"I definitely won't be back before March, but I'm positive and there are an awful lot more people worse off than me. It could have been so much worse."
