CAMBRIDGE STABLE BLESSED WITH 3YO TALENT

Highlad will further his Gr. 1 Vodafone New Zealand Derby preparation at Te Rapa tomorrow

Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman will be juggling their classic troops over the next fortnight.

The Cambridge training partnership still have five horses in contention for the Gr.1 Vodafone New Zealand Derby at Ellerslie on March 4.

Highlad (High Chaparral) will contest Saturday's Gr.2 Darci Brahma Waikato Guineas at Te Rapa following his third placing in a Rating 75 1600m at Tauranga last month.

He will be fitter for his first-up run, though Baker considers the horse could still need the race when he steps up in distance this week.

Matt Cameron has ridden Highlad in each of his New Zealand starts and he has the mount again in a field headed by Gr.1 Levin Classic winner Hall Of Fame (NZ) (Savabeel).

There is also a good chance that Highlad, who can handle wet tracks, will return to Australia in the autumn, for a tilt at the Australian Derby.

Stablemate Jon Snow (NZ) (Iffraaj) is likely to tackle the Gr.1 Herbie Dyke Stakes at Te Rapa on Saturday week.

“It has taken a while for the penny to drop with him, but he has been only half a neck from the winner in his last three starts,” Baker said.

Mongolian Legend (Fastnet Rock) has had only four starts, but has impressed his trainers and will probably tackle a rating 65 2100m at Te Rapa on Saturday week.

Shocking gelding Camino Rocosco (NZ) was a dominant last-start winner and he is expected to tackle the Gr.2 Retina Specialists Avondale Guineas at Ellerslie on February 18.

“We do think he’s a good horse and he’s another who might get to Sydney,” Baker said.

Mongolian Wolf (Pluck) has kept his Derby hopes alive by beating older horses, in rating 65 and rating 75 company, at his two starts in a new campaign.

He beat his talented stablemate Break My Stride (Zoffany) over 1400m at Rotorua before comfortably winning a rating 75 1600m at Pukekohe last weekend.

LITTLE AVONDALE LEADS THE WAY

Little Avondale Stud stallion Per Incanto is currently leading sire for the New Zealand Bloodstock's Select Sale after his daughter out of Grable (NZ) (Pins) topped the leader-board at $300,000 when sold to Victorian John McArdle of Redgum Racing.

Sam Williams of Little Avondale Stud was thrilled with the $300,000 price tag.

"I was actually really anxious about the Select Sale this year because of the state of our domestic racing industry but then I firmly believed we had our best draft ever on type thanks mainly to the stock of Per Incanto."

"You have to be bullish about your own stock otherwise who will be and with Per Incanto's results on the track, and at this year's sale, all off the back of a $5,000 service fee - that's just brilliant."

The result also elevated Little Avondale Stud to the top of the leading vendor by aggregate table with 16 horses sold for $1,197,500.

The first two days of the Select Sale have seen 294 horses sell for turnover of $14,020,000 and an average price paid of $47,687. The median price remained steady at $40,000 as the clearance rate strengthened to 71%.

The final day's selling in the Select Sale will start at 11am today with Lot 921 and will finish up at Lot 1106.

Selling will then break for a day's respite before the Festival Sale runs on Sunday from 11am. Click here to view the Select Sale passed in Lots.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Manolo Blahniq (NZ) (Jimmy Choux)

Kiwi-bred chasing Group One start

New Zealand-bred three-year-old Manolo Blahniq (NZ) (Jimmy Choux) will be chasing a berth in the Gr.1 Australian Guineas when he runs at Caulfield tomorrow.

He will move into contention for the March 4 feature with a bold showing in the Gr.3 Manfred Stakes and his rider Jake Noonan couldn't be happier with the horse.

He said the son of Jimmy Choux, who finished close to some of the best colts in last spring's Gr.1 Coolmore Stud Stakes, had been learning to settle better in his races.

"We went in with a main aim to keep him settled," Noonan said. "Last prep, you'd say in the Coolmore he over-raced quite badly.

"We've done a lot of work in teaching this horse to settle while keeping in mind the Australian Guineas."

Miss Three Stars (NZ) (Perfectly Ready)

Trainer apprehensive over rider change

Tommy Beckett isn't sure what he's going to get from Miss Three Stars (NZ) (Perfectly Ready) at Wingatui tomorrow.

The Ascot Park trainer is more than happy with the mare's condition ahead of the Gr.3 White Robe Lodge Handicap, but a forced change of jockey has him nervous.

Miss Three Stars' regular partner Samantha Wynne has opted for the Michael and Matthew Pitman-trained Son Of Maher (Al Maher) and Group One-winning rider

Racha Cuneen has been booked as her replacement. Full story here.

Count looking for local Cup win

Local hope Count Da Vinci (NZ) (Faltaat) will be looking to continue his near-faultless run of form when lining up in Sunday's Gr.3 Hobart Cup (2400m).

The Scott Brunton-trained six-year-old has won two from three at the Hobart track this summer and comes off a second to Geegees Goldengirl (Wordsmith) when beaten 3.3 lengths in the Summer Cup (2200m) with 59kg.

Count Da Vinci, who raced in New Zealand as Faaltline for Jim Wallace, will be ridden by David Pires.

Shadow Prince outside chance in Derby

The Mick Price-trained Shadow Prince (NZ) (Dalghar) has drawn the outside gate in today's Listed Tasmanian Derby (2200m).

The $22,000 NZB Festival Sale graduate has been successful in one of his 10 career starts to date when saluting over 2025m at Cranbourne on December 23 by nearly four lengths.

He then travelled to the Apple Isle for a Hobart Guineas run, where he managed a fifth behind current Tasmanian Derby favourite Northwest Passage (So You Think).

Starvoia (Starcraft)

"Jinx" told to stay away from Wingatui

On one of the busiest and important days of the South Island racing calendar, one half of the south's most potent training duo will be staying away - and not by choice.

Balcain trainers John and Karen Parsons will produce a 13-strong hand on Otago's premier day of racing, including the talented pair of Starvoia (Starcraft) and Residential (NZ) (Pins) in the Listed Living Corporation Dunedin Guineas (1500m).

"They are leaving me at home - they reckon I'm bad luck," Karen Parsons said.

El Soldado (NZ) (Colombia)

Veteran on target for Ellerslie feature

El Soldado (NZ) (Colombia) is on target for what could be a remarkable defence of a Group One title.

The veteran stayer produced the shock of last season when he won the Barfoot & Thompson Auckland Cup at odds of 125-1 and his trainer and part-owner Phillip Devcich has high hopes for Ellerslie again.

"I think he's probably better now than he was last year," he said.

El Soldado will make the fourth appearance of his current campaign in tomorrow's SVS Hamilton Cup for the back of a much-improved effort for fourth in an open handicap at Ellerslie. Full story here.

High Praise for International Premier Sale

This year's edition of New Zealand Bloodstock's Premier Yearling Sale held steady off the back of last year's record-smashing Sale.

The average was recorded as $172,803, down 2%, while the aggregate rose 5% to $58,407,500 ($2,720,000 more than last year's figure), and the clearance rate remained at 78%.

In total, international investment accounted for 70% ($41.1 million) of the Premier Sale turnover with Australian buyers set to take home just over half the horses sold with their spend accounting for 53% or $30.9 million in receipts. New Zealand buyers secured 122 of the Lots on offer spending $17.3 million.

The depth of the buying bench was one of the highlights of the Sale with big-hitters including China Horse Club, BBA Ireland, Sheikh Mohammed Bin Khalifa Al Maktoum and Godolphin's Sheikh Mohammed bin Rashid Al Maktoum among those to secure some of the 10 Lots to sell in excess of the half-million dollar mark.

NEWS IN BRIEF

David Ellis' combined spend over the two days cemented his spot as the leading buyer by aggregate ($4,197,500) with 26 yearlings set to be prepared by Champion NZ trainers Jamie Richards and Stephen Autridge.

Waikato Stud retained their leading vendor by aggregate crown for the fourth year running, selling 45 horses for an aggregate of $8,415,000.

Richard Rutherford's boutique North Canterbury stud Beltana maintained their standing as leading vendor by average (three or more sold) after topping the sale with their full brother to Shamexpress who sold for $825,000 at Lot 10 on the first day of the sale.

Nicoletta (NZ) (Savabeel)

her return delayed when she was galloped on in a trial this month.

Her New Zealand Oaks hopes are in doubt, but she remains on track for the $A1 million Gr.1 Australian Oaks at Randwick on April 8.

Abidewithme (NZ) (Redoute's Choice)

In foal to Tavistock, the Stephen Autridge and Jamie Richards-trained mare bounced back to form with a solid last-start performance at Trentham to finish third in the Gr.1 Thorndon Mile.

The Redoute's Choice mare has won nine races, including two at Group Two level and she is also a two-time Group One placegetter.

Aim Smart (Smart Missile)

Group One target for juveniles

A Cambridge stable is making plans for a two-year-old double play for Group One honours.

Tony Pike has eyes for the Sistema Stakes at Ellerslie on March 11 with the highly-impressive debut winner Aim Smart (Smart Missile) and the Karaka Million placegetter Felton Road (NZ) (Pins).

"Aim Smart looks very good at this stage – on what he did at Pukekohe he looks pretty special," he said.

Raced by the China Horse Club, the Smart Missile colt coasted home by three lengths at the expense of the highly-regarded pair of Summer Passage (Snitzel) and Excelleration (NZ) (Exceed and Excel). Full story here.

Stablemates to clash again

Nicoletta (NZ) (Savabeel) and Bonneval (NZ) (Makfi) will resume their rivalry in the Gr.2 Cambridge Stud Sir Tristram Classic at Te Rapa on Saturday week.

The Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman-trained Gr.1 Wellfield NZ Oaks contenders finished first and third respectively when they last met in the Gr.3 Desert Gold Stakes at Trentham.

Meanwhile, barn mate and Gr.1 Victoria Oaks placegetter Eleonora (NZ) (Makfi) had

Cylinder Beach (NZ) (Showcasing)

Cylinder Beach puts in strong raceday gallop

Cylinder Beach (NZ) (Showcasing) has continued his build-up to the Sydney autumn with a strong hit-out between races at Doomben on Wednesday.

Cylinder Beach, with work rider Lani Pearson aboard, worked over 400 metres with stablemate Too Good To Refuse (Rothsay) and stepped up the pace in the final 200m to finish together.

Trainer Desleigh Forster said it was just what the two horses needed ahead of their returns later this month.

"They both did very well during short breaks. Too Good To Refuse will resume at Eagle Farm on February 18 and then Cylinder Beach will have his comeback run at Doomben a week later," Forster said.

"Then it will be off to Sydney and the lead-up to The Championships."

Final hurrah for Group winner

Abidewithme (NZ) (Redoute's Choice) will make her final race day appearance in the Gr.1 Herbie Dyke Stakes at Te Rapa on February 11.

She Brings Joy (NZ) (Sebring)

Filly taking quiet Oaks path

Stephen Marsh will be taking a softly, softly Gr.1 New Zealand Oaks approach with She Brings Joy (NZ) (Sebring).

The Cambridge trainer produced the well-related filly to break her maiden last time out in the Gr.2 Royal Stakes at Ellerslie and she will make just one more appearance before the Wellfield-sponsored classic at Trentham on March 18.

"It's a case of having to do that – I don't think she could take two more runs going into the Oaks," Marsh said. Full story here.

Diamond target for Hasahalo

Karaka Million runner-up Hasahalo (NZ) (Savabeel) is almost certain to be returning to Ellerslie to chase a Group One prize.

"All going well, we'll be back for the Sistema Stakes," trainer Stephen McKee said. "She really rattled home, but to be fair the winner (Melody Belle) was too good.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Hasahalo (NZ) (Savabeel)

"We got a bit further back than we wanted when the pace went out of the race."

Hasahalo's previous three appearances had featured a victory in the Gr.3 Eclipse Stakes while she finished runner-up in the Gr.2 Wakefield Challenge Stakes.

The impact Shamexpress (NZ) (O'Reilly) made during the Premier Sale at Karaka exceeded all expectations. Windsor Park Stud weren't lacking confidence in the Group

Shamexpress (NZ) (O'Reilly)

One-winning son of O'Reilly, but general manager Steve Till said they were still taken aback by the results.

"He had a sensational sale and I don't think Windsor Park have ever had a first-season sire average $192,500 and that's off the back of a $15,000 fee.

"That's a tremendous return for all those who have supported the horse and for the stake holders." Full story here.

Knight all smiles after Premier results

Results for Novara Park's freshman stallion Jakkalberry (Storming Home) during the NZB Premier session will mark their 2017 Karaka experience a great success.

Buoyed by a steady stream of enquiry from some of the heavy hitters in the Australasian thoroughbred industry leading up to the second day of the Premier sale, stud manager Ray Knight admits he was nervous as the first of two Jakkalberry colts on offer prepared to step into the auction ring.

"We had a very strong performance at the weanling sale last year with the first of our Jakkalberry's so the talk was very positive around the type of individual he leaves. We'd also had plenty of sale-ground inspections and the like but as the first colt went into the ring I was holding my breath a little."

That apprehension turned to delight as Lot 259, the colt from Generous mare Lioness (NZ) fetched $100,000 to the bid of well known local agent Phill Cataldo.

Shortly after the colt from Refused the Dance (NZ) (Defensive Play) made $440,000 when knocked down to retired Australian businessman John Wheeler and Mornington Peninsula-based trainer Jason Warren.

Wallace looks beyond colt's pure coat

Colour played no part in Michael Wallace's purchase of a unique individual at Karaka on Tuesday.

The China Horse Club's bloodstock and racing manager went to $510,000 to secure the unusually-coloured son of Shamexpress from Windsor Park Stud's consignment.

"You have to discount the white factor – he is a beautiful horse," Wallace said. "There is no softness about him at all, he's just full of hard muscle." Full story here.

Bowman will be keeping tabs on smart 3YO

Experience has taught Hugh Bowman to take serious notice of Murray Baker's judgement.

The leading Sydney jockey had enjoyed past successes with the astute Cambridge trainer, a Group One win in the VRC Derby aboard the ill-fated Lion Tamer (NZ) (Storming Home) among them, and they were to the fore again at Ellerslie on Sunday. Bowman combined with Camino Rocosso (NZ), a progressive son of Shocking that Baker trains with Andrew Forsman, for an impressive win in the Henley Park 1600. Full story here.

Unique racing memorabilia on offer in fundraising drive

The racing fraternity is pulling together to raise funds for a young man suffering from life-threatening Melanoma with some rare racing memorabilia set to be offered at auction to kick-start the donation process.

New Zealand Thoroughbred Racing and Cambridge Stud have combined to donate a framed photo of Sir Patrick Hogan with his champion sire Zabeel, taken by world renowned photographer Spiros Poros, along with a gold plated horseshoe worn by the legendary sire who passed away in late 2015.

The package is currently being auctioned online on New Zealand Bloodstock subsidiary gavelhouse.com with bidding set to close from 7pm on Monday 6 February.

Diagnosed with stage three melanoma on Daffodil Day 2014, while in his last year at Napier Boys High School, Jackson Alexander has undergone a series of treatments that have unfortunately been unable to stifle the disease. Full story here.
