WALLER CLOSING IN ON OWN RECORD

Mareostro looks a fine chance to push ex-pat kiwi trainer Chris Waller closer to his New South Wales metropolitan win record when he lines up at Rosehill tomorrow

Sydney-based Kiwi Chris Waller is closing in on his own all-time record for the most New South Wales metropolitan wins in a season.

The five-time Sydney Premiership winner set the record of 167.5 wins during the 2012-13 season. He is currently sitting on 162 wins with five Sydney metropolitan meetings remaining this season.

Waller prepares twelve runners at Rosehill on Saturday including Tales of Grimm (Distorted Humor) and Mareostro (NZ) (Duelled) in the feature race, the Listed Winter Stakes (1400m).

The winner of nine races, Mareostro gets the chance to add black-type to his race record on Saturday, although Waller admits he will need to lift his game.

"I think he was suspect at the mile with a big weight two starts ago," said Waller.

"And last start he was given no chance when a bunch of jockeys tried to out muscle each other and he was shoved three wide.

"I've put the blinkers on him which might be a bit of an overkill but I just thought he was ready for a change. He doesn't do much in his trackwork so the blinkers will sharpen him up."

Marenostro has drawn barrier one and he will appreciate the softer track.

Waller also saddles Tales of Grim in the race, who he believes will benefit from the confidence boost he received when winning the Listed Spear Chief Handicap at Eagle Farm on June 25.

"It was good to get a horse like that back into winning form because I think it means a lot to those older horses," Waller said.

"They get used to running into bad luck and it's often disheartening."

Waller's other runners at Rosehill on Saturday include Thurston (NZ) (O'Reilly) in the Schweppes Handicap (2000m).

"Saturday is his race," said Waller. "He's going well, he's drawn well, Tim Clark knows the horse well, the 2000 metres is perfect for him, he's rock fit and the soft track won't worry him so I expect him to bounce right back."

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Oysterman (NZ) (Yamanin Vital)

Belial (Domesday)

Maidens won't be over-awed by opposition

Stephen Nickalls is confident of bold showings from his pair of maiden jumpers in the prestige events at Trentham on Saturday.

While the Awapuni trainer has yet to welcome The Oysterman (NZ) (Yamanin Vital) or Derby Dan (Danasinga) back to the winner's stall, the duo aren't there to make up the numbers with both of them boasting solid placed form on their records.

The Oysterman will return for a second crack at the Grant Plumbing Wellington Steeplechase after finishing runner-up 12 months ago to Mr Mor (NZ) (Corrupt).

"We've only got to improve a length and all this preparation I've said he is stronger and better than last year," Nickalls said. Full story here.

Ritchie not short on two-year-old talent

Shaune Ritchie has adequate juvenile cover in the absence of his impressive Te Rapa winner Bella Gioia (NZ) (Swiss Ace).

The Cambridge trainer produced the Swiss Ace filly for a dashing victory earlier this month and he returns to the Hamilton course on Saturday with confidence in the chances of She'stoohottotrot (NZ) (Showcasing) and Where Are You (NZ) (Ekraar).

"Bella Gioia is having a short freshen up and races like the Soliloquy and Bonecrusher Stakes should sit up nicely for her a bit later on," Ritchie said.

"She's quite an exciting prospect for those better three-year-old fillies' races."

Bella Gioia was ridden by Sam Weatherley and he has been booked for She'stoohottotrot in the NZB Insurance Pearl Series Race while stable apprentice Brendan Hutton will partner debutante Where Are You. Full story here.

Prince Of Penzance (NZ) (Pentire)

Cup winner progressing well

Prince Of Penzance (NZ) (Pentire) is on target for a return to the scene of his Melbourne Cup triumph at Flemington in the Makybe Diva Stakes. The son of Pentire pleased trainer Darren

Track specialist Belial primed for Avondale

A start in the Gr.2 Foxbridge Plate is not beyond the realms of possibility for emerging sprinter Belial (Domesday), who steps out at his favourite track Avondale on Friday.

The Steven Cole-trained Domesday five-year-old gelding has won four of his 17 starts and will relish the drop back from open company to the AJC On Facebook Rating 75 1200 at Avondale.

Belial went too fast early at Ruakaka and faded late, but Cole was satisfied with the run and upbeat about his chances at Avondale.

"He ran his first 600m in 34 seconds. The jockey [Anna Jones] went too hard and it wasn't her best work," Cole said.

"He just blew out the last 600, but after running such quick early sectionals he was entitled to." Full story here.

Weir in his latest gallop alongside new stablemate Tosen Stardom (Deep Imapct) this week.

"They stretched their legs over half a mile (800m) and both worked great. They're both in fantastic order," Weir said.

"Tosen Stardom and Prince Of Penzance will probably go to the Makybe Diva and then we'll work it out which way we head from there."

The Makybe Diva Stakes (1600m) is on September 10.

Lucia Valentina (NZ) (Savabeel)

Lucia Valentina to return at Wyong

Queen Elizabeth Stakes winner Lucia Valentina (NZ) (Savabeel) is set to make her first public appearance this preparation at Wyong next Monday.

The Kris Lees-trained mare will trial over 845m alongside stablemate and fellow Group 1 winner Le Romain (Hard Spun) at the provincial track on the Central Coast in New South Wales.

Lees has earmarked an August 20 return date for both horses, with Lucia Valentina to resume in the Warwick Stakes (1400m) while Le Romain will run in the Show County Quality (1200m).

"I won't be doing too much with them, they will basically just be going around for an easy gallop," Lees said.

"It is just a good opportunity for them to get a gallop on grass."

Lucia Valentina is on a Cox Plate path, setting up an exciting clash with Winx (Street Cry) at Moonee Valley.

Schockemohle chasing Caulfield success

Which Schockemohle (NZ) (Senor Pete) will turn up at Caulfield?

That's a question trainer Brett Scott is asking ahead of the Rockmount Pretraining Handicap over 2000m on Saturday.

Although Schockemohle returned to winning form at Moonee Valley last start,

Scott said the gelding can be a difficult ride.

But Scott said jumping had switched Schockemohle on mentally for his flat racing.

All being well, Schockemohle will make his jumps debut in a maiden hurdle at Bendigo on Sunday week.

Before then, Schockemohle runs on the flat on Saturday with Scott hoping to replicate the performance at Moonee Valley where Michael Walker was able to dictate the race.

"It was a good win at Moonee Valley," Scott said.

"He got all the favours but he's fit and in good order for Saturday, has drawn a good gate and Michael seems to click with him."

a long way off racing just yet," the Taranaki horseman said.

"There's a chance I may take him to Melbourne for the country cups or failing that we'll look toward the New Zealand Cup." Full story here.

Mongolianlightning (NZ) (Bullbars).

Mongolian Wolf was set alight early by Matt Cameron to be on the pace three wide 600 metres from home.

"He's still got a lot to learn and he's not a natural two-year-old, but once I pushed the button he sustained a very good run," Cameron said.

Ryan Elliot

Elliot sets ambitious targets for new season

Dedicating himself fulltime to a career as a jockey could see Hamilton's Ryan Elliot competitive in next season's national apprentice premiership.

A winning double at Tauranga on Wednesday again put the spotlight on one of the rising stars of the apprentice ranks, the 17-year-old now having ridden 18 winners in a short career.

While Elliot is approaching his third season as a rider, he has mixed riding with school work before moving to Hamilton permanently where he is based with trainers Graeme and Debbie Rogerson.

Now his focus is completely on developing his skillset as a jockey and accumulating wins. Full story here.

Apprentice Josh Oliver makes an impression

Apprentice Josh Oliver has been rewarded for his recent impressive form with a top book of rides at Eagle Farm including his first for trainer Robert Heathcote.

Oliver has ridden 65 winners since joining Toowoomba trainer Ben Currie from New Zealand last year.

He has six scheduled rides on Saturday including Saluter (Commands) who has been second in stakes races at his past two starts.

Oliver's three kilogram claim will reduce the gelding's weight to 56kg in the Caltex Open (1400m). Full story here.

Manolo Blahniq (NZ) (Jimmy Choux)

Vic trainer has Sydney plans for NZ colt

Mornington trainer Tony Noonan holds high hopes for Hawkesbury barrier trial winner Manolo Blahniq (NZ) (Jimmy Choux).

The Victorian trainer has the two-year-old son of Jimmy Choux geared towards the early Sydney three-year-old races.

And if his form warrants it, the Group One Golden Rose at Rosehill on September will be his first spring target.

Noonan bought Manolo Blahniq as a yearling but left him in New Zealand for his early two-year-old racing. Full story here.

Stayer a chance for Melbourne trip

Pentathlon (NZ) (Pentire) made impressive progress during his last preparation and he may end up going even further afield later this year.

The son of Pentire went from a Rating 59 performer to a major cups' contender through the spring and summer and into the autumn.

Trainer John Wheeler has Pentathlon back in work and with a couple of tentative plans, depending on the gelding's progress.

"He's had a couple of little run alongs and everything is going to plan, but he is

The Bold One (NZ) (Fastnet Rock)

Trainer's bold words enough to seal stallion deal

A chat with New Plymouth trainer Allan Sharrock was enough for central districts studmaster Mark Corcoran to take on The Bold One (NZ) (Fastnet Rock).

"I was approached by the syndicate - Eddie Bourke and the Dennis brothers - about standing him and then I had a talk to Allan and he convinced me, he rated him very highly and thought he was a Group One horse in the making," Corcoran said.

As a result, the regally-bred The Bold One will begin his stallion career in 2016 at Grangewilliam Stud at Waitotara, south of Wanganui. Full story here.

Leith Innes

Innes on target for Ruakaka return

Top jockey Leith Innes is making a good recovery following knee surgery last month.

"Everything went to plan and I'm having physio and doing a bit of light exercise," he said. "It was an on-going injury. I fell off a few years ago and it had bugged me ever since."

The 38-year-old is expecting to make his return to the saddle early in the new season.

"I've pencilled in the Ruakaka meeting on August 6 – there's a nice three-year-old race there that leads on to Hawke's Bay so that's the plan," he said.

"I haven't jumped on a horse yet, the knee needs some more strengthening, but it's all going well."

Innes has enjoyed an outstanding season in 2015-16 with 77 winners to place him in fourth spot in the jockeys' premiership and has ridden four Group One winners.

Final days to enter Gavelhouse.com July auction

Entries for gavelhouse.com's July online thoroughbred auction are due this Sunday at 7pm.

The redeveloped site has been a welcome addition to the New Zealand racing landscape, selling almost 100 horses in its first three monthly auctions for over $800,000 in total receipts.

Off the back of a landmark June auction, which saw the sale of the first six-figure lot facilitated via gavelhouse.com's new online auction site as $100,000 was paid for a Tavistock yearling from Strabelle, some quality early entries have been submitted for the July auction.

In addition to horses, stallion shares and nominations are also able to be auctioned on the site.

Changes to fillies' series

New Zealand Bloodstock together with the Canterbury Jockey Club and the Otago Racing Club have announced changes to the format of the New Zealand Bloodstock Southern Filly of the Year series for next season.

The point's structure will now be seven for a win, four for second and two for a third and in a dead-heat the points will be divided equally.

In the event of two or more fillies having equal points following the running of the fourth and final leg of the series, the NZB Warstep Stakes, the filly with the best finishing position in this event will be determined the winner of the series.

Kiwi mare's colt lights up auction ring

New Zealand-bred mare Shamrock (NZ) (O'Reilly) was a headline-maker during her racing career and she's now playing a starring role as a broodmare.

A dual Group One winner by O'Reilly, her yearling colt by champion sire Deep Impact sold for 170 million yen (about $NZ2.3 million) during Monday's JRHA Select Sale in Saporro, Japan.

Shamrock was raced by Raffles Racing, whose manager Bruce Sherwin was at the auction and he was impressed by her youngster.

"He is a lovely colt with a lot of similarities to his mum Shamrock, and also Rock Diva (Shamrock's half-sister raced by Raffles). He is an attractive individual, well-conformed, an excellent walk and an attitude to match."

The Group One winner Rock Diva (NZ) (Lucky Unicorn) is also likely to head to the breeding barn this spring. Full story here.
