TE AKAU TEAM IN PEAK ORDER FOR MARQUEE DAY

Impressive two-year-old filly Melody Belle will start a warm favourite in the Gr. 1 JJ Atkins at Doomben

Jamie Richards is satisfied with what the Te Akau team has achieved through the Brisbane carnival but says the success of the campaign will be measured by the results at Doomben tomorrow.

The Matamata horseman shares training duties of the team with Stephen Autridge, but has been the man on the ground in Brisbane through the winter carnival and will saddle a marquee team on Queensland's blue riband day of racing.

In action are star filly Melody Belle (NZ) (Commands) in the Gr.1 J.J. Atkins (1600m), Hong Kong-bound three-year-old Shocking Luck (NZ) (Shocking) in the Gr.1 Queensland Derby (2200m), Zambezi Warrior (NZ) (Pentire) in the Gr.2 Brisbane Cup (2200m), Heroic Valour (Fastnet Rock) in the Listed Daybreak Lover (1200m) and Jimmy Rea (NZ) (Thewayouare) in the Listed Mark Hinkler Handicap (1200m).

Shocking Luck is one of the headliners from the Te Akau Racing team in action at Doomben tomorrow

"It's grand final day for us. These are the races these horses have been set to win," Richards said.

"It's been great to win a couple of black-type races on the way through, but these are the races we're here to win."

Melody Belle is the most favoured to win.

A clinical 4 3/4-length winner of the Gr.2 QTC Sires' Produce Stakes (1400m) at her last start, the Gr.1 Manawatu Sires' Produce Stakes and Karaka Million winner is as short as even money with Australian bookmakers.

"She's in really good order. She came through the Sires' run the other day really well," Richards said.

"She's a straightforward filly, doesn't overtax herself on the training track. Opie [Bosson, jockey] was happy with her work on Tuesday. She's in good form and we can't fault her. She's ready to run a good race.

"We've got a lot of confidence in this filly. What she's been able to achieve in her career so far has shown us she's pretty special."

Shocking Luck, a $5 favourite for the Derby, returns to the scene of his Gr.3 Rough Habit Plate (2000m) triumph last month, having weakened to sixth in heavy going in the Gr.3 Grand Prix Stakes (2200m) at Eagle Farm a fortnight ago.

"He worked with Zambezi Warrior on Tuesday and Opie was really happy with him too. He said it was as good, if not better, than going into the Grand Prix," Richards said.

"Going back to Doomben on a better surface is going to help him and he's got a lovely barrier [drawn one]. He'll get handy and track the speed and should get a good run from there.

"This is the last start he'll have for us before heading up to Hong Kong so hopefully we can send him off on the right note."

Richards rated Zambezi Warrior a "realistic chance" in the Brisbane Cup (2400m) after a fourth placing in the Gr.3 Chairman's Handicap (2000m) at Doomben and second in the Gr.3 Premier's Cup (2200m) at Eagle Farm at his past two starts.

"He's in good form. He's improved out of sight on the trip and he's thrived since the race the other day," Richards said.

"He's not great away from the gates so he'll probably get three or four back the fence from the draw [barrier three] and he might need some luck from there. Jeff Lloyd rode him in work on Tuesday and he was happy and I'd like to think he's a winning chance."

Richards said the carnival had been a "massive learning curve" for him personally, having to deal with the frustration and fallout of missing the payment deadlines for Melody Belle and Shocking Luck, meaning both had to have late entry fees paid, but a successful day on Saturday would give him immense satisfaction.

"It's pretty daunting to have the favourite for both the JJ Atkins and Queensland Derby, but also a massive feat for us and that all stems from the horses Dave [Ellis, Te Akau principal] buys, the support from our owners and the efforts of our entire staff.

"A lot of effort has gone into getting these horses ready to be at their best for this carnival. Now, hopefully, we can have a bit of luck. It's exciting but I'm more nervous than excited at this stage to be honest." - NZ Racing Desk.

STABLE HOPING FOR A CHANGE OF LUCK IN BRISBANE

Donna Logan and Chris Gibbs' Queensland plans haven't gone according to script, but they remain in the hunt for a Group One prize.

The Ruakaka trainers' hopes will rest with Here He Comes (NZ) (Bullbars) in the Queensland Derby with another horror gate highly likely to force the scratching of the precocious youngster Qiji Phoenix (Not A Single Doubt) from the J.J. Atkins.

"His barrier of 15 makes it virtually impossible," Logan said. "From where they start at Doomben it's just too tough.

"I don't want to devalue or hurt him with a gut-buster from that draw when he's got a really bright three-year-old career ahead of him."

The Not A Single Doubt colt was unbeaten in three New Zealand appearances before he turned in a brave effort for seventh, after racing three and four wide from a wide alley, in the Gr.2 Sires' Produce Stakes.

Meanwhile, the switch to Doomben for the Derby hasn't enhanced the chances of Here He Comes, the winner of three races against the older horses at home as Comin'through before his Queensland campaign.

He was sixth in his Australian debut in the Gr.3 Rough Habit Plate and showed improvement to finish a last-start fourth in the Gr.3 Grand Prix Stakes.

"That track at Eagle Farm last time was so bad – it was worse than anything at home," Logan said. "He did well to run as well as he did.

"He's very well in himself, but my concern is Doomben. He's a big-striding horse and coming back to 2200 metres is a worry when we've been working toward 2400, but that's what we've got and hopefully he can make the most of it."

– NZ Racing Desk.

A wide barrier draw for promising two-year-old Qiji Phoenix at Doomben tomorrow may see him withdrawn from his Group One assignment

NEWS IN BRIEF

Volatile Mix (NZ) (Pentire)

Coast trial for Derby fancy

Queensland Derby favourite Volatile Mix (NZ) (Pentire) rounded off his preparation for Saturday's classic with a trial outing at the Sunshine Coast.

The New Zealand-bred son of Pentire finished fourth in his 1270m heat on Tuesday without being asked for an effort.

Trained by Darren Weir, Volatile Mix won the Gr.1 South Australian Derby two runs back before he finished the closest of seconds in the Gr.3 Grand Prix Stakes at Eagle Farm.

Weir will also be represented in the Derby by the Gr.2 Avondale Guineas runner-up Mongolian Wolf (Pluck), who won the Gr.3 Frank Packer Plate in his Australian debut.

Australian Bloodstock's Jamie Lovett Lovett admitted he was unsure what to expect following Mongolian Wolf's unplaced run at Caulfield last month.

"We were scratching our heads he raced so poorly but the way Weiry's talking, he hasn't missed a trick since and he was pleased with his work the other day," Lovett said.

"If you go on his last run, he'll get lapped but if you go off his run in the Frank Packer, he'll be right in a race like that.

"We've always said to the owners that, to get a gauge on where he is, we'll go to the Packer Plate with a view of going to Queensland to the Derby. But he'd been up a while with Murray (Baker) in New Zealand so we said that if he goes over the top, then we'll get him ready for the spring.

"Obviously, four-year-olds do profile very well for a race like the Caulfield Cup so that was always in the back of our minds and when he raced so poor I thought we'd just turn him out but as Weiry tends to do, he can keep them up by freshening him up on the beach and as there's nothing wrong with his blood so there's no reason not to push on."

Aloisia (NZ) (Azamour)

Maher confident of Queensland quest

Trainer Ciaran Maher is confident he can make a bold impression at Doomben on Saturday, and thinks Aloisia (NZ) (Azamour) should put in a bold showing in the Gr.1 JJ Atkins.

Aloisia was purchased by OTI Racing off the back of two good runs in New Zealand and the daughter of Azamour has continued to impress Maher.

He felt 1400m would be too short for her on her Australian debut at Flemington on May 20, but she could hardly have been more impressive when she sat sixth on the fence and burst away to win.

"I have always thought she would need the mile so the JJ Atkins looks a nice race for her," Maher said.

"I'm really happy with her and it will be interesting to see how she measures up against the other two-year-olds.

"She is not the biggest horse so hopefully she can scoot around Doomben pretty well."

Stradbroke swansong for Rageese

Victorian horseman Darren Weir believes Rageese (Street Cry) could be an underrated hope for the stable in tomorrow's Gr.1 Stradbroke Handicap (1350m).

Rageese, who will stand at Windsor Park Stud for the 2017 season, gets into the Stradbroke Handicap on a 52kg light weight.

He comes back from 57kg last Saturday at the Doomben track when he had no luck running unplaced in the Gr.2 Moreton Cup (1200m) from barrier 12 of 13.

"He just had no luck last week," Weir said. "It was just a shame he kept getting cut off all the time."

Rageese, who has won four of his 21 career starts for A$563,760 in prize money to date, is after his first win since the Gr.3 Chatham Stakes (1400m) at Flemington last Melbourne Cup Carnival.

Rageese will step back up to his pet distance on the weekend, the horse boasting four wins and a second from nine previous runs in the 1350m - 1400m range.

Sisters aim to keep it in the family in Brisbane Cup

It will be a sister act if New Zealand stayer Benzini (Tale of The Cat) can defend his Gr.2 Brisbane Cup (2200m) crown on Saturday.

History was created last year when Rosie Myers became the first woman to ride the winner of the Brisbane Cup when Benzini scored by a neck.

Myers won't ride Benzini on Saturday at Doomben as she recovers from a broken leg, but there was an able riding replacement in her own family.

Her sister Kelly McCulloch, who sits 12th in this season's New Zealand riding premiership with 56 wins, will ride Benzini.

And McCulloch is hoping she can be just as successful as her sister was.

"I have actually just been talking to Rosie on the phone about Benzini, because she knows him pretty well," McCulloch said.

"We both think his run the other day (when he ran fourth beaten a length in the Gr.3 Premier's Cup) was pretty strong.

"Without knowing the form of this race super well, he looks to me like he is in it with a very good chance again.

"I have ridden Benzini before and I know you can't bustle him too much early.

"Hopefully there is OK speed and he can be three-back or something and get out and show his pretty good turn of foot."

McCulloch was injured herself last year when Benzini won the Brisbane Cup and has pleasant memories of her sister winning.

"There are plenty of swings and roundabouts in racing – last year I was injured and I was watching on TV and this year the roles have been reversed," McCulloch said.

Bonny O'Reilly (NZ) (O'Reilly)

Plan B for Bonny O'Reilly

Despite missing a start in the Stradbroke Handicap in-form mare Bonny O'Reilly (NZ) (O'Reilly) will get a run at Doomben tomorrow after trainer Bjorn Baker decided to revert to plan B and run her in the Gr.2 Dane Ripper Stakes (1350m).

The four-year-old mare has won her last five starts, including last week's Listed Helen Coughlan Stakes (1200m).

Bonny O'Reilly has drawn barrier 15 with Opie Bosson booked to take the ride.

Zebulon (NZ) (All American)

Zebulon to appreciate easier assignment

Zebulon (NZ) (All American) faces a drop in class at Flemington from a recent Group One race but trainer Peter Morgan is lamenting a wide barrier draw.

Five-year-old Zebulon finished among the tailenders in the Gr.1 Goodwood (1200m) in Adelaide last month in his second start since his return from a second lengthy lay-off because of a tendon injury.

On Saturday the gelding is scheduled to contest the Rod Johnson Handicap (1400m) at Flemington which is a heat of the Winter Championship Series in Victoria.

Morgan was pleased with how Zebulon performed first-up this campaign when hitting the line well for fifth in the Listed Anniversary Vase (1400m) at Caulfield.

But he was disappointed how things panned out in The Goodwood, believing the gelding was too close to the speed after being caught wide before finishing 19th.

"He has come through the race all right but he's drawn off the course on Saturday in barrier 17," Morgan said.

He said, so long as he decides to start him from that barrier, Zebulon would need to settle back in the field.

"He runs better from back in the field anyway. That's his pattern," Morgan said.

"His work has been good and he's done everything right, but you never know whether they are saving themselves a little bit. But he didn't appear to be saving anything first-up at Caulfield."

Patience key to Avondale hope

Lord Snow (NZ) (Postponed) has been a work in progress and he's now ready to get back into action after a lengthy break.

The son of Postponed will make his first appearance for 10 months when he steps out in the Elm Street Development 1400 at Avondale today.

"He's ready to go again and he's been taken along quietly – he's a very big horse so he's needed some time," said Moira Murdoch, who trains the Postponed gelding with her daughter Kieran. Full story here.

Rebel has a winning cause

A bold first-up showing at Te Rapa tomorrow is expected from Sacred Rebel (Sepoy).

The Sepoy youngster goes into the Visions 1200 off the back of an 850m trial success at Taupo last month.

"He won his trial nicely and he's a really good type," trainer Tony Pike said. "He's still a bit new, but on raw ability he should go close."

Sacred Elixir (NZ) (Pour Moi)

HK beckons Sacred Elixir

Group One winner Sacred Elixir (NZ) (Pour Moi) has entered quarantine for Hong Kong.

"He's going with a view to running in the Derby there and that was always the plan," Cambridge trainer Tony Pike said. "Depending how he goes, he'll stay or he could come back here."

Sacred Elixir was successful in the Gr.1 J.J. Atkins at Eagle Farm 12 months ago for Pike and the following spring he won the Gr.3 Caulfield Guineas Prelude and the Gr.2 The Vase at Moonee Valley before he finished runner-up in the Gr.1 VRC Derby.

On his return home, the son of Pour Moi had a further three starts culminating in his fifth placing in the Gr.1 New Zealand Derby.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Te Akau on Monday without competing alongside their five stablemates and travelling companions on Stradbroke Handicap day at Doomben.

Gr.1 Levin Classic winner Hall Of Fame was found to have mucus in his trachea when scoped after his fifth placing in the Listed Queensland Day Plate at Doomben last month and trainers Stephen Autridge and Jamie Richards decided against running him again.

Splurge finished 10th in last weekend's Gr.2 Moreton Cup (1200m) at Doomben, not doing enough to secure a start in Saturday's Gr.1 Stradbroke Handicap (1350m).

"Splurge didn't run badly. He's just landed a couple of ordinary barriers over here, but he's a high-class horse and now he's gelded he's started to relax a bit more and might be wanting to get out to 1400m or a mile," Richards said.

Plans for Hall Of Fame and Splurge next season have yet to be determined.

Savile Row (NZ) (Makfi)

Time out serves smart 3YO well

The workload of the well-performed colt Savile Row (NZ) (Makfi) has gone up a notch.

The gifted son of Makfi enjoyed a good spell and he is now slowly picking up the pace toward his four-year-old campaign.

"He's back in pre-training and he's just a different horse," said Jonathan Scully, racing manager for breeder-owner Kevin Hickman.

"Toward the end of his last preparation he was having immaturity problems and issues with his joints and he'd had enough. Full story here.

Set-back for top jumping prospect

Unbeaten hurdler Second Innings (NZ) (Yamanin Vital) has been side-lined by a tendon injury.

"He broke down after his last run at Awapuni," trainer Paul Nelson said. "It's a shame, but even if he has a year off he'll be young enough to come back again."

The winner of four races on the flat and placed in the Listed Tamarunui Cup,

Second Innings (NZ) (Yamanin Vital)

Second Innings claimed two easy wins over fences at the Grand National meeting at Riccarton last year before he beat Danza Lad (NZ) (Woodbury Lad) at Te Aroha in his only other jumping appearance.

Thunder Down Under (Street Sense)

Injury puts smart 4YO's career on hold

Talented four-year-old Thunder Down Under (Street Sense) is on the easy list.

The stakes-winning son of Street Sense looked back to something like his best last month at Te Rapa where he overcame a wide run for the fourth victory of his career.

Unfortunately, his progress has subsequently been halted and he will be side-lined through the winter.

"He was sore again after he won and it's turned out that he's fractured a pedal bone," trainer Stephen Ralph said. Full story here.

Mr Luigi forward to resume

Lightly-ried winter galloper Mr Luigi (Darci Brahma) is closing in on a return to racing.

The Darci Brahma gelding has fashioned a tidy record from limited opportunities and he is expected to make further progress through the grades in the coming months.

Mr Luigi was successful over 850m at the Te Awamutu trials last week following a winning run in a 900m heat at Ellerslie on May 2.

"After he won at Auckland we were stuck in traffic and he kicked a plate off in the float," trainer Peter Lock said. Full story here

Eminent (Frankel)

Eclipse in the mix for Eminent

Sir Peter Vela's Frankel colt Eminent is likely to stay closer to home for his next start.

The three-year-old finished a meritorious fourth in last weekend's Gr.1 English Derby for Newmarket trainer Martyn Meade, who is leaning toward a run in the Gr.1 Eclipse Stakes at Sandown.

"First of all, the most important thing is he has come out of the race OK and he lives to fight another day," Meade said.

"No doubt a race like that will take its toll on any three-year-old and he has lost a little bit of weight. He does look great, but as he is a big horse he will need a bit of time.

"He is not actually in the Irish Derby and I don't think he will go for that. He might go for the Eclipse and we will consider the Grand Prix de Paris as he is in both of them.

"They are later than the Irish race so it gives us sufficient time to get him back to his best."

Amarela chasing overdue win at Flemington

Trainer Nigel Blackiston believes Amarela (NZ) (Pentire) has been knocking on the door of an overdue win and hopes the mare can achieve it at Flemington.

Amarela is chasing her first win since May last year in Saturday's Ken Cox Handicap (1800m) which is over the same course and distance as her most recent victory.

Blackiston believes 1800m suits and is hoping the mare gets luck and clear galloping room in the straight to make her presence felt.

"She's thereabouts and is trying hard," Blackiston said.

"She likes Flemington. Over 1800 metres, down in the weights, hopefully we can get the job done."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Bella Gioia (NZ) (Swiss Ace)

Pin pulled on filly's Brisbane campaign

Time has been called on the Queensland campaign of the Group One performer Bella Gioia (NZ) (Swiss Ace).

The New Zealand 1000 Guineas runner-up was unplaced in her Australian debut in the Gr.3 Fred Best Classic and a decision has subsequently been made to rest the Swiss Ace filly.

"She ran into that awful track at Eagle Farm and it took the sting right out of her," trainer Shaune Ritchie said.

"We could have freshened her up and carried on, but that would take time and we felt that might impede her spring. She's having a two week break over there and she'll be out for another two weeks when she gets back.

"She won't lose too much residual fitness and we will have her back and ready for the spring.

"We'll probably look for something soft first-up to give her some confidence and I've got no doubt she is a Hawke's Bay carnival horse, but we'll just see what happens later on."

Serious Satire (More Than Ready)

Serious Satire to stud

Black type winner Serious Satire (More Than Ready) has been retired.

"We didn't get to see the best of her, but that's the way it goes sometimes," trainer Stephen Marsh said. "She's going to Exceed And Excel."

Bred and raced by David Paykel, Serious Satire won three of her 12 starts including the Gr.3 Gold Trail Stakes at Hastings.

She is a daughter of More Than Ready and the Zabeel mare Zarzuela, who was a Group Two winner and Group One placed.

Racing stalwart honoured

Allan Fenwick's services to the New Zealand thoroughbred code have seen him made an Officer of the New Zealand Order of Merit in the Queen's Birthday honours list.

For 12 years, he was the chief executive of New Zealand Thoroughbred Racing and he was also a member of the International Cataloguing Standards Committee representing the Asian Racing Federation, as well as serving as a board member of the TAB and the NZ Racing Authority.

Fenwick is currently a director of the NZ Racing Hall of Fame and is involved with the NZ Racehorse Owners' Federation, the Central Region Apprentice Academy and the NZ Equine Research Foundation.

Gingernuts' Ellerslie efforts rewarded

The Ellerslie deeds of the outstanding three-year-old Gingernuts (NZ) (Iffraaj) were acknowledged at the Ellerslie Awards ceremony held during their Queen's Birthday meeting.

Gingernuts (NZ) (Iffraaj)

"He won the Outstanding Performance of the Year for his win in the Avondale Guineas and also won Ellerslie Horse of the Year, which is voted on by club officials and selected media," Auckland Racing Club executive general manager Craig Baker said.

"The Outstanding Performance award was a club members and public vote, via social media, and it's fair to say that he won pretty easily."

In the Gr.2 Avondale Guineas, the Stephen Autridge and Jamie Richards-trained Gingernuts came from last after missing the start by five lengths.
