PIKE CHASING FURTHER QUEENSLAND SUCCESS

Bostonian, a member of the Tony Pike team at the Queensland Winter Carnival, has his first start at Doomben this weekend

Tony Pike has had plenty of success in Brisbane over the years and he will try to continue that run of form with his three Kiwi raiders.

Stakes winner Bostonian (NZ) (Jimmy Choux) will run in the Listed Queensland Day Stakes (1350m) and Sacred Master (NZ) (Mastercraftsman) will line-up in the Listed Members Handicap (1600m) at Doomben on Saturday.

Pike's other visitor Terra Sancta (NZ) (Pierro) has already tasted success in the sunshine state, winning impressively over 1666m at Ipswich on Monday.

Bostonian is the first horse Pike has trained for leading New Zealand owner-breeder David Archer.

The three-year-old is from the same family as multiple Group One-winning galloper Mufhasa (NZ) (Pentire).

"I was debating about running him on Saturday first-up at 1350m but it fits in with his likely program of the Fred Best Classic and Queensland Guineas," Pike said.

Sacred Master has returned to Pike's stables after a stint in Sydney with Chris Waller.

"He has had injury problems but we hope to get him ready for the Brisbane Cup," Pike said.

He noted the number of New Zealanders at the winter carnival has been impacted by the closure of Eagle Farm.

"A lot of New Zealand trainers like big tracks and Doomben doesn't suit their horses," Pike said.

"I think there are only two Kiwi nominations for the Queensland Oaks. I think once Eagle Farm reopens you will see a lot more New Zealand horses coming again."

JAMES CONFIDENT AHEAD OF DERBY

Cambridge trainer Roger James is happy with his Gr.1 South Australian Derby (2500m) contender Sherrif (NZ) (High Chaparral), known as High Sherrif in Australia, ahead of Saturday's feature race at Morphettville.

"You don't travel this far for a Group One without having a good opinion of them," James said. "He's only ever had one trial, which he won well and he won his maiden well (over 1400m).

The High Chaparral gelding, owned by Cambridge Stud's Brendan and Jo Lindsay, has only had four career starts to date for two wins, including the Gr.3 Manawatu Classic (2000m).

James has discounted his last-start fifth placing on a Heavy 10 track at Counties and believes his runner is in prime condition for Saturday, where his regular rider Leith Innes will be aboard.

"He's come through that run well," he said. "He had a 14-hour day stable to stable on Sunday and we have been stabled with Matt Cumani at Ballarat and they have been wonderful.

"He couldn't have ticked any more boxes than he has, I am really happy with him.

"He has a good turn of foot, I hope we get a good track so we can see that again."

Although James is happy with Sherrif, he does have some concerns leading into the Derby.

"I am very mindful that he is doing it all on his first preparation and that is never easy," he said.

"I am happy with the order he is in but he has to race correctly and we have an awkward barrier at 12.

"If he's switched off and relaxed with a mile to go I am sure he will feature."

BRISBANE BECKONS MISS WILSON

John Bary pulls no punches when he says Miss Wilson (Stratum) is far from her best on heavy tracks.

But the Hastings trainer has revealed the last-start Group One winner could yet go two further starts deeper into the season.

Bary has the Richard and Liz Wood-bred and raced Miss Wilson slated for Saturday's Listed ISCL Rotorua Stakes (1400m) and is keen for her to race, within reason.

"It depends on how bad the track gets. It depends on how much rain comes and how the track comes up. We're hoping for a slow 7," Bary said on Thursday.

"Her record reads that she has placed on a heavy track, but that was at her first start when she ran second to Stradivarius at Rotorua as a two-year-old. She's a very different animal now."

Now a five-year-old, Miss Wilson produced a career-defining performance to win the Gr.1 New Zealand Thoroughbred Breeders Stakes (1600m) at Te Aroha last month, her seventh win from 25 starts, taking her earnings to just shy of $350,000.

At first glance, the Rotorua Stakes seems a peculiar choice for Miss Wilson, but when Bary reveals that a tilt at the Gr.1 Tattersalls's Tiara (1350m) at Doomben on June 23 is in the offing, contesting Saturday's fillies and mares' event makes more sense.

"This is definitely her last

Miss Wilson is looking for a good winter surface to show her best at Rotorua on Saturday appearance in New Zealand this season but we are thinking of the Tatt's Tiara as a one-hit raid," Bary said.

"We'll just get through Saturday and let Richard make his mind up. The Tiara does look tailor-made for her - 1350m around Doomben at weight-for-age for fillies and mares on a track favouring frontrunners.

"She doesn't necessarily have to run on Saturday either. We could trial her instead, either here or get her to Brisbane early and trial her there. She's naturally fit anyway and she's got the residual fitness from her racing."

Bary allowed Miss Wilson a week in the paddock after her Te Aroha win and said she was bright and keen in her trackwork in preparation for Rotorua.

"She's really well. If it was a dead 4, I'd almost declare her - she's that well. But the track conditions will bring her back to the pack.

"I took her down to Waipukurau for a gallop last week and the track was pretty testing there and she ran [1000m in] 1:03. She had a good blow afterwards too, which was nice. She galloped really well at home on Tuesday, albeit on a better track, and she had 600m on Thursday. She's going well and that's the main thing."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Civil Disobedience (NZ) (Raise The Flag)

Kiwi in Group One hunt again

New Zealand-bred three-year-old Civil Disobedience (NZ) (Raise The Flag) has another opportunity for Group One honours when he runs in Saturday's South Australian Derby (2500m) at Morphettville.

The son of Raise the Flag crossed the Tasman earlier this year and finished a respectable seventh in the Gr.1 New Zealand Derby (2400m) at Ellerslie where he copped a wide run from an outside gate.

Trainer Darren Weir said he would change tactics with Civil Disobedience this weekend following an unplaced run in the Gr.3 Chairman's Stakes (2035m).

"He was disappointing last start, but we'll take the blinkers off him this time and ride him quieter."

Thornton into SA Derby on NZ bred

Damien Thornton will ride the Matt Ellerton and Simon Zahra-trained Into Rio (NZ) (Zacinto) in Saturday's Gr.1 South Australian Derby (2500m) at Morphettville.

Into Rio sealed his spot in the Derby with a strong track record (2:17.15) win over 2200m on the Pakenham synthetic surface on April 26.

Damian Lane was aboard Into Rio that evening, with Thornton aboard runner-up Johnny Vinko (NZ) (Savabeel), but the latter was happy to pounce on the ride with Lane required for Derby favourite Leicester (Wanted).

"It was a nice win at Pakenham that night, I rode the second horse – Johnny Vinko – and I was happy to jump ship and get on Into Rio for the Derby," Thornton said.

"Johnny ended up second emergency, so I pulled the right rein. Hopefully he can run just as well as he did that night."

Forecast bright for Megablast

The weather in Queensland is the least of Nigel Tiley's carnival worries.

The Pukekohe Park trainer has his versatile last-start Gr.2 Easter Handicap (1600m) winner Megablast (NZ) (Shinko King) in Brisbane and underfoot conditions will make little difference to the six-year-old.

Megablast (NZ) (Shinko King)

"As we know he comes into his own when it rains, but he's also very competitive on top of the ground," Tiley said.

Megablast will make his Queensland debut in the Gr.3 Chairman's Handicap (2000m) at Doomben this weekend with Michael Coleman, who was aboard in the Easter, to continue his association with the grey son of Shinko King. Full story here

Kingsguard (NZ) (Rip Van Winkle)

Avdulla eyes double on morale booster

Kingsguard (NZ) (Rip Van Winkle) has helped lift Sydney's premiership-leading jockey from an autumn carnival slump and now Brenton Avdulla is planning on more success with the gelding.

The five-year-old secured a double for Avdulla at last month's stand-alone meeting by complementing stablemate Glenall's (Redoute's Choice) win in the Listed Hawkesbury Gold Rush with victory in the Group Three Hawkesbury Cup.

The Hawkes Racing-trained Kingsguard now takes on 1600m again in today's Listed Scone Cup and Avdulla is confident of a strong showing providing he can negotiate an awkward gate.

Kingsguard, who was on the third line of betting with the TAB on Thursday at $7.50, jumps from barrier 12 in the capacity field of 16.

"That makes it a little bit trickier but he can put himself on speed," Avdulla said.

"If we can get nice and comfortable and he takes confidence from the other day I'm sure he'll run well."

Blue Breeze (NZ) (Bullbars)

Cup hope chasing major pedigree update

Emerging stayer Blue Breeze (NZ) (Bullbars) will do his family proud if he can produce another special performance on Saturday.

The four-year-old is in hot form with an emphatic last-start win at Pukekohe in his open class debut off the back of a Rating 75 success at Te Aroha.

Blue Breeze, who was bred by co-owner Tony Gavigan, will face his toughest test this weekend when he steps out in the Gr.3 Campbell Infrastructure Rotorua Cup (2200m). Full story here

4YO ready for Rotorua return

Cossastock (NZ) (Tavistock) is in good shape to resume his New Zealand career.

The son of Tavistock will step out in the Craig Thom Memorial 1215m at Rotorua on Saturday in the hands of Maija Vance.

"Maija won on him at the trials and the horse has come back well from Australia," trainer Andrew Campbell said.

He prepared the four-year-old to run second on debut at Awapuni last season before the gelding joined the Cranbourne stable of Trent Busuttin and Natalie Young.

"He won one over there, but the tracks were a bit firm for him – he needs a bit of cut in the ground," Campbell said.

Plenty to like about Longford's chances

Connections of Longford (NZ) (Cecconi) are bullish about the bargain buy's prospects at Ashburton today.

The four-year-old has prospered since moving south and he will be chasing the third win of his preparation in the Matt Smith Construction Rating 75 1600m.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Longford (NZ) (Ceconi)

"To me he should be winning, the only concern I have is that it's his seventh run this campaign but he's working well and the track will be to his liking," co-trainer Richard Didham said. Full story here

Cyber Attack (NZ) (Shamexpress)

Ocean Emperor (NZ) (Zabeel)

Ocean Emperor pleases with Taupo trial win

A hollow win over 1200m at the Taupo trials on Thursday has Ocean Emperor on target for his upcoming tilt at the rich $51.5 million Kranji Mile (1600m) on May 26.

The strapping son of Zabeel sat outside the speed throughout before edging clear in the run home for rider Shaun McKay.

The performance pleased trainer Gary Hennessy a week out from the horse boarding a plane for Singapore.

He is in amazing condition and we have two weeks to fine tune him more," he said.

A last-start winner of the Gr.2 Japan/New Zealand International Trophy (1600m), Ocean Emperor is booked to fly to Singapore on May 17 and will be accompanied by his regular work rider, apprentice Tui Miles.

Mr Conductor (NZ) (Tickets)

Mr Conductor to call the tune

A bold second-up showing is expected from Mr Conductor (Tickets) at Ashburton today.

The five-year-old recently resumed with a third placing at Marlborough and trainer Danny Crozier said the horse has trained on particularly well.

"He hadn't run for three months and that run has topped him off nicely, he'll strip a lot fitter."

Mr Conductor will again be ridden by jockeys' premiership leader Samantha Collett in The Hanley Formula Autumn Sprint Championship Qualifier (1200m).

Crozier is also expecting Damanaka (NZ) (Alamosa) to go close to breaking his maiden in the Ashburton Racing Club Life Members' 1400m.

All systems go for Cyber Attack

The well-related Cyber Attack (NZ) (Shamexpress) showed the benefit of a spell when he made the perfect return at Te Awamutu.

Put aside after two summer outings, the Shamexpress two-year-old resumed in fine style in Wednesday's Vilagrad Winery 1150m

Pop Star Princess (NZ) (Makfi)

Princess earns time off

Pop Star Princess (NZ) (Makfi) will head to the paddock at the top of her game.

The Makfi filly produced a game front-running performance at Te Awamutu on Wednesday to claim the Timmo's ITM 1150m and the second win of her five-start career.

"She'll go to the paddock now, she's still growing," trainer Fred Cornege said. "We've been very pleased with her. She's a tough filly."

A horse for a course

Roger That's (NZ) (Shinko King) affinity with Te Awamutu continued on Wednesday with a dominant performance in the Fiber Fresh 2000m at the Waipa meeting.

All four of the Shinko King five-year-old's victories have now come on the course, including a successful return from a five-month break at his previous appearance.

"Waipa's a good place at the moment," trainer Antony Fuller said. "After he won last time he coughed a bit and got a skin rash so that's why we came back rather than going straight to a Saturday race."

Zedac realising staying potential

The lightly-raced Zedac (NZ) (Zed) looks a likely prospect to make his mark in better staying company following his tidy performance to win at Woodville on Thursday.

Trained by Fraser Auret, the six-year-old has now won twice from a handful of starts and claimed the Hewitt Motorcycles 2100m after a resuming fourth at Waipukurau seven days ago.

"It was quite sticky there and took his sprint away," Auret said. "He's not the type of Zed that likes wetter tracks so I was keen to back him up here when I saw it was a Dead 5."

Hurdle programme confirmed

Trainers Mick Brown and Sue Thompson will persevere with the unpredictable Zed Leppelin (NZ) (Zed) in a jumping role.

"You can catch him once and then the next time he'll disappoint you," Brown said.

"He's had a few hurdle starts and that's where he's going next at Hastings," Brown said.

Zed Leppelin was pulled up in both of his last two jumping outings last winter.

Mr Lang Lin

Rider Horse expand Kiwi operation

Inner Mongolia Rider Horse Industry were active at New Zealand Bloodstock's May Sale, showcasing their intent to expand their breeding operation in New Zealand.

The group, led by chairman and chief executive Lang Lin, commonly known as Mr Wolf, was the leading purchaser at the Sale, buying 20 lots including 14 broodmares to support their two New Zealand-based stallions.

"Everything has gone to plan, before we only bought the horses to ship back to China to race, but now we have expanded our business in New Zealand and we race here and we want to expand our breeding here as well," Lang said. Full story here

Sir Patrick Hogan

Sir Patrick active at Karaka

The top lot in the broodmare section at New Zealand Bloodstock's May Sale was knocked down to one of the most familiar faces at the Karaka sales complex, Sir Patrick Hogan.

The famed thoroughbred breeder swapped his usual role of vendor to that of purchaser when he went to $150,000 to buy lot 468, Passion Cut (NZ), a Pins mare in-foal to Cambridge Stud stallion Tavistock.

Consigned by the farm he sold to Brendan and Jo Lindsay last month, Sir Patrick was delighted with his first purchase since selling Cambridge Stud, but said it was an odd experience. Full story here

Lot 64 - Snitzel filly

Top lot Sydney bound

Jason Abrahams of Champion Thoroughbreds went to $120,000 to secure the top lot in the yearling session of New Zealand Bloodstock's May Sale.

The daughter of Snitzel and the stakes-winning Stravinsky mare Tip The Wink (NZ) was sold out of Curraghmore's draft as lot 64 and will now head to John O'Shea's Randwick stable.

"She is quite an athletic filly, not overly big, but Snitzel himself is not overly big," Abrahams said. "There is plenty of attitude to her, she's out of a Stravinsky mare so it's on the same cross as Group One winner Russian Revolution who is going to Stud this year." Full story here

Adam Parore with Lot 381 - All By Myself

Debut purchase by former Black Cap

Former top class cricketer Adam Parore has dipped his toes into the thoroughbred industry with his first purchase at New Zealand Bloodstock's May Sale on Tuesday afternoon.

The former Black Cap wicket keeper went to $36,000 to secure lot 381, All By Myself (NZ), a Zabeel mare who is in-foal to Waikato Stud's freshman sire Tivaci.

Parore became interested in thoroughbreds through his partner Danielle Francis, whose family have been involved in breeding both standardbreds and thoroughbreds. Full story here

Lot 371 Mongolian Beauty

Sales topper heads to Australia

After purchasing the top lot on day one of New Zealand Bloodstock's May Sale, Sydney-based bloodstock agent Andrew Williams repeated the same dose on day two when bidding to $180,000 to secure the top lot of the Sale.

That title went to Mongolian Beauty (lot 371), a Fastnet Rock full-sister to Group Two winner Mongolian Falcon, who will stand at Willow Glen Stud for $3,000 + GST this coming breeding season.

Williams was happy with his purchase, highlighting the three-year-old filly was his main target heading into the Sale. Full story here

Sergeant ready for Brisbane blast

Multiple winner Sergeant Blast (NZ) (Darci Brahma) has reported for his first taste of overseas action.

The son of Darci Brahma has relocated to Brisbane for the winter with his Queensland racing programme to be left in the hands of his new trainer.

The daughter of Burgundy enjoyed a lucrative three-year-old campaign from Lisa Latta's Awapuni stable before a leg injury forced her withdrawal from the Gr.1 New Zealand Oaks (2400m).

"She's been purchased by Kia-Ora Stud in New South Wales," said bloodstock agent Paul Beamish, who brokered the deal. "She's going to be an exciting breeding prospect." Full story here

Taurus (NZ) (No Excuse Needed)

Taurus exceeds expectations

Well-performed winter galloper Taurus (NZ) (No Excuse Needed) surprised his connections with his recent bold first-up showing under 60kg when he opened his campaign at Hastings.

The 11-time winner was caught three wide throughout and fought on gallantly for fourth in his first appearance for six months.

"We were over the moon, we didn't think he was that forward – it was a great run," co-trainer JJ Rayner said.

"He'll run at New Plymouth on Saturday where he'll get a bit of weight again, but he needs one more run before the Ag Challenge."

Taurus won the Listed Ag Challenge Stakes (1600m) on his home track at Wanganui in 2016 after placing in the previous two editions and finished third last year.

Australian stud snaps up top filly

Multiple stakes-winning filly Dijon Bleu (NZ) (Burgundy) has been sold to overseas racing history.

The China Horse Club's racing and bloodstock manager played a major role in securing both the Gr.1 Kentucky Derby (2000m) winner Justify (Scat Daddy) and the third-placed Audible (Into Mischief).

A US$500,000 yearling purchase, Justify became the first horse to win the classic without racing as a two-year-old. Full story here

Collett booked on Lord O'Reilly in Guineas

Jason Collett will ride Leslie Khoo's Lord O'Reilly (NZ) (O'Reilly), subject to the approval of the Singapore Turf Club licensing committee, in the S$1 million Singapore Guineas (1600m) on May 26.

Khoo had been looking for another rider for his gun three-year-old since Ryan Curatolo, who has partnered the son of O'Reilly at all his four starts, hurt himself at the races on Friday night.

"When I found out Jason Collett was riding the Kiwi horse Ocean Emperor in the Kranji Mile, I asked if he could ride Lord O'Reilly," Khoo said.

"He just confirmed he has accepted to ride my horse. We're lucky to have got a good jockey; he is currently sixth on the Sydney table."

Enrolments sought for breeding course

The annual equine breeding winter block course will take place later this month and prospective participants are being urged to enrol in the course.

Enrolments are being called for the annual equine breeding winter block course, which will take place over three days between May 29 and May 31.

The course, which is restricted to 20 students, will cover a wide range of topics

Calder back and raring to go

Senior rider Andrew Calder is fit and raring to go as he eases back into life in the New Zealand racing environment after completing a six-year riding stint in Macau.

With wife Natasha and twin boys Jax and Tye, he recently returned to Pukekohe with Calder keen to re-establish himself amongst the elite jockey ranks after enjoying a lucrative time abroad.

Successful at Group One level on five occasions and with more than 200 winners to his credit, Calder was a sought after commodity in Macau after first venturing there during the 2011/12 racing season.
