TRAINING RECORD DOWN TO TEAM EFFORT

Leading trainer's Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman have set a new national training record of 115 wins for the season with a victory at Tauherenikau on Thursday

The foundation on which Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman's outstanding season has been built is teamwork.

The Cambridge trainers surpassed their own national training record at Tauherenikau Thursday afternoon when Electrode (NZ) (Pins) credited them with their 115th win of 2017-18.

"Obviously, it has been very satisfying and we have very good staff, owners and jockeys," Forsman said.

"Murray and myself are only part of it, we have some very capable people behind us and it's thanks to them.

"It's been a solid season and we've managed to keep the momentum going right the way through."

Forsman said the emergence of the three-year-old Vin De Dance (NZ) (Roc De Cambes) had been one of their season's highlights.

"Winning a Derby is special and we competed well in Melbourne – we've won four stakes races in Australia as well as 16 here so we've been kicking goals on both sides of the Tasman."

Their reigning New Zealand Horse of the Year Bonneval (NZ) (Makfi) led the charge at the Melbourne spring carnival with victory in the Gr.1 Underwood Stakes (1800m) at Caulfield off the back of her resuming success in the Gr.2 Dato Tan Chin Nam Stakes (1600m) at Moonee Valley.

The stable will also have a further chance to add to their away record with the in-form Karisto (Written Tycoon), who has won his last two starts at Rotorua and Te Rapa, bound for the Queensland winter carnival.

"He's booked to fly out on Friday week and, all going well, he'll have his first start two weeks later," Forsman said.

KIWI MARE CHASING FURTHER STAKES SUCCESS

Ruud Not Too has settled in well ahead of her first Australian start at Doomben this weekend

Ruud Not Too (Bernardini) has settled in well in Queensland and will be given the opportunity to add Australian black type to her record.

The Group Two-winning Bernardini mare will go to auction on May 29, but in the meantime she will have the chance to further boost her value.

The five-year-old showed she was in good shape with a smart trial win over 1000m at Deagon on Tuesday.

“She was ridden by Jim Byrne and she went really well,” trainer Stephen Marsh said.

“She was able to jump well from the inside barrier and go forward to lead. She was taken on in the running, but after travelling well, she quickened nicely in the straight to win comfortably.”

After the trial and on the advice of Byrne, Ruud Not Too has been entered in the Listed Bright Shadow Quality (1200m) at Doomben on Saturday.

“She would need to draw well so fingers crossed,” Marsh said. “She really is loving life over there.”

Ruud Not Too has won six of her

22 starts with her career highlight victory in last season’s Gr.2 Rich Hill Mile (1600m). She also has a runner-up finish in the Gr.2 Eight Carat Classic (1600m) to her credit.

At her most recent appearance, she finished seventh in the Gr.1 New Zealand Thoroughbred Breeders’ Stakes (1600m).

“We sent her over to Brisbane early to give her a couple of starts before the sale,” Go Racing’s Albert Bosma said. “She is obviously enjoying her winter escape.” – NZ Racing Desk.

SAVABEEL'S SON WRITES NEW STORY AT NORWEGIAN PARK

A Group One-performed son of champion stallion Savabeel will take Norwegian Park to a new level when he begins his stud career there later this year.

Peter and Sue Westend have developed their operation into a large-scale agistment operation, accommodating around 200 mares on their two Cambridge properties and one in nearby Ohaupo.

The couple are vastly experienced with Peter as a former manager of Chequers Farm and Sue as an employee at several thoroughbred establishments, including a lengthy stint at Windsor Park Stud.

They have had success as breeders, including this season's promising two-year-olds Thomas Aquinas (NZ) (Jakkalberry) and Xpressmymind (NZ) (Shamexpress).

"We've been working together in partnership since 1995, when we started up in Gisborne and stood the stallions Cocky Golfer and Crested Wave," Peter Westend told The Informant.

"Over the last few years we've been doing a lot of agistment, especially for Luigi Muollo (of Novara Park). We foal down all of his mares and his clients' mares. Luigi approached us about standing a stallion for him and we thought it was a really good opportunity."

What's The Story (NZ) is a son of the Carnegie mare Tall Story (NZ), who is a half-sister to the multiple Group One-winning mare Tall Poppy (NZ) (Kaaopstad).

Trained by Stephen McKee for the Go Racing Tall Story Syndicate, the $80,000 yearling won two of his 10 starts and earned more than $170,000 in prize-money.

He also finished a close second to Rangipo (Stryker) in the Gr.1 New Zealand Derby (2400m).

"He showed a huge amount of talent as a racehorse but unfortunately got hurt," Westend said. "I think the best of him was still to come on the racetrack.

"He's got a very strong pedigree, and he's a very, very nice type – a big, strong individual who looks a lot like his sire.

"He also strikes me as a lovely-natured horse. We don't have him with us on the farm yet – he's still at Novara Park, but I've been over there to see him and he's like a big puppy dog. We're really looking forward to having him here."

McKee said five-year-old had the right credentials to succeed at stud.

"What's The Story is an outstanding type, balanced, athletic, deep, rich colour, strong hindquarter, lovely sloping shoulder. He is very much in the mould of his sire Savabeel.

"He showed he was a top-class racehorse with Group One ability. His turn of foot was exceptional and up with the very best."

What's The Story will stand for an introductory fee in 2018 of $4000 plus GST.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Ferrando (NZ) (Fast 'n' Famous)

Good track vital for Kiwi sprinter

Ferrando (NZ) (Fast 'n' Famous) is capable of running the time required to be a major player in Saturday's A$1 million Gr.1 Darley Goodwood (1200m) at Morphettville if he gets the right conditions, according to co-trainer Graeme Rogerson.

"He can break 1.08, but he has to have a really dry track," the Tuhikaramea horseman said.

Ferrando finished a respectable fifth in the Gr.3 McKay Stakes (1100m) in his Australian debut a fortnight ago and hasn't missed a beat since.

"He's flying and to be fair to him the other day he hadn't raced for seven weeks and it was a soft track," Rogerson said.

Magstock (NZ) (Tavistock)

Magstock to improve on first-up record

Former Singapore galloper Magstock (NZ) (Tavistock) has had two solid trials as he tries to improve on his first-up record at Doomben.

Trainer Kelly Schweida entered Magstock for the BRC Sprint and a benchmark race on Saturday but scratched the gelding from the restricted race.

Magstock will be having his first run since December in the Gr.3 BRC Sprint (1350m).

The gelding won four races in Singapore and ran a further nine placings in 22 starts.

"One of the owners of Shogun Sun is also in Magstock and that is how I got him," Schweida said.

"He got here in January and after quarantine we sent him up to Washpool Lodge for pre-training, so he has had a while to settle in before getting to the stables."

NZ bred in to win Andrew Ramsden

Lindsay Park enters the Listed Andrew Ramsden Stakes (3200m) at Flemington on Saturday with high expectations for New Zealand-bred stayer Sin To Win (NZ) (Sir Percy).

Junior partner in the training set-up, Ben Hayes, said Sin To Win was going well following his last start where he parted company with jockey Cory Parish less than 200m after the start.

"He had the mishap last start but it doesn't seem to have affected him," Hayes said.

"It was a bit frustrating but he came out of the run around without any problems and his work since has been excellent.

"It's his first time out to 3200 metres but we've always thought he'd be a nice stayer."

Sin To Win will be ridden by Andrew Mallyon.

Chequered Flag (NZ) (Raise The Flag) holds favouritism at $7.

Dressedtokill (NZ) (Battle Paint)

Ground to suit mare's home track bid

Track conditions will play in Dressedtokill's (NZ) (Battle Paint) favour on her home turf at Riccarton today.

The capable mare is unbeaten in two appearances in heavy going and she is a strong prospect to go close to furthering that record when she runs in the Speights Mid Ale Open Handicap (1200m).

The winner of four of her 14 starts, Dressedtokill returned to form last time with a solid third behind the talented

William Wallace (NZ) (Darci Brahma) in a Rating 85 event. Full story here

It's A Wonder (NZ) (Istidaad)

Gordon looking to double up

Betting against Will Gordon posting another jumping double aboard the stablemates It's A Wonder (NZ) (Istidaad) and Justa Charlie (NZ) (Shinko King) at Te Rapa might be a risky business.

The Cambridge-based rider was successful with the Harvey Wilson-trained pair on the track a fortnight ago and they return for sterner tests on Saturday improved from their last runs.

"They are good rides and hopefully we can all do the same again," Gordon said. Full story here

Thailand overdue winning reward

Genuine five-year-old Thailand (NZ) (Tavistock) will strive for a breakthrough victory at Te Rapa on Saturday.

The Tavistock mare has finished in the money in her last seven appearances, but trainer Jim Collett acknowledged she won't find it easy to post an elusive victory in the True Colours Mid-Winter Xmas Luncheon 7 July 1600m.

"It's a strong Saturday field, but she's racing well and she has gone well at Te Rapa before. She's a chance again," he said.

Charm Spirit off the mark

Windsor Park Stud shuttle stallion Charm Spirit has sired two Northern Hemisphere winners in the space of four days.

The Mark Johnston-trained Diviner was making her second appearance when she distanced her rivals at Wolverhampton, England, over 1000m on May 14.

NEWS IN BRIEF

strongly to win at York by half a length in the five furlong contest on May 17.

"I'd be thinking of the Norfolk Stakes, Charming Kid is quite sharp and you need plenty of boot at Ascot," said trainer Richard Fahey.

Charm Spirit won six of his nine starts, including the Gr.1 Queen Elizabeth II Stakes (1600m), the Gr.1 Prix du Moulin de Longchamp (1600m) and the Gr.1 Prix Jean Prat (1600m) before his retirement.

The son of Invincible Spirit has been well-received in New Zealand since shuttling his first season to Windsor Park in Cambridge in 2015.

Success for Cup winner's sibling

A brother to the New Zealand-bred Gr.1 Melbourne Cup (3200m) winner Prince Of Penzance (NZ) (Pentire) has opened his account in Victoria.

The Henry Dwyer-trained three-year-old Heir To The Throne (NZ), a son of Pentire and Royal Successor (Mr Prospector), was successful over 1600m at Hamilton on Monday.

He was purchased by Dwyer out of the 2016 draft of Rich Hill Stud, who also bred and sold Prince Of Penzance, at Karaka for $200,000.

Time Lord (NZ) (Guillotine)

Kiwi 3YO's timing spot on

Time Lord (NZ) (Guillotine) has boosted his Group One chances in the Queensland Derby (2400m) with a successful Australian debut.

Trained at Pukekohe Park by Richard Collett, the son of Guillotine came from the back of the field to beat his older rivals over a mile at the Sunshine Coast on Wednesday under rider Michael Cahill.

Time Lord has now won two of his nine starts and booked his ticket to Brisbane when third in the Gr.2 Championship Stakes (2100m) on his home turf last month.

Wekaforce (NZ) (Showcasing)

Smart 2YO doesn't disappoint on debut

Expectations around Wekaforce (NZ) (Showcasing) at Ruakaka weren't misplaced with the filly untested to make a dream start to her career.

Trainer Tony Pike was in a bullish pre-race mood and his confidence was realised when the daughter of Showcasing led throughout to win Wednesday's Fell Engineering 2YO (1200m) with ease.

"She's always showed plenty of natural ability and she was good when winning her trial at Te Teko," the Cambridge horseman said. Full story here

Devine Love (NZ) (Dalghar)

Allpress' judgement on the money

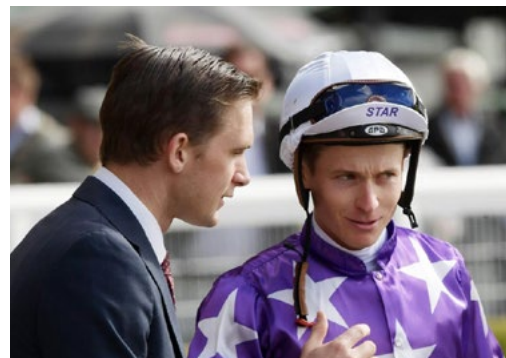

Lisa Allpress pulled the right rein when she opted to partner Devine Love (NZ) (Dalghar) at Tauherenikau for Johnno Benner and Hollie Wynyard.

The Wanganui-based jockey had a choice of rides for the Otaki trainers in Thursday's Sargents Motorcycles Maiden (1000m) and Devine Love duly beat stablemate Magico (NZ) (Per Incanto).

"She's a really nice little filly and I rode her at the jump-outs last week," Allpress said. "I thought the 1000m would suit her."

Devine Love is a daughter of Dalghar, also the sire of the stable's Gr.2 Wellington Guineas (1400m) winner Scott Base.

"She's a filly we really like," Benner said, "We don't mind these Dalghars, they're nice horses."

James McDonald

McDonald heeds advice

Champion expatriate New Zealand jockey James McDonald heeded words from the wise before he returned from a lengthy suspension on Wednesday with a winning double at Warwick Farm.

"I had a phone call from Jimmy Cassidy and he said nothing's broke so don't fix it. It was really good advice," said McDonald, whose family were also on track.

McDonald was quickly back to his winning ways aboard the Chris Waller-prepared Cormac (All Too Hard) and was later successful aboard Monasterio (NZ) (Savabeel) for the champion trainer.

NZ mare in first run for Lindsay Park

Don't expect to see a lot of Lindsay Park newcomer La Bella Diosa (NZ) (So You Think) during the upcoming winter months.

Appropriately, the New Zealand mare has her first run for Lindsay Park in the Colin Hayes Hall of Fame Trophy at Flemington on Saturday.

The late Colin Hayes founded Lindsay Park and will be named as an Australian racing legend in the Hall Of Fame on Friday night.

His grandson, junior Lindsay Park trainer Ben Hayes, said the mare, a Group One winner in New Zealand and winner of the Group Two (now Group One) Surround Stakes in Sydney last year, would be set for major races in Melbourne during the spring.

"We got her about a month ago," Hayes said.

"She had a little bit of a base on her before she came over so we gave her a trial at Werribee with Damien Oliver aboard and she went pretty well.

NEWS IN BRIEF

"She gave him the feel that she wants 1400 (metres) so that's where we're starting her off.

McCartney (NZ) (Alamosa)

Highly-regarded McCartney on the market

Well-related Ruakaka maiden winner McCartney (NZ) (Alamosa) might find herself in stakes company if she's not sold beforehand.

Trained by Team Rogerson, she is a half-sister by Alamosa to the stable's former dual Group Two winner and Gr.1 New Zealand 2000 Guineas (1600m) placegetter Serena Miss (NZ) (Iffraaj).

"McCartney has taken a little while to mature, but I think she's very good," Graeme Rogerson said. "All she's needed was a good track." Full story here

Volkstok'n'barrell (NZ) (Tavistock)

Logan ready for first major Singapore challenge

Donna Logan admits she is a wee bit nervous as she counts down to her first major challenge in Singapore with stable star Volkstok'n'barrell (NZ) (Tavistock), who will tackle all-comers in the rich Kranji Mile (1600m).

She has made a stunning start to her Singapore training stint having produced her first winner from just four runners to date, a feat which has made locals sit up and take notice of the former Ruakaka based conditioner.

Logan will up the ante over the next fortnight as multiple Group One winner Volkstok'n'barrell tackles the S$1.5m Kranji Mile on 26 May, in the process taking on the cream of the local talent along with invited runners from Hong Kong and New Zealand representative Ocean Emperor (NZ) (Zabeel). Art Deco (NZ) (Road To Rock)

Trainer setting smart mare a challenge

Allan Sharrock will follow a rare path by his standards with his outstanding winter prospect Art Deco (NZ) (Road To Rock).

The New Plymouth trainer produced the mare for a resounding first-up open handicap victory on her home track at the weekend with more serious challenges in store.

"It looks like she will run in the North Island Challenge Stakes at Trentham on Saturday week," Sharrock said. Full story here

NZ Cup hopes for Aigne

The connections of the promising stayer Aigne (NZ) (Sufficient) will be lifting their sights in the spring.

Miss Wilson (Stratum)

Mare remains on target for Group One

John Bary is mulling over his lead-up options with Miss Wilson (Stratum) ahead of her Group One goal at the Queensland winter carnival.

The Hawke's Bay trainer was forced to withdraw the mare from Saturday's Gr.3 Rotorua Stakes (1400m) due to a heavy track, but has no concerns about the impact of missing an outing.

"There's a flight on June 8 so she'll head to Brisbane for the Tatts Tiara, it will just be the one run and then she can spell over there," Bary said. Full story here

Cambridge trainer back in business

Andrew Campbell has put a trying period behind him and is looking forward to a return to the good times.

The Group One-winning trainer had to empty his stable earlier this year after a virus hit his Cambridge operation.

"I had to tip them all out and they've been coming back in dribs and drabs so hopefully it's going to turn around," Campbell said.

Kawi (NZ) (Savabeel)

Glamour Taranaki duo doing well

Star stablemates Kawi (NZ) (Savabeel) and Ladies First (NZ) (Dylan Thomas) are making good progress.

"Kawi's on the water walker at Robyn and Russell Rogers' place and he's coming along nicely," trainer Allan Sharrock said.

"Ladies First has been on the walker for 10 days and she'll do 10 more before she goes to Jaimee-Lee Lupton's place and five weeks later she'll be back with me."

Kawi was side-lined by a fetlock issue in the summer while Ladies First was spelled after her courageous victory in the Gr.1 Auckland Cup (3200m), which prompted plans for a Gr.1 Melbourne Cup (3200m) campaign later this year.

Tavistock Abbey (NZ) (Tavistock)

Kiwi-bred's Derby hopes dashed

Tavistock Abbey (NZ) (Tavistock) is out of Gr.1 Queensland Derby (2400m) contention.

The New Zealand-bred son of Tavistock disappointed at the Gold Coast last week and the Anthony Freedman-trained gelding will now undergo a wind operation.

Tavistock Abbey, who is part-owned by breeders Rich Hill Stud, has won two of his seven starts including the VRC Derby Trial (1800m) at Flemington in the spring.

Alysha Collett

Prize mount for Collett

Alysha Collett has already landed a plum ride in Singapore with her booking for the Kiwi-bred Countofmontecristo (NZ) (Echoes of Heaven) in the S$1 million Lion City Cup (1200m) later this month.

The New Zealand jockey will make her Kranji debut this evening with six mounts, including Makkem Lad (Kuroshio) for Donna Logan in the first Leg of the Singapore Golden Horseshoe series for two-year-olds, the Kranji Nursery Stakes (1000m).

Countofmontecristo's trainer Michael Clements didn't need to wait and see how Collett fared and quickly booked her services on last season's champion Singapore three-year-old.

"He's a horse I've seen on TV and I'm so rapt with the opportunity to ride him," Collett said. "I'm more than happy to take it and give it my best shot."

Chris Waller

Further honour for Waller

Expatriate New Zealand trainer Chris Waller will be inducted into the Australian Racing Hall of Fame today.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Waller has won the past seven Sydney premierships and Who Shot Thebarman's (NZ) (Yamanin Vital) win in last month's Sydney Cup gave him his 81st Group One success.

His latest honour will complete a significant trans-Tasman double as he was also inducted this year into the New Zealand Racing Hall of Fame.

"Knowing my work has basically been done in Australia and to be noticed in Australia, I think it is very, very, special and emotional," Waller said.

"Premierships or big races that you win are very, very special and mean a lot at different times of your life or career, but to be inducted into the Hall of Fame is the best."

Te Akau appointment

Experienced and respected horseman Paul Richards is to join Te Akau Racing.

"Te Akau intends to target all the major racing carnivals in Australia as well as New Zealand and Paul will assume the role of travelling foreman," principal David Ellis said.

"The calibre of bloodstock that we have in the stable for the new season is formidable and we cannot wait for the season to get underway.

Paul Richards with Natuzzi

"Paul is also very skilled in dealing with young people and, with his many successful years in the saddle, he will also be concentrating on guiding and developing our Te Akau apprentices. This too is an area where he has excelled."

Richards' son Jamie is currently training at Te Akau with Stephen Autridge, but will take sole charge at the beginning of the new season.

Bloodstock tax changes

Minister for Racing Winston Peters has announced changes to bloodstock tax rules for the New Zealand racing industry as part of Budget 2018.

"Racing is a significant industry in New Zealand and this measure will provide economic stimulus to many parts of the country," he said. "The change will encourage new investment in the breeding industry to make it more financially attractive and increase the quality of this country's racing stocks.

"The Budget allows $4.8 million over the next four years for tax deductions that can be claimed for the costs of high-quality horses acquired with the intention to breed.

"The previous rules around tax write-downs did not serve their original purpose of promoting new investment, as they favoured established breeding businesses rather than attracting new entrants.

"These changes mean that a new investor in the breeding industry will be able to claim tax deductions for the costs of a horse as if they had an existing breeding business. To qualify, the horse must be a standout yearling.

"I expect the new rules will apply to yearlings acquired from next year's premier bloodstock sales."
