QUEEN READY FOR THE PROM

Kenny Rae's pride and joy Prom Queen faces her biggest test in the Gr. 1 gavelhouse.com New Zealand 1000 Guineas at Riccarton tomorrow

Had Saturday's Gr.1 gavelhouse.com New Zealand 1000 Guineas (1600m) preceded the Gr.1 New Zealand 2000 Guineas rather than following it seven days later, Riccarton racegoers might have had two chances to enjoy glamour filly Prom Queen (NZ) (Super Easy).

Ruakaka trainer Kenny Rae has revealed that while his prime target for the daughter of Super Easy had always been the 1000 Guineas, he would have loved the opportunity to take on the boys as well.

The 1000 Guineas switched to the last day in 2009, having previously been run on the first day of New Zealand Cup week with the 2000 Guineas on the final day.

Ironically, that was the year Katie Lee (Pins) became the only horse to win both Guineas races.

"She beat Age Of Fire at Ashburton last time and he's gone on and finished second in the 2000 Guineas so that says she would have been competitive," said Rae, who trains in partnership with his wife Lisa and daughter Krystal Williams.

“The fillies race has always been her grand final and I’m mindful that I can’t do too much with her between races because she’s only little, so we couldn’t risk her. But I might have run her in both if they ran the fillies’ race then the colts.”

TAB bookmakers have Prom Queen at $1.60 to win the 1000 Guineas, with Dijon Bleu (NZ) (Burgundy) ($4.20) and Swing Note (Encosta de Lago) ($8) the only other runners below $17 in the market.

Successful in eight of her nine starts, the last six in a row, Prom Queen was a brilliant 2 1/4-length winner of the Gr.3 Barneswood Farm Stakes (1400m) last start in her first test beyond 1200m, with three-year-olds the quality of Sensei (Dream Ahead), Age Of Fire (Fastnet Rock) and Savvy Coup (NZ) (Savabeel) in her wake.

“I wouldn’t have minded too much if she had got beaten because I really rated Sensei and I thought it won’t worry me being beaten by the colts because they’re not in my grand final,” Rae said.

“But what she did was mind-boggling. It was good to see her do it like that at 1400m, but the race that I was most worried about was her first run back at Ruakaka because sometimes the best two-year-olds don’t come back as good three-year-olds.

“It’s scary. What she’s doing has been almost too good to be true.”

Rae needed not worry as Prom Queen was never out of second gear in scoring by six lengths and she has continued to power away from her rivals in two starts since.

Her progress since Ashburton has given him no cause for concern either.

“She seems fine. She’s pretty relaxed in her work. She’s hard to get a line on because she’s pretty lazy in trackwork. She’s like a kid’s pony,” Rae said.

“I wouldn’t say her trackwork is any better than it has been going into her other races, but it doesn’t have to be either.”

Rae was unsure what path Prom Queen would follow through the summer, but indicated the Gr.1 Levin Classic (1600m) at Trentham on January 15 was one possibility and ruled out a tilt at the Gr.1 Sistema Railway (1200m) at Ellerslie on January 1.

The stable also has Inanna (NZ) (Jimmy Choux) as a worthy candidate for the 1000 Guineas and will produce Kaharau (Ad Valorem) in the Gr.3 Christchurch Casino New Zealand Cup (3200m).

WHEELER CHASES THIRD NEW ZEALAND CUP WIN

John Wheeler reckons he already has a photo of Pentathlon (NZ) (Pentire) winning the New Zealand Cup on his wall at home.

Or near enough anyway.

That photo in the Hall of Fame trainer's New Plymouth home is of the 2006 New Zealand Cup, won by Pentathlon's three-quarter brother Pentathon (NZ), a chestnut Pentire gelding ridden by Noel Harris.

On Saturday, Pentathlon, also a chestnut son of Pentire, contests the Gr.3 Christchurch Casino New Zealand Cup (3200m) at Riccarton with Harris' son Troy booked to ride.

"They are clones of each other, those horses. I've got the photo of Pentathon winning at home so I won't need the photo if this horse wins on Saturday," said Wheeler, who also trained Waltermitty (NZ) (Grosvenor) to win the 2004 New Zealand Cup.

Wheeler opted for the New Zealand Cup for Pentathlon after the six-year-old failed to win the Gr.3 Lexus Quality (2500m) at Flemington a fortnight ago in a last-ditch bid to seal a place in the Gr.1 Melbourne Cup (3200m).

Pentathlon went a much-improved race for third behind Cismontane (NZ) (High Chaparral) and has returned to New Zealand rather than stay for Saturday's Listed Sandown Cup (3200m) because of the superior prizemoney.

"I didn't want to back him up in the Queen Elizabeth Stakes the week after the Lexus because that would have meant racing him Saturday-Saturday-Saturday and the Sandown Cup was only worth $150,000, $100,000 less than the New Zealand Cup, so we've brought him home," Wheeler said.

"He flew to Auckland and spent two days with Stephen McKee and then he flew to Christchurch. He's travelled brilliantly, hasn't turned a hair."

That's good news for Pentathlon supporters, especially after his travel to Melbourne didn't go so well.

"He picked up a bug on the flight to Melbourne, probably viral rather than bacterial but he had a bit of residue in his lungs," Wheeler said.

"I had him right for the Lexus, but he had missed a bit of work and it cost him the win. He peaked with 50m to go, but he was still taking ground off the winner. He had made up six lengths from the 400m to the 200m, but then only took a length of him in the last 200m."

While Pentathlon didn't contest the Melbourne Cup, Wheeler can take heart from a past result of a stayer making the trip back from Melbourne for the New Zealand Cup.

Empire Rose (NZ) (Sir Tristram) won the 1987 edition after finishing second to Kensei (NZ) (Blarney Kiss) at Flemington.

Pentathlon won on both the first and middle days of the 2015 New Zealand Cup carnival and Wheeler is confident he could finish his sweep of the three meetings on Saturday.

"He should be too good for those horses so long as he doesn't get any bad luck. It's not an ideal alley [barrier 11 of 12] but he can race anywhere."

Wheeler, who also has first-day runner-up Vencedora (NZ) (Ekraar) in action on Saturday, said Pentathlon would have a brief spell before a likely tilt at the Gr.3 Wallaceville Estate Wellington Cup (3200m) at Trentham on January 20.

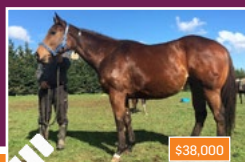

He has ruled out a Sydney Cup campaign in autumn but confirmed the 2018 Melbourne Cup was Pentathlon's long-range target.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Ronchi (Stravinsky)

Zabeel Classic goal for Ronchi

An in-form Ronchi (NZ) (Stravinsky) will be stretched out in trip to chase a Group One prize this campaign.

The capable five-year-old has won six races up to a mile, but it will be a 2000m feature that the black type performer is being readied for.

As part of that preparation, Ronchi will take in Saturday's Gr.2 Gartshore Tauranga Stakes, in which he will as usual be partnered by Grant Cooksley.

"Safely through this race he will probably head to Auckland on December 2 for an open mile, in which he ran second last year, and then we'll be looking at the Gr.1 Zabeel Classic on Boxing Day," said Allan Peard, who trains in partnership with Bruce Wallace.

Kaharau (Ad Valorem)

Trainer bullish about stayer's prospects

Co-trainer Kenny Rae is upbeat about Kaharau's (Ad Valorem) chances in Saturday's Gr.3 Christchurch Casino New Zealand Cup (3200m).

"He's a real live chance. I worked him myself this morning and he's going super," Rae said.

"Last year we were trying to catch up after he missed a run through a couple of meeting abandonments, but he's right where I want him this year and he showed that with his win at Motukarara the other day.

"Outside Pentathlon, it's not the strongest Cup field you'd ever see."

The winner of two of his last four starts, Kaharau will be ridden by Alysha Collett.

Nothing Trivial (NZ) (Elusive City)

Winning trial from Cup hope

The versatile Nothing Trivial (NZ) (Elusive City) has successfully rounded off his preparation for Saturday's Gr.3 Christchurch Casino New Zealand Cup (3200m).

The Matamata galloper won a Rating 75 event over 2000m at Riccarton on Wednesday and trainer Wayne Hillis said that was always his preferred path into the Cup.

"It was a very good performance. He won a hurdle race (over 2800m) earlier this year so I've always thought he will stay two miles."

Fanatic (NZ) (Shocking)

Fanatic ready for two-mile challenge

Past efforts of Fanatic (NZ) (Shocking) over the distance of Saturday's Listed Sandown Cup (3200m) point to another bold showing from the New Zealand-bred and owned mare.

She has competed twice at two miles, finishing fourth in the Gr.3 Wellington Cup and sixth in the Gr.1 Auckland Cup earlier this year.

"She's rock-hard fit. Her action is great and she's quite a tough sort of mare so I would have to think she would be a good chance," co-trainer Tom Dabernig said.

Fanatic, who claimed the Gr.1 New Zealand Oaks (2400m), won over 2800m at Flemington at her most recent appearance.

Sokool in Twilight Glow Stakes

Trainer Archie Alexander is optimistic of So Far Sokool's (NZ) (Showcasing) chances in Saturday's Listed Twilight Glow Stakes (1400m) at Sandown.

"She's going really well. With all this rain we're getting, it's a plus as she likes a bit of give in the track," Alexander said.

"She'll need to step up a little bit, as she has got form in weaker Listed races in New Zealand.

"But she does have form around Darren Weir's horse (Tamasa) the other day, so that gives us a bit of confidence."

Creative Genius (Master Of Design)

Further success on the cards

Creative Genius (Master Of Design) bounced back to his best last time out and trainer Steven Cole fancies the four-year-old's chances of further success at Ruakaka today.

The son of Master Of Design missed out two starts back before he relished the improved footing at Ellerslie where he put away a competitive line-up of Rating 65 milers.

"His last run was really good and we were very confident," Cole said. Full story here

Filly bidding to continue stable's form

Pacy filly One Bakerstreet (NZ) (Ego) will attempt to keep her stable's run of three-year-old success going when she makes her debut at Ruakaka today.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Trainers Bruce Wallace and Allan Peard have recently won races with Hezthwonforus (NZ) (Sufficient), who is bound for Hong Kong, and their Gr.1 Vodafone New Zealand Derby (2400m) aspirant Secret Ambition (NZ) (Jimmy Choux).

One Bakerstreet has won both of her trials and she will make her first appearance in the Croft Poles (1200m).

"She's very, very quick so it will be interesting to see how she goes," Peard said.

Son Of Maher (Al Maher) & Shadows Cast (NZ) (Per Incanto)

Victory spoils shared in Group feature
Shadows Cast (NZ) (Per Incanto) and Son Of Maher (Al Maher) shared in a racing rarity at Riccarton on Wednesday.

The pair were locked together at the finish of the Gr.2 Coupland's Bakeries Mile (1600m) and the judge was unable to split the pair with a dead-heat announced.

Shadows Cast's trainer Mark Oulaghan has enjoyed consistent success on his southern visits from Awapuni, but this result topped them all.

"I've won a few Winter Cups, but this would be the best race I've won down here," he said. Full story here

Carnival (NZ) (Showcasing)

Fun at the Riccarton fair for Carnival team

Lightly-ried speedster Carnival (NZ) (Showcasing) has earned herself a role on centre stage.

The Riccarton mare turned on a stirring sprinting show on her home track on Wednesday when she won the Gr.3 Lindauer Stewards' Stakes Handicap (1200m) to earn a crack at one of the country's premier events.

"She's going to the Telegraph and why wouldn't you?" said Kevin Hughes, who trains the short-course performer with his wife Pam. Full story here

Heni (NZ) (Towkay)

Breslin delivers on his promise

Mike Breslin's long-term plan for Heni (NZ) (Towkay) has been executed to perfection by his Riccarton specialist.

The Awapuni trainer produced the mare to place in the Gr.3 Valachi Downs Canterbury Breeders' Stakes (1400m) 12 months ago and he vowed then he would return to the South Island's premier track to claim the feature.

Breslin was true to his word on Wednesday when Heni gave rider Rosie Myers an easy time on their way to a dominant victory.

Bigger prizes beckon smart filly

North Island targets are on the programme for the exciting Michael and Matthew Pitman-trained three-year-old Savvy Coup (NZ) (Savabeel).

The daughter of Savabeel was a runaway winner at Riccarton last Saturday and she stepped up in grade to post another effortless win in Wednesday's New Zealand Bloodstock Ready to Run Sale Premier (1400m).

"She's a really good filly and we'll be plotting a path to the Oaks and she is eligible for the Karaka Million 3YO Classic as well," Michael Pitman said.

Weatherley gets his ton

Sam Weatherley brought up his century of career wins on Wednesday aboard the former North Island galloper Kolonel Kev (NZ) (Darci Brahma) at Riccarton.

The champion apprentice claimed the Bidfood Butchery Premier (1400m) on Kolonel Kev, who was having his first start for local trainer Terri Rae after transferring from Lisa Latta's Awapuni stable.

Kolonel Kev (NZ) (Darci Brahma)

"I'm rapt, the horse gave me a great ride. He really brought his A-game," Weatherley said. "It was a big goal to get 100 wins and I just want to keep riding more winners."

Secret Ambition (NZ) (Jimmy Choux)

Derby goal for Te Aroha winner

A colt bought with a classic mission in mind hasn't taken long to break his maiden.

The Jimmy Choux three-year-old Secret Ambition (NZ) produced a sustained finish to win the Te Aroha Liquor Centre 1600m on Tuesday at his third start following a resuming fifth at Avondale.

"His last run was solid, he hit the line well and he'd improved since," said Allan Peard, who trains in partnership with Bruce Wallace.

"He was purchased for the Derby and that's our main aim. We'll get him home and make a plan now."

Filly bounces back to open account

Gris Dame (NZ) (Reliable Man) put a disappointing debut performance behind her when she ran up to her pedigree at Te Aroha on Tuesday to fuel ambitions for a loftier target.

The Reliable Man filly, a half-sister to the dual Group One winner MacO'Reilly (NZ) (O'Reilly), turned her form around to win the Te Aroha Stallion Placement Scheme 1400m after an inglorious first-up effort.

"We were a bit deflated after Tauranga when nothing went right," co-trainer Jamie Richards said.

"We thought she was an Oaks filly so hopefully she'll keep going the right way."

Motivation (NZ) (Mastercraftsman) completed a running double for the stable when he won the following event, the Continuous Stainless Steel 1400m. He made a winning debut off the back of a trial success at Te Awamutu last month.

Embellish (NZ) (Savabeel)

Savabeel soaring to new heights

New Zealand's champion sire Savabeel has continued to scale new heights as a sire in recent weeks, with his progeny extending his number of individual Group One winners to fourteen.

Shillelagh (NZ) kicked things off strongly for the Waikato Stud stallion on the opening day of the Melbourne Cup Carnival, winning the Gr.1 Kennedy Mile (1600m) for owners and breeders Christopher and Susanna Grace.

A week later regally-bred colt Embellish (NZ) improved his sire's statistics further by taking out the Gr.1 New Zealand 2000 Guineas (1600m) at Riccarton. Full story here

Smart trial from star filly

Group One winner Melody Belle (NZ) (Commands) took a step toward her race day return with a trial victory at Avondale on Thursday.

She travelled comfortably in second spot under rider Michael McNab before coasting to the front 300m from home to win her 1000m open heat untested.

"She did everything perfectly, won nicely and pulled up fine," said Stephen Autridge, who trains with Jamie Richards.

"We're very happy with where we've got her. She's bigger and stronger and ready to kick off in the open 1200m on December 9 at Ellerslie, which will get her ready for the major sprint races." Full story here

Summer Passage (Snitzel)

Passage to Hong Kong confirmed

Group One winner Summer Passage (Snitzel) won't be returning to New Zealand, but he will be staying in the family.

The Hong Kong-based Paul O'Sullivan is to guide the future career of the colt, who has been trained by his brother Lance and his Matamata training partner Andrew Scott.

"The owner has a permit to race there that he has to fill by December 22 so he's going up to Paul," O'Sullivan said. Full story here

Hong Kong snaps up hot prospect

Smart three-year-old As You Will (NZ) (Mastercraftsman) is to continue his fledgling career overseas.

The handsome grey three-year-old placed in two of his five appearances for trans-Tasman trainers Michael Moroney and Pam Gerard with his last-start second in the Gr.2 James & Annie Sarten Memorial (1400m) prompting a successful offshore bid.

"He's a stunning looking horse and he's been sold to Hong Kong," Gerard said. Full story here

Joe Waldron

Lessons learned have Waldron off to flying start

Joe Waldron gained his thoroughbred grounding from the very best in the business and he's now putting that experience to his own benefit.

The 25-year-old has established a training and pre-training operation at Te Awamutu and recently saddled his first winner when Princess Dillon (Dylan Thomas) was successful at New Plymouth.

"It was a huge thrill and hopefully I don't have to wait too long for another one," he said. Full story here
