CATALOGUE ONLINE: NZB'S READY TO RUN SALE OF 2YOS

Horses by the likes of New Zealand sires such as Savabeel, Iffraaj, Darci Brahma, Tavistock, Per Incanto, Alamosa and Pins. As well as Australian sires such as Snitzel, Fastnet Rock, Not a Single Doubt, Sebring, Written Tycoon, Pierro and So You Think.

26 Karaka Million Series eligible horses, five fillies nominated for the Pearl Series, 110 BOBS eligible horses, 22 Super VOBIS nominated horses, 2 QTIS registered horses, 2 VOBIS Gold nominated horses and one horse eligible for the VOBIS Sires.

Added benefits feature the eligibility to compete for seven bonus schemes including the $1M Karaka Million 2YO and the $1M Karaka Million 3YO Classic.

Time and again the Sale is bolstered by its graduate success and last season alone 26 individual stakes winners claimed 29 stakes races throughout New Zealand, Australia, Hong Kong, Singapore and Macau.

Vin de Dance (NZ) (Roc de Cambes) was the headline act with his winning performance in the Group One New Zealand Derby, scoring a repeated win in the title by Ready to Run graduates after Gingernuts (NZ) (Iffraaj) succeeded in 2017 and Mongolian Khan (Holy Roman Emperor) in 2015.

Mongolian Khan also won the Group One Australian Derby while Well Done (NZ) (Falkirk) had a late surge to win the Singapore Derby. These accolades bolstered the staying reputation of the Sale's graduates with five Derby wins in the last three seasons.

The new wave of talent available in the 2018 catalogue is from an extensive list of stakes-performing families. Siblings to 57 stakes winners such as Group One winners Brambles, Shillelagh, Faint Perfume, Dukedom, Sofia Rosa, Volkstok'n'barrell, More Than Sacred, Costume and Mac O'Reilly, plus the progeny of 34 stakes winners such as Group One-winning broodmares Eileen Dubh, Lotteria and Pernod.

As well as a close relative to the highest rated racehorse in the world, Winx.

Every horse entered in NZB's Ready to Run Sale has the opportunity to Breeze Up with the last 200m of their work filmed and timed. Breeze-Ups are set to be conducted at Te Rapa Racecourse on 15 & 16 October.

SHARROCK PAIR READY FOR WANGANUI BATTLE

New Plymouth trainer Allan Sharrock is plumping for race favourite London Express (NZ) (Shamexpress) in Saturday's Listed The O'Learys Fillies Stakes (1200m) at Wanganui - but only just.

TAB bookmakers have installed the Shamexpress filly as a $4 favourite in the three-year-old fillies feature ahead of Secret Allure (NZ) (Zacinto) and Peaceful (NZ) (Savabeel) at $4.20 and the favourite's stablemate Tutta La Classe (NZ) (Per Incanto) at $8.

"Tutta La Classe is fractionally a better physical specimen but the other filly has more runs on the board," Sharrock said.

"I'd be reluctant to split them but the filly with the white blaze (London Express) has the better record. But I expect them to both be in the dogfight."

It's an enviable position Sharrock finds himself in with two genuine winning chances, with London Express defeating Tutta La Classe at their only meeting when they ran the quinella in a Pearl Series Race (1200m) at New Plymouth in May.

London Express went on to win the Listed Castletown Stakes (1200m) at Wanganui in June, beating Sweet Allure into third, before taking a break ahead of the O'Learys Stakes.

"She's just a real competitor," Sharrock said.

"This is an ideal race for her, being a Listed race. There's not a lot of her but she does everything we've asked her to do, even with her trial last Tuesday against the open horses."

London Express won that trial, beating four-win older mare Flamingo (NZ) (Pins) by two lengths, and was a four-length jumpout winner a week beforehand.

"She's going to get conditions to suit on Saturday and while she's drawn out (barrier 12), it might be the right draw the way the track is. She's going very well. We couldn't be happier with her."

Sharrock is optimistic London Express can develop into a spring contender, suggesting 1600m on a good track wouldn't be out of her range, basing that on two dead track placings in the autumn.

Like London Express, Tutta La Classe has yet to miss a placing and was giving London Express a 4kg advantage when beaten a long head.

She went on to win at Trentham before twice chasing Atenartin (NZ) (Showcasing) at Awapuni, the most recent of those in the Listed Ryder Stakes (1200m).

"She's going just as well as the other filly and really it looks a winnable race for me if things go right," Sharrock said.

The stable's other runner on Saturday is the talented mare Art Deco (NZ) (Road To Rock) in the Coro Angel Syndicate 1200, though Sharrock suggested she would be better placed in the Gr.3 Boehringer Ingelheim 1550 at Awapuni seven days later.

"This will have her dead right for the Metric Mile but I'd think she's still a top-three chance," Sharrock said.

BONNEVAL SET FOR DATO

Dual New Zealand Horse of the Year Bonneval is ready to kick her spring campaign off at Moonee Valley this weekend

Dual New Zealand Horse of the Year Bonneval (NZ) (Makfi) has arrived safely in Melbourne and is set to kick-off her spring campaign in the Gr.2 Dato Tan Chin Nam Stakes (1600m) at Moonee Valley on Saturday.

It will be the Makfi mare's first start since last year's Melbourne spring carnival, where she was victorious in the Dato first-up before going on to win the Gr.1 Underwood Stakes (1600m) at Caulfield.

She was ruled out of the autumn because of a suspensory ligament strain and co-trainer Andrew Forsman said he is looking forward to Bonneval's return on Saturday.

"She travelled over Sunday morning and settled in well," he said.

"She's stronger, as you would expect as a five-year-old mare now. Physically and the way she's working, we couldn't be happier with her.

"She's just had the one trial and ideally we would have given her two, but it's basically been a very similar preparation to last year.

"The only difference is she's not coming off an autumn campaign and she is an older horse so that's probably the niggling doubt that maybe she's not quite as forward, but she's certainly had plenty of work.

"Looking at her and looking at her work, she's pretty well spot-on to where she was last year.

"She might be half a run short but I'm fairly confident that she won't be far away."

DISTANCE A QUERY FOR PERRY MASON

Leading jumps trainer Paul Nelson will have strong chances in each of the two feature jumps races at Te Aroha on Sunday, but he still holds some reservations ahead of the event.

Nine-year-old Zed gelding Perry Mason (NZ) has been in fine form for Nelson over winter and will head into the Irvines Great Northern Steeplechase (6300m) as a $3.50 favourite with TAB bookmakers.

He has won four times over the fences this term, including a last-start victory in the Pakuranga Hunt Cup (4200m) at Te Aroha and Nelson is happy with his charge heading into Sunday.

"I am very pleased with the way he has been going," Nelson said.

"In his last start in the Pakuranga Hunt Cup he did everything that was asked of him. He has been good since, he was pretty keen this morning."

Despite his run of form, Nelson said Perry Mason is untested at the extreme distance, so he is going into Sunday's race with reserved expectations.

"For what he's done we are very happy with him, but it's a new race," he said. "It's a third longer than it was the other day and the track sounds like it might be even worse than it was the other day, so it's a big ask."

Meanwhile, earlier in the card Nelson will line-up Second Innings (NZ) (Yamanin Vital) in the Schweppes Great Northern Hurdle (4200m).

The Yamanin Vital ten-year-old has been a work in progress for Nelson, who has taken his time with the gelding after coming back from an injury-enforced layoff.

That patience is starting to be rewarded, with Second Innings coming into form with a placing in last month's Grand National Hurdles (4200m) at Riccarton.

"In his earlier runs he probably hasn't been fully fit," Nelson said.

"He virtually only had one race last winter and broke down. So he was out for a fairly long time and it has taken a while to get him fit.

"He was well beaten last-start by the winner (Jackfrost in the Grand National Hurdles), but again it's going to be a different track for him and we'll see what happens.

"The track will suit him better than the tracks he has struck so far."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Night's Watch (NZ) (Redwood)

Group debutant favourite for Dato

Redwood gelding Night's Watch (NZ) will step up to Group company for the first time on Saturday in the Gr.2 Dato Tan Chin Nam Stakes (1600m) at Moonee Valley and bookmakers have labelled him as an early favourite for the race.

The Darren Weir-trained runner has been set as a $3.50 favourite with TAB bookmakers after his eye-catching win in the Jockey Celebration Day Handicap (1400m) at Caulfield last Saturday.

If victorious in the Dato, Night's Watch would secure a ballot exemption for several spring features, including the Gr.1 Caulfield Cup (2400m), Weir's main target this spring for the five-year-old.

Night's Watch will have to overcome a quality field, which includes dual New Zealand Horse of the Year Bonneval (NZ) (Makfi) who won last year's running of the race.

Shillelagh (NZ) (Savabeel)

Theo Marks first-up for Shillelagh

Group One winner Shillelagh (NZ) (Savabeel) will begin her spring campaign at Rosehill on Saturday when she lines-up in the Gr.2 Theo Marks Stakes (1300m).

The seven-year-old mare was runner-up in the Gr.1 Tattersall's Club Tiara (1350m) in her last-start run at Doomben in June and her trainer Chris Waller is hoping to step her up in distance this spring.

"She had a Group One placing up in Queensland," he said. "She's spelled well and has come back in really good shape. We are getting really good comments consistently from her riders.

"Just be careful of the track, obviously she is better on a good track than a soft track, but she's in for a good preparation.

"I would love to stretch her out to beyond a mile this time, for the first time. I would love to get her up to 2000m, being a daughter of Savabeel."

Odeon (NZ) (Zacinto)

Odeon's time to shine

Stakes-winning gelding Odeon (NZ) (Zacinto) has shown his trainers Matthew Ellerton and Simon Zahra plenty of ability at home and they are hoping he can turn that into a winning performance in the Gr.2 Dato Tan Chin Nam Stakes (1600m) at Moonee Valley on Saturday.

The Zacinto five-year-old has had two runs back this preparation for two minor placings and his trainers are happy with him going into Saturday.

"We're rapt with the way he is going," Zahra said.

"The other day was a pretty funny run race (Harolds Handicap 1519m). I think they ran their first 1000m in 56 and he ran his first furlong in 10.5, so they were going at breakneck speed and I thought he acquitted himself very well. He's come through that run in good order."

Although happy with his progress, his trainers are hoping their charge can finally break through at weight-for-age level, but his main spring target remains the Gr.1 Caulfield Cup (2400m).

"We've been a little bit frustrated," Zahra said. "He has been going really well on the track and his jump outs have been good. It's probably time for him to stand-up a bit at weight-for-age. At this stage he might just be a handicapper, but we're going to get a good guide (on Saturday).

"If he happens to win this then he is in the Caulfield Cup and we can just poke along with him."

Elfee (NZ) (Iffraaj)

Pitman holds strong hand at Riccarton

Iffraaj mare Elfee (NZ) is heading into Saturday's Christchurch Casino Open Handicap (1600m) at Riccarton in good form, having run in the money on all but one occasion this preparation.

Her trainer Michael Pitman, who prepares the seven-year-old mare with son Matthew, said punters can discount that run in the Gr.3 Winter Cup (1600m) two starts back where she finished tenth, and believes his mare is a solid chance in Saturday's feature.

"In the Winter Cup, the track bias fully favoured those horses racing on the speed," Pitman said. "She went a really good race in the Winter Cup considering and she closed quite well in the last 100m. Full story here

Staying future for English Gambler

Promising four-year-old English Gambler (Casino Prince) has pleased trainer Lauren Brennan in his four career starts to date and she believes he has the potential to reach cups class in New Zealand.

The gelding has yet to finish outside the top two and broke through for his maiden victory over a mile at Tauranga last month. He is unbeaten at the distance and will attempt to keep that record intact when he lines-up in the Auckland Co-op Taxis 1600 at Te Aroha on Sunday.

NEWS IN BRIEF

English Gambler (Casino Prince)

English Gambler dropped back in distance for his last-start runner-up performance in the $101,000 Platinum Homes Taranaki Challenge (1400m) at New Plymouth and Brennan thinks he will appreciate the step back up to a mile. Full story here

Gallante (Montjeu)

Mitchell adds to international flavour of Northern

Champion jumps jockey Michael Mitchell has answered an SOS call from the other side of the world to take the ride on Gallante (Montjeu) in Sunday's Schweppes Great Northern Hurdle (4150m) at Te Aroha. Mitchell, 27, hasn't ridden in New Zealand for nearly two years, instead plying his trade around the globe, and the presence of the Englishman, who will fly in from the United States to ride a French and Australian Group One-winning flat galloper in the jumps feature, adds a real international flavour to the race.

Only last month, Mitchell guided Show Court (Vinnie Roe) to success in the G1 AP Smithwick Memorial (3300m) at Saratoga in the US, his second straight win in the race after securing his first American Grade One win on Swansea Mile (Dylan Thomas) 12 months earlier. Full story here

Humidor (NZ) (Teofilo)

Cox Plate rematch ahead for Humidor

Talented galloper Humidor (NZ) (Teofilo) secured his third Group One victory in last Saturday's New Zealand Bloodstock Memsie Stakes (1400m) and the Teofilo gelding will now be set on a path towards the Gr.1 Cox Plate (2040m) next month, where he will attempt to spoil Winx's (Street Cry) party.

The Darren Weir-trained six-year-old provided the record-setting mare with one of her sternest tests when a narrow second in last year's Cox Plate and his winning performance on Saturday indicates that he is back in career-best form.

Part-owner John Carter was pleased with his first-up unplaced performance in the Gr.2 P.B. Lawrence Stakes (1400m) but said Saturday's win was a bit unexpected. Full story here

Jon Snow (NZ) (Iffraaj)

Makybe Diva next target for Jon Snow

Cambridge trainers Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman will bolster their Melbourne spring carnival arsenal later this week with the addition of Group One winner Jon Snow (NZ) (Iffraaj).

The six-year-old son of Iffraaj impressed his connections after his fourth-placing behind Melody Belle (NZ) (Commands) in the Gr.1 Tarzino Trophy (1400m) at Hastings on Saturday, his first run back since his unplaced effort in last year's Gr.1 Caulfield Cup (2400m).

He will now travel across the Tasman to join stablemates Bonneval (NZ) (Makfi) and Rubira (Lope de Vega) as he prepares for his Melbourne spring carnival assignments, which will likely kick-off in the Gr.1 Makybe Diva Stakes (1600m) on September 15. Full story here

Age Of Fire (Fastnet Rock)

Age Of Fire joins Weir

Group One winning galloper Age Of Fire (Fastnet Rock) has joined the stable of champion Victorian trainer Darren Weir in a bid to find his mojo this spring.

The four-year-old entire by Fastnet Rock won last season's Gr.1 Levin Classic (1600m) for Te Akau Racing but has looked lethargic in two trials this preparation.

"We sent him to Darren Weir to try and put a bit of enthusiasm back into him," Te Akau principal David Ellis said. Full story here

NEWS IN BRIEF

Harcourts Whangarei (1200m) and more black-type could be in-store for the Per Incanto gelding when he heads to Hastings next month.

The Lauren Brennan-trained six-year-old was brave when winning by a head over Rikki Tikki Tavi (NZ) (Tavistock) on Saturday and will now be set for a tilt at the Gr.3 Red Badge Spring Sprint (1400m) on the final day of the Hawke's Bay spring carnival.

"I thought his run on Saturday was quite impressive first-up," Brennan said.

"I thought he needed the run and was still a bit fat, but he certainly tried very hard and fought to the line, so he's still got that fight in him.

"He's pulled up really well since Saturday. He's happy and sound and he's eating up, I couldn't be happier.

"We'll probably head to the Red Badge 1400m with him on Livamol Classic day. We'll see how things go before then, whether we have a jump out in-between I am not sure."

Savvy Coup (NZ) (Savabeel)

Cox Plate potential for Savvy Coup

Riccarton conditioner Michael Pitman, who trains in partnership with his son Matthew, was over the moon with Savvy Coup's (NZ) (Savabeel) fifth-placing in the Gr.1 Tarzino Trophy (1400m) behind Melody Belle (NZ) (Commands) at Hastings on Saturday and is eyeing a crack at the Gr.1 Cox Plate (2040m) next month with his mare if everything goes to plan.

"I was absolutely rapt with the horse's run," Pitman said. "There is no way anyone would think that a horse that has come off two 2400m races would have run fifth in a weight-for-age 1400m event with no trials under her belt."

Pitman travelled back to Christchurch with Savvy Coup on Sunday and will return to Hastings for the Gr.1 Windsor Park Plate (1600m) later this month and will then remain in the North Island with the Group One winner until the Gr.1 Livamol Classic (2040m).

"We're going back up for the mile and then we will either stay in Hawke's Bay or possibly Trentham, because we have had good success using Trentham as a base before when we have gone up north," Pitman said.

"We just have to think about what we are going to do, but we're definitely staying up there between runs. I really think the 2040m race is her race and I've said that all the way through, and if she wins that we're going to the Cox Plate."

Gingernuts (NZ) (Iffraaj)

Cult-Hero Gingernuts Retired

Three-time Group One winner and equine cult-hero Gingernuts (NZ) (Iffraaj) has been officially retired.

The chestnut son of Iffraaj captured the imagination of the racing public, thanks to his catchy name, his enthusiastic ownership group and his heroics on the track.

Trained by Stephen Autridge and Jamie Richards for Te Akau Racing, Gingernuts suffered a fractured pastern on the way to the barriers for the Gr.1 Emirates Stakes (2000m) at Flemington in November. Full story here

Bambry welcomes retired stable favourite home

Anyone who knows Chrissy Bambry knows she is passionate about her horses.

The effervescent 31-year-old horse-woman from Manawatu is the daughter of Foxton trainer Tony Bambry, and she has devoted her life to the animal she loves.

This week Bambry, who works alongside her father training a small team of horses and preparing horses for sale, has welcomed back stable-favourite Lord Turbo (NZ)

Chrissy Bambry & Lord Turbo

(Perfectly Ready) from Hong Kong, with the now eight-year-old set to retire to Bambry's property. Full story here

Mihaul (NZ) (Iffraaj)

Mihaul euthanised

Talented galloper Mihaul (NZ) (Iffraaj) was euthanised on Monday after sustaining multiple knee fractures on Saturday.

The Moira and Kieran Murdoch-trained five-year-old went amiss over the concluding stages of the Hastings - Heart Of Hawke's Bay (1200m) won by Te Akau Shark (NZ) (Rip Van Winkle), and despite efforts to repair the fractures in his left foreleg the gelding could not be saved.

The hitherto unbeaten galloper won his first five starts, the first two for New Plymouth trainer Allan Sharrock.

The Kathy Stanley-owned gelding later joined the Murdoch stable after more than 18 months on the sidelines and looked to be fulfilling his potential with three comfortable victories earlier this year.

"His knee fracture was extensive and would have been very difficult to repair enough for him to have a good quality life," Moira Murdoch said.

NEWS IN BRIEF

"He is very sadly missed by all who knew him and will be buried at Woburn Farm where he will be always honoured as a super racehorse who loved his racing.

"He was a very good horse and would have been up to the best at 1400m. Sadly he never got that chance, so we will never know, but he had everything – power, speed and temperament – and he loved to run."

Weather to determine Glitra back-up plans

Brisbane's unsettled weather will decide if in-form gelding Glitra (NZ) (Stravinsky) backs up at Doomben a week after his third at the Sunshine Coast.

Glitra is set to have the first middle-distance start of his campaign in Saturday's Madison Cleaning Services Handicap (2000m)

Peter Hulbert, who trains Glitra in partnership with his son Will, said the gelding had come through his last-start third well.

"It was a very good run as we were just edged out of second by a nose by a very good horse in Order Again," Hulbert said.

"The winner (Prioritise) had the sit on us and it was probably a case of our bloke having his first run for three weeks.

"The 2000 metres is no worry as he was not disgraced the twice he has been over it in the Northern Rivers and he is going better now.

"The only real worry is a very rain-affected track so we will wait until Saturday morning and make a decision then."

Right place at the right time for Somervell

Sometimes in life things simply fall into place and that's the case with trainer Lee

Lee Somervell

Somervell's decision to move to Hastings.

Somervell takes up the lease of Carlton Lodge, a ten-acre property owned by former trainer Dianne Sergeant, on October 1.

"When I made the decision to move I actually looked at some places in the Waikato but nothing suited my needs. I'm not a big stable so it wasn't like I could lease a big stable block.

"So, when I heard that Dianne was looking for someone to lease her property I jumped at the chance.

"It's a lovely setup that is very similar to my setup here and it's just the way I like to train. I like my horses to be in the paddock during the day and come into the stables at night."

Somervell, who is originally from Matamata, will take all 12 of the horses currently in his care and two key staff members to Hawke's Bay, one who first worked for him when he first started training in Leamington in 1984.

"It's the tapestry of life if you like," he said. "Katie Donald, now Bussey, was apprenticed to me when I first started training in Leamington in the mid 80s.

"Katie was a very successful apprentice and rode many winners in those days. She and her husband Dale have subsequently been in Hong Kong and they've got a grown-up family now.

"It's come full circle and she's my head girl now and she does a fantastic job. She and Dale will be coming down and heading up my team."

Obituary Des Fleming

Former NZTBA Councillor and respected breeder Desmond Patrick Fleming aged 77 passed away at his home in Opunake this week.

A good farmer, and a great family man who loved his horses, was how he was described by family friend Ron Bassett.

"I can't say a bad word about him," said Bassett.

"Our families were great friends from our farming days in Taranaki, right through from when the kids were in pony club. He loved his horses and loved being involved in the thoroughbred industry, he was up in Cambridge for the stallion parade a few weeks ago, and still loved going out to his farm.

"He was a quiet sort, but always took on board everything everyone was saying."

Fleming aged 77, and his wife Kay shared a passion for racing and breeding dating back over 35 years.

In recent years he and Kay enjoyed success with the top Savabeel mare Savaria (NZ), the winner of the Gr.1 New Zealand Oaks, and the Gr.2 Wellington Cup. In January last year, they reached the milestone of having 100 winners and their distinctive yellow and black colours have become a familiar sight around central districts racecourses.
