DELAYED FLIGHT NO DRAMA FOR DERBY CONTENDER

What's The Story is ready to perform at peak in tomorrow's Gr. 1 Australian Derby despite some minor travel hitches

Stephen McKee is quietly confident Gr.1 New Zealand Derby runner-up What's The Story (NZ) (Savabeel) will run a bold race when he tackles the $A2 million Gr.1 Australian Derby (2400m) at Randwick on Saturday.

What's The Story will be McKee's first runner in Sydney since 10-time Group One winner Mufhasa ran second in the Gr.1 George Ryder Stakes at Rosehill in April 2013, though the Auckland trainer is certainly no stranger to Doncaster Day, having produced champion mare Sunline to win the 1600m feature race in 1999 and 2002 when working in partnership with his father Trevor.

Oddly, McKee was in Sydney when he spoke to NZ Racing Desk on Thursday about What's The Story's prospects for the Derby, though his horse wasn't. The plane booked to ferry What's The Story, fellow Derby hopeful Tavago (NZ) (Tavistock), Doncaster contender Volkstok'n'barrell (NZ) (Tavistock) and PJ Bell Stakes candidate No More Tears (NZ) (Darci Brahma) to Sydney was grounded and another plane was being flown to Auckland from the United States in order to fly the trio to Sydney on Thursday night.

McKee was philosophical about the setback, saying What's The Story was in peak fitness ahead of the Derby and the travel delay only meant he wouldn't get the familiarisation gallop at Randwick he hoped for before Saturday.

"I might try and see if I can give him a trot on the inside track at Randwick on Saturday morning. He doesn't race until 3pm," McKee said.

"He doesn't need any more work anyway so that hasn't been a problem."

McKee gave What's The Story a quiet week after the New Zealand Derby and has been thrilled with the Savabeel colt's progress since.

"He freshened up nicely and he's worked really well, really strong," McKee said.

"They are still calling the track here a heavy eight and we'd prefer it to come back a lot more. It is drying out and they are predicting it will be 28 degrees here on Saturday so that will help. As long as he can get his feet in the ground, he'll be pretty competitive. The 2400m around Randwick should really suit him."

An $80,000 Karaka Premier Yearling Sale purchase by Albert Bosma's Go Racing, What's The Story is out of the Carnegie mare Tall Story who has already left Adelaide Cup placegetter Base (NZ) (Zabeel).

New Zealand breders have won six of the past ten Australian Derby's and Tavistock's son Tarzino is heavily favoured to add to that record.

TOP COLT AT HIS BEST FOR AWAPUNI TEST

Unbeaten youngster Heroic Valour (Fastnet Rock) hasn't missed a beat since his last outing and he will relish a step up in trip at Awapuni on Saturday.

The 1400 metres of the Gr.1 Courtesy Ford Manawatu Sires' Produce Stakes will be more to his liking and another victory will guarantee him champion juvenile honours for the season.

Heroic Valour was a debut winner at Trentham before he claimed the Listed Reid & Harrison Slipper and last time out he was too good in the Gr.1 Diamond Stakes at Ellerslie where he jumped from a wide gate to get close to the pace.

"He's up in trip this time and he's drawn well in gate two. That should enable him to find a position just in behind the speed," said Jamie Richards, who trains the son of Fastnet Rock with Stephen Autridge.

While Heroic Valour was a dominant winner last time, his connections didn't rush into confirming his presence at Awapuni.

"He came through his last run pretty well, but we took our time to make a decision about another run," Richards said.

"He's a very valuable colt whose work leading into this has been spot on.

"Dan Miller rode him on Tuesday morning and once he let the reins slide a fraction the horse was off and gone with his ears flat back – he's a real racehorse who wants to get on with the business."

Jonathan Riddell has retained the ride on Heroic Valour while Matt Cameron will again be on stablemate Sassy 'N' Smart (Smart Missile) following their sixth placing in the Diamond Stakes.

"She ended up a bit further back than we wanted, but she's done everything 100 percent right since and her work with Heroic Valour on Tuesday morning was excellent," Richards said.

Heroic Valour will attempt to cement his claim as this season's leading two-year-old at Awapuni on Saturday

NEWS IN BRIEF

Mongolian Khan (Holy Roman Emperor)

Vespa (NZ) (Elusive City)

Famous Seamus (NZ) (Elusive City)

Group 1 Queen Elizabeth field takes shape

The United States (Galileo) will run, a Japanese raider won't and one of New Zealand's finest horses is still a chance to start in the Queen Elizabeth Stakes.

Tosen Stardom (Deep Impact) will head back to Japan after stewards determined he had suffered a bleeding attack following track work at Canterbury on Tuesday.

Former Irish galloper The United States will be a late entry into the field after a win in the Group One Ranvet Stakes convinced connections to push on to the Queen Elizabeth at Randwick on Saturday week.

Meanwhile, Caulfield Cup winner Mongolian Khan (Holy Roman Emperor) remains a chance to run in the A$4 million race, with trainer Murray Baker set to arrive in Sydney to make a decision in the coming days.

Outstanding mare Winx (Street Cry), the $1.60 favourite for the Queen Elizabeth, will need to show trainer Chris Waller a strong recovery after Saturday's Doncaster Mile to confirm a start.

Her stablemate Preferment (NZ) (Zabeel) is also targeting the race after victory in the BMW at his last start.

Criterion (NZ) (Sebring) will have the chance to defend his Queen Elizabeth crown at his final start before he goes to stud.

Star jockey Damien Oliver will reunite with Lucia Valentina (NZ) (Savabeel) for their first pairing since the mare finished fifth in the Hong Kong Cup in December.

Stallion career beckons for Vespa

A health issue that nearly claimed the life of the Group One winner Vespa (NZ) (Elusive City) last spring has brought a premature end to his racing career.

The Chris Rutten and John Norwood-owned son of Elusive City made an unlikely return to racing this year, but when it became apparent he was not operating to his own high standards the decision was made to call time.

"He had an abscess in his lung that was about half the size of a football – he is lucky to be alive," Rutten said.

"He came back but when we knew he was running on six cylinders instead of eight it was time to retire him. In his last couple of races it was clear he wasn't himself.

"He gave us a lot of fun and now we have to look after him and do what's best so he will be retired."

A stud deal for Vespa has yet to be confirmed, but Rutten and Norwood will both retain an interest in the stallion. Full story here.

NZB confirms flights for Queensland Winter Carnival

For trainers looking to take their horses to Australia to compete in the 2016 Queensland Winter Racing Carnival, NZB Airfreight has confirmed three flights leaving Auckland from early May and are taking bookings now.

Spaces for the three flights from Auckland to Brisbane on Sunday 1, 15 & 22 May are expected to be in demand. Those wishing to take their horses across the Tasman to target Australian spoils are encouraged to contact the NZB Airfreight team to ensure their horse is booked.

These are guaranteed departures on Qantas with great rates as well as NZB Airfreight's renowned service and experience.

To book contact Sharon McDowell on 09 298 0055 or at sharon.mcdowell@nzb.co.nz.

Randwick rain a nuisance for Famous Seamus

Give Famous Seamus (NZ) (Elusive City) an inside barrier and a firm racing surface and his bona fides as a Group One sprinter are rarely in doubt.

In the $2.5 million TJ Smith Stakes at Randwick on Saturday, Famous Seamus has one but not the other and trainer Noel Mayfield-Smith can't believe his luck - or lack of it.

Famous Seamus will jump from barrier three but Randwick was rated in the heavy range before a minor mid-afternoon upgrade on Thursday.

"If you sit down and analyse his form and go through and see the bad runs, or what appear to be ordinary runs it will show you he had a wide gate or was it a wet track," Mayfield-Smith said.

A Group One BTC Cup winner, Famous Seamus will be making his third appearance in the TJ Smith after soft conditions put paid to his chances in 2014 and 2015.

Sprinter needs to get a rush on at Rotorua

Adrenaline Rush (NZ) (Fast 'n' Famous) is on a warning and sharp improvement is required for him to keep his place in the stable.

The five-year-old has been disappointing this preparation, but his work ahead of Friday's Rotorua meeting has given trainer Stephen Ralph cause for encouragement.

"He just hasn't come up and he's on the cull list, we can't make too many more excuses for him," he said.

"He hasn't been that far away, but he has been too soft in his races over the last two or three hundred metres.

"We've mixed his training up a bit and his gallop on Tuesday morning was the best he's given us this year." Full story here.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Pemberley (NZ) (Darci Brahma)

Pemberley in Mornington Cup bid for Maher

Ciaran Maher has been one of the beneficiaries of Peter Moody's decision to quit training.

The up-and-coming trainer will take over some Caulfield stables used by Moody and he's also to take over several horses.

One of those was the lightly raced stayer Pemberley (NZ) (Darci Brahma) who will line up under Maher's name in the $300,000 Mornington Cup on Saturday.

Victory in the 2400m race gives the winner automatic entry into the Caulfield Cup in the spring.

After stringing together successive Flemington victories over 1800m and 2000m in January and February, Pemberley was a last-start third in the Stony Creek Cup on March 13 as an odds-on favourite when hampered by a leaders' bias.

"I don't think he really enjoyed, or he was suited, at his last start," Maher said.

Pemberley is first emergency for Saturday's race in the 18-horse field but has been made equal third favourite at $8 with Puccini (NZ) (Encosta De Lago) in early markets.

Pemberley holds a nomination for the Sydney Cup at Randwick on April 9 and Maher said Saturday's performance would determine whether he backs up into that race.

Tarzino on his way to greatness

Cambridge Stud boss Sir Patrick Hogan is keeping Tavistock's 2016 service fee under wraps but it's likely after Day One of The Championships at Randwick, he will revise it upwards.

Triple Group One winner Volkstok'n'barrell (NZ) (Tavistock) runs in Saturday's Doncaster Mile but more attention will be on Tavistock's three-year-old son Tarzino (NZ) who is odds-on to add the Australian Derby to his Victoria Derby in the spring.

Mick Price has an affinity with Tavistock having trained the future stallion in a four-start Australian campaign, and is enamoured of his progeny.

But the trainer may have to go higher than the $60,000 he put his hand up for at the Magic Millions sale to secure Tarzino.

"I might not be able to afford them soon," Price said.

"They are lovely big, strong horses and they work well with the New Zealand mares.

"I had Tavistock for four starts when he was a three-year-old. He won a race but had trained off before

"He went back to New Zealand and won a couple of Group One races and let down into a magnificent horse."

Rain key to Azkadellia in Doncaster

Ciaran Maher wants more rain in a bid to help Azkadellia's (NZ) (Shinko King) chances of upsetting Winx in the A$3 million Doncaster Mile.

Winx (Street Cry) has a stranglehold on favouritism as a $1.85 chance with her stablemate Kermadec (NZ) (Teofilo) on the next line at $6.

Randwick has had almost 160mm of rain during the past week, forcing a track downgrade to heavy before acceptance time on Wednesday.

But with better weather approaching the first day of The Championships, officials are confident the track will improve to the soft range on Saturday.

Maher is hoping the forecast is wrong because a rain-affected track will help Azkadellia while making Winx's task more difficult as she gives his mare 6.5kg.

"Usually with a weight difference on an affected track it can bring (the lightweights) into play a bit more," Maher said.

Azkadellia has the bonus of having five-time Doncaster winning rider Glen Boss in the saddle.

"He chased the ride," Maher said.

"With no weight and being in good form, she's obviously a good chance."

Volpe Veloce impressive on debut

Matamata trainer Graham Richardson has high hopes for impressive two-year-old winner Volpe Veloce (Foxwedge).

A $240,000 Karaka yearling purchase, the daughter of Foxwedge took out the

Volpe Veloce (Foxwedge)

Broadway Racing & Breeding Partnership 1200 under a positive Craig Grylls ride.

"She looks like she might be alright," grinned Richardson. "There is always a lot of pressure on when you pay a lot of money for a filly. But she is all quality and will be a better horse next year."

The winner of a trial in January, Volpe Veloce was also placed in a trial last month at Matamata behind stakes winning juvenile Sassy'n'Smart (Smart Missile). Full story here.

Volkstok'n'barrell (NZ) (Tavistock)

Stronger Volkstok'n'barrell gunning for Doncaster

Co-trainer Donna Logan said three-time Group One winner Volkstok'n'barrell (NZ) (Tavistock) has grown into a more furnished horse since his last trip to Australia, as he prepares to cross the ditch again.

The four-year-old Tavistock gelding has strung together back-to-back Group One wins in New Zealand, ahead of a bid to claim the $3 million Doncaster Mile at Randwick on Saturday.

Volkstok'n'barrell didn't have winning luck during the Melbourne spring, finishing within two lengths of the winner in each of the Memsie Stakes and Turnbull Stakes, before finishing 12th in the Caulfield Cup.

Logan said they discovered Volkstok'n'barrell was an asthmatic

NEWS IN BRIEF

following the campaign, and his recent results have shown he has bounced back in fine order.

"He's 100 per cent again now. He's a far stronger horse," Logan said.

"Looking at photos of him leaving to go to Melbourne, we thought 'Gee, he looks good, he's strengthened up'.

"But when you see him now, it's a hell of a difference, he's furnished right up."

Logan, who trains in partnership with Chris Gibbs, said having Volkstok'n'barrell boxed in Melbourne contributed to his asthma problem. Full story here.

Sacred Elixir (NZ) (Pour Moi)

Group One targets for Raffles duo

Trainer Tony Pike has Group One goals for key members of the Raffles Racing team.

Top-class sprinter Sacred Star (Flying Spur) and talented juvenile Sacred Elixir (NZ) (Pour Moi) will campaign in Queensland this winter.

Sacred Elixir, a son of English Derby winner Pour Moi, is now back in work and will be set for the Gr.1 J.J. Atkins in June.

"There's a couple of nice lead up races at Eagle Farm," Pike said. "Then two and a half weeks later is the Sires' Produce and two weeks after that the J.J. Atkins."

Sacred Star will be making his third trip to the Sunshine State and has enjoyed a brief spell after posting a tidy victory in the Gr.3 Darley Plate at Ellerslie on March 5.

"He came back in on Monday as well and he'll go back to Brisbane. We'll probably target the BTC Cup, Doomben 10,000, and the Stradbroke Handicap again.

"It's very hard in New Zealand to get horses ready for the Melbourne spring. If they go well in Queensland then winter up there they'll be a lot more forward if we decide to take them down to Melbourne for the spring."

New Ballymore partnership announced

A new partnership will shortly head Ballymore Stables' racing operation at Matamata.

Chad Ormsby, who has been training with stable proprietor Mike Moroney, will step down from his role next month and he will be succeeded by highly-regarded horsewoman Pam Gerard.

An experienced and successful trainer for a number of years when based in Canterbury, Gerard has played a pivotal role as assistant trainer at Te Akau Racing for more than five years since shifting north.

This season she has been managing Te Akau's South Island team and staff and has been integral to the respective classic successes of Risque (NZ) (Darci Brahma) and Xtravagant (NZ) (Pentire) in the New Zealand 1000 and 2000 Guineas at Riccarton.

"I would like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank Chad for his efforts and input into Ballymore Stables since he came into the partnership in the 2011-12 season," Moroney said.

"He has played a key role in our operation, which during his time with Ballymore has produced 115 wins, including six at Group or Listed level for prizemoney just short of $2 million."

Montaigne (NZ) (Road To Rock)

Big money move for Kiwi 3YO

New Zealand-bred three-year-old Montaigne (NZ) (Road to Rock) has been sold to Hong Kong interests.

The deal, which is understood to be in excess of seven figures, was completed in the wake of the Road To Rock gelding's performance against the older horses at Rosehill on Saturday.

"We've had interest from Hong Kong for the last couple of months and we agreed on a figure after his fourth in The BMW," stable spokesman Edward Cummings said.

"You never like to see a horse of his ability leave the stable, but it's business and despite our desire to keep him at Randwick we're always mindful of getting a return for our owners."

Montaigne, whose ownership group included a syndicate from New Plymouth, won two races before he placed in the Gr.1 Rosehill Guineas and the Gr.2 Hobartville Stakes for trainer Anthony Cummings. He was a $60,000 purchase at Karaka by Hermes Syndications.

High hopes for Queensland-bound fillies

Group One performers Serena Miss (NZ) (Iffraaj) and Reminisce (NZ) (Roc de Cambes) will spearhead Graeme and Debbie Rogerson's team to the Queensland winter carnival.

"Serena Miss had a couple of hard runs at Riccarton so she had a decent spell – she didn't leave the stable and had a paddock here and came in at night," Debbie Rogerson said.

The powerfully-built daughter of Iffraaj won the Gr.2 James & Annie Sarten Memorial in the spring and finished third behind Xtravagant (NZ) (Pentire) in the Gr.1 NZ 2000 Guineas before she unsuccessfully backed up in the Gr.1 NZ 1000 Guineas.

The Gr.3 Doomben Roses on May 26 and the Gr.1 Queensland Oaks a fortnight later are the likely targets for Serena Miss, and likewise for Reminisce.

The latter won two of her six starts last season and she hasn't raced since she powered home for third behind Marky Mark (Makfi) and Rocanto (NZ) (Per Incanto) in the Gr.1 Manawatu Sires' Produce Stakes a year ago.

"She had a few niggling issues and the time out has worked wonders for her," Rogerson said.
