AZKADELLIA DRAW NO ISSUE IN 10000: MAHER

Trainer Ciaran Maher is confident of Azkadellia's chances at Doomben tomorrow despite a wide barrier draw

The person least concerned about Azkadellia (NZ) (Shinko King) drawing the outside gate for the Doomben 10,000 is her trainer Ciaran Maher.

The Group One sprint fell away to 10 runners when final acceptances were taken on Wednesday with Azkadellia receiving the widest barrier.

But Maher said the alley wouldn't make any difference to Azkadellia because of her racing style.

"She would end up in the same position anyway," he said.

"She doesn't begin brilliantly but gradually builds up momentum. There is plenty of pace in the field and that should suit her."

Maher was debating whether to run Azkadellia in the Doomben 10,000 on Saturday as he was worried about a weight penalty for the $1.5 million Group One Stradbroke Handicap on June 11.

"It looks like she will get an extra kilo if she wins which isn't too bad," Maher said.

The mare trialed brilliantly at Eagle Farm last week, but

Maher still considered she needed another hit-out before the Stradbroke.

“The Stradbroke has always been her prime target and it was a matter of finding another race for her,” he said.

Maher, who won last year’s Stradbroke with Srikandi (Dubawi), would also like some rain for Azkadellia but he is unlikely get it.

“But she is a swimmer in the wet.”

Azkadellia has not missed a place in six starts on rain-affected tracks.

TRACK AND DISTANCE TEST FOR YOUNGSTER

Tony Pike will be forgiving if Sacred Elixir (NZ) (Pour Moi) loses his unbeaten record in Australia on Saturday.

The Cambridge trainer produced the two-year-old for a first-up triumph in Queensland, but sees Saturday's Gr.2 Sires' Produce Stakes in a different light.

"That was a lovely race to have found for him on a big, roomy track at the Sunshine Coast and he's really thrived since then," Pike said.

"Saturday isn't D-Day for him and he's drawn wide over 1350 metres at Doomben, which isn't his ideal course.

"He will go back and will be relying on a really strong tempo. If he can get over the top of them and win it would be great, but as long as he is running on strongly we'll be happy and that will set him up for the Group One."

Sacred Elixir's main target is the J.J. Atkins Stakes over a mile at Eagle Farm on June 11, where stablemate Rangipo (Stryker), who has come through his unplaced run in the Gr.3 Fred Best Classic well, will run in the Gr.2 Queensland Guineas.

"They were a bit too sharp for him over the 1350 and it wasn't a bad run in a hot field by any means," Pike said. "The mile will suit him better."

Sacred Elixir will look to maintain his unbeaten Queensland record in the Gr. 2 Sires' Produce Stakes at Doomben

TRIPLE GROUP ONE WINNER TO WINDSOR PARK

Windsor Park Stud have joined forces with the Inner Mongolia Rider Horse Group to stand Mongolian Khan (Holy Roman Emperor).

The first horse to complete a Group One sweep of the New Zealand and Australian Derbys and the Caulfield Cup, he will begin stage two of his career at the Cambridge nursery.

“Windsor Park are delighted to have purchased 50 percent of the champion racehorse Mongolian Khan from the Inner Mongolia Rider Horse Group who will retain the other half,” stud principal Rodney Schick said.

“Their president Mr Lin Lang is a passionate supporter of the New Zealand racing industry and will be backing Mongolian Khan at stud with a number of high quality broodmares, which he is currently in the process of securing.

“We have enjoyed great success standing Derby winners like High Chaparral and Montjeu at Windsor Park and with his race performance and pedigree we think Mongolian Khan ticks all the right boxes.”

The winner of eight of his 17 races and more than $4 million, Mongolian Khan was a champion three-year-old with his exploits earning him the New Zealand Horse of the Year title.

Following his Caulfield Cup victory this season he was accorded a Timeform Rating of 126 with only Winx achieving a higher rating in the 2016 four-year-old category.

“With his speed and ability to run fast sectionals Mongolian Khan ranks with the best racehorses I have trained, as his outstanding record would suggest,” said Murray Baker, who trained the entire with Andrew Forsman.

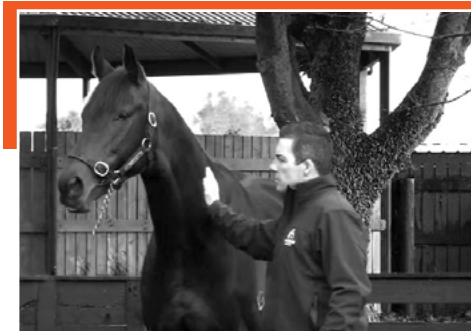

“He’s got the looks and was a very sound racehorse, who was blessed with a great action and a beautiful temperament.”

Mongolian Khan is a son of Danehill’s highest ever rated juvenile Holy Roman Emperor, an internationally successful Group One producer of the Hong Kong Horse of the Year Designs On Rome.

Windsor Park Stud have joined forces with the Inner Mongolia Rider Horse Group to stand multiple Group One winner Mongolian Khan

A half-brother to the Gr.1 Wellington Cup winner Young Centaur, Mongolian Khan is out Centaine’s daughter Centafit and will stand at $10,000 + GST.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Baker Eyes Group One Glory

Trainer Bjorn Baker will saddle up the in-form Music Magnate (NZ) (Written Tycoon) in Saturday's Gr.1 Doomben 10,000.

Although he has trained Group One winners in partnership with his father Murray, Baker is keen to breakthrough for a solo elite-level success.

"Music Magnate should be spot on for Saturday," Baker said.

"I've won a few Group Ones in partnership with my father. The only difference is I didn't get to see any of that money whereas if Music Magnate does win, I'll get to see a fair chunk of it."

Provocative (NZ) (Zabeel)

Oaks or Derby for Provocative

Trainer Tony Pike is looking forward to a Group One date on Saturday week with Ipswich winner Provocative (NZ) (Zabeel) in the Queensland Oaks.

"She's up to 19th in order of entry so we need one more to pull out," he said.

The winner of three of her six starts, Provocative has $31,000 in prizemoney to her name.

In the event the daughter of Zabeel fails to make the field she will run in a 2200m race at Doomben on Wednesday instead to try to qualify for the Gr.1 Queensland Derby 10 days later.

Racing Queensland chief handicapper Nathan Bourke indicated it was an intensely competitive year for fillies trying to get a run in the Oaks.

"There are a lot more well-credentialed fillies around this year than some other years.

"Some years there have been fillies getting a run in the Oaks with as little as $20,000 prizemoney," Bourke said.

Sonorous out to stake claim for Qld Derby

A tip from a jockey who is expanding his overseas resume is behind New Zealand colt Sonorous' last-ditch Queensland Derby bid.

On the advice of Mark Du Plessis, Sonorous (NZ) (Rip Van Winkle) will be among a host of three-year-olds in the Evans & Partners Handicap trying to earn a Queensland Derby call-up at Randwick on Saturday.

Du Plessis has taken up a short-term contract in Japan. But before leaving earlier this month Du Plessis gave trainer Scott Lucock a heads up on what he should be doing with the sparingly raced Sonorous.

A jockey with plenty of international experience, Du Plessis rode Sonorous into a minor placing in the Group Two Championship Stakes at Ellerslie.

"It was Mark Du Plessis who actually suggested to us we have a crack at the Derby," Lucock said.

"He swears he should have won that race in Auckland."

Lucock figures Sonorous needs to run in the top three to have any chance of continuing his Australian campaign in the Queensland Derby at Eagle Farm on June 11.

Powell links with A La Victory

Australian jockey John Powell will take the ride on the James Peters-trained A La Victory (NZ) (Alamosa) in Sunday's Gr.2 Stewards Cup (1400m) at Kranji in Singapore.

The rider will have his first raceday ride on the son of Alamosa after winning a trial on the four-year-old last week.

"He trialled very well last week," Powell said.

"He was bright and he just coasted to the line easy. We all know he's a horse who can pull hard but he was great in his trial, no drama at all."

A La Victory has drawn gate 4 in the S$300,000 feature.

"It's all about keeping him happy wherever he is in the run, as he can get off the bridle and pull hard. With the right run, I think he can finish in the top four."

Benzini (Tale Of The Cat)

Benzini on trial for Brisbane Cup

Benzini's (Tale of the Cat) first-up performance in Australia will determine the shape of his Queensland winter carnival campaign.

"He's in a race at Doomben on Saturday and we'll look at the Brisbane Cup for him, but it depends how he goes at the weekend," owner and co-trainer Adrian Bull said.

Benzini, who will line up in the Gr.3 Premier's Cup, hasn't raced since he finished second in the Gr.3 Canterbury Gold Cup. The Gr.1 Livamol Classic runner-up travelled to Brisbane in the care of Bull's son and training partner Harry.

Iggi popular with trainer after comeback

Far from being frustrated by Iggi Pop's (NZ) (Savabeel) two recent second placings, trainer Peter Robl is just pleased to have him racing at all, let alone so well.

The seven-year-old lost more than a year of his career when he was side-lined by a tendon injury and made his return in March this year.

He goes into Saturday's Listed McKell Cup (2400m) at Randwick at his fifth run back from the injury which could well have spelled the end.

"It's great to get him back to the races and to see him going so well," Robl said.

"He bowed a tendon and it was a significant injury which needed 12 months in the paddock.

Originally with John O'Shea, Iggi Pop was transferred to John Sargent when O'Shea took up the position of head trainer for Godolphin in Australia.

Robl was foreman for Sargent until he was granted his own licence late last year and took over the horses owned by Segenhoe Stud, among them Iggi Pop.

Weighty issue for Ecuador

Ecuador (NZ) (High Chaparral) has the arduous task of shouldering topweight of 59.5kg in Saturday's Listed McKell Cup (2400m) at Randwick.

The Esker Lodge graduate was a runaway last start winner of the Lord Mayor's Cup but will face a sterner test on Saturday, with Victorian raider Raw Impulse (Makfi) an ominous threat.

"Ecuador proved to be very dominant at Rosehill last start," jockey Adam Hyeronimus said.

"He rolled along in front at a nice tempo and still sprinted away from them like the good horse he is.

"I realise Raw Impulse only has to carry 54kg but he will be giving us a good start."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Quantum (NZ) (Keeper)

Rain-affected going no problem for Hawtin contender

The prospect of a testing track at Ellerslie on Saturday isn't putting a damper on Brendon Hawtin's black type hopes.

He will be represented by the in-form youngster Quantum (NZ) (Keeper) in the Listed Graeme Thomson Jewellers Great Northern Foal Stakes.

"He'll cope with the conditions all right and he's probably more seasoned than most of them," Hawtin said.

Quantum was a winner at Matamata three runs back before he finished runner-up at Ellerslie and the Keeper gelding was then fourth in the Listed Champagne Stakes.

"The track was a bit firm for him in the Champagne and he didn't let down as well as he did the start before," Hawtin said. Full story here.

Hello M'Lady (NZ) (Shocking)

Early opportunity for stakes success

Vicki Prendergast hasn't had to wait long for her first crack at a black type feature.

The Matamata horsewoman is in her first season of training and her fourth starter will be the promising filly Hello M'Lady (NZ) (Shocking) in the Listed Graeme Thomson Jewellers Great Northern Foal Stakes at Ellerslie on Saturday.

Hello M'Lady has made an encouraging start to her career with a debut fourth at Rotorua behind the subsequent stakes winner Ugo Foscolo (NZ) (Zacinto) and she then got home strongly to beat all but Jon Snow (NZ) (Iffraaj) at New Plymouth.

"She loves wet ground and she wants a bit more distance," Prendergast said. "I keep wanting to turn her out, but she keeps giving me excuses not to."

Street Smart (NZ) (Shocking)

Street Smart to push Derby claims

A start in the Gr.1 Queensland Derby is the reward for Cambridge three-year-old Street Smart (NZ) (Shocking) should he win in Sydney on Saturday.

The Shaune Ritchie-trained gelding tackles the Evans & Partners Handicap (2000m) at Randwick on Saturday, with Tye Angland booked to ride the last-start Pukekohe winner from the outside barrier.

"We think he's a good horse but whether the penny has dropped enough yet, we don't know," Ritchie said from Sydney.

"We're relying on the very good record New Zealand staying three-year-olds have over here. He's on trial for the Queensland Derby but he'd probably need to win on Saturday to get there or else run a really unlucky second and hope that he's earned enough prizemoney to get in." Full story here.

Angelology out to give Payne family a lift

As Michelle Payne recovers from surgery, a family horse can provide a tonic with an important win at Sandown.

Angelology (NZ) (Coat's Choice), a jumper trained by Payne's brother Patrick, will contest the $125,000 Australian Steeplechase at a time his Melbourne Cup-winning sister is at a crossroads in her riding career.

Michelle remains in a Melbourne hospital following abdominal surgery after she fell from a horse trained by Patrick in a race at Mildura on Monday.

An outstanding jockey before weight forced him out of the saddle, Patrick said it might be time for his sister to reconsider her future.

"We tried to talk her out of riding a while ago," he said.

"We've encouraged her to retire but it's her decision. What more does she have to do?"

While his thoughts are clearly with the youngest of 10 siblings, Patrick is confident Angelology is ready to complete a successful transition from hurdles to steeplechase racing.

Payne said there was quality in the Australian Steeplechase, but he expected Angelology's honesty to take him a long way.

Duchess Kate (NZ) (Savabeel)

Duchess Kate to further career in Sydney

Black type filly Duchess Kate (NZ) (Savabeel) has joined the champion Australian stable of Chris Waller.

The daughter of Savabeel won three of her 10 starts, including the Gr.3 Desert Gold Stakes, from the Matamata stable of Stephen Autridge and Jamie Richards.

Duchess Kate, who also ran fourth in the Gr.3 Sunline Vase, is raced by her Sydney-based breeder Max Whitby.

Rory Hutchings

Rory Hutchings with two key Doomben rides

Just a week after outriding his apprentices' claim, three time champion New Zealand apprentice Rory Hutchings will have two Group Three rides at the feature Doomben meeting for his boss Chris Waller.

Hutchings remains with Hawkesbury Gold Cup winner Amovatio (Al Maher) in Saturday's Lord Mayor's Cup (1615m) and has been given the nod on leading Queensland Derby contender Encosta Line (Encosta De Lago) in the Grand Prix Stakes (2200m).

The 21-year-old added another win to his Sydney tally aboard the Waller-trained Avonaco (All American) at Canterbury on Wednesday.

He has a seemingly unassailable lead in the apprentices' title, leading Winona Costin by 28-16 with his indentures to expire on June 14.

Tavi Bay (NZ) (Tavistock)

Tavi Bay on target for Oaks

Tavi Bay (NZ) (Tavistock) is thriving in her lead-up to next month's Gr.1 Queensland Oaks.

The Tavistock filly booked her spot in the classic with a last-start victory over 2000 metres at Caulfield for trainer Henry Dwyer.

"She was going to run second or third at the 200 metre mark and was going to run second or third at the 50," he said.

"It was only really the last 20 metres that she really attacked the line and showed a good will to win, and obviously good staying ability. The extra distance in the Oaks is going to be no dramas with her and she's clearly on the up."

Per Incanto (Street Cry)

Per Incanto fee unchanged

Little Avondale Stud's successful young stallion Per Incanto will stand at the unchanged fee of $15,000 + GST in 2016.

The son of Street Cry, who has seven three-year-old stakes performers this season, is currently second behind Savabeel on the New Zealand premiership for individual winners.

The fee for Per Incanto's associate sire Nadeem, who has produced two Group Three winners in Australia this year, will also stay unchanged at $6500 + GST.

Hayley Maree (NZ) (Le Bec Fin)

Tyler setting sights on Trentham

Kelvin Tyler is enjoying his best ever season and he's now hoping to add northern success to his record.

The Riverton trainer is preparing to hit the road for this Saturday's Wellington meeting with his well-performed duo of Hayley Maree (NZ) (Le Bec Fin) and Timy Tyler (NZ) (No Excuse Needed).

Hayley Maree has previously performed well at Trentham where she finished fourth in the Gr.1 Captain Cook Stakes and then filled the same placing in the Gr.2 Manawatu Challenge Stakes.

While Tyler was a little downhearted by the mare's most recent effort for fourth at Winton, he is happy to let her take her chance in the North Island Challenge Stakes.

"I was a bit disappointed in her last run, but she's very well in herself and she may have just had an off day," he said. Full story here.

Authentic Paddy (NZ) (Howbaddouwantit)

Group One galloper staying at home

Plans to campaign Authentic Paddy (NZ) (Howbaddouwantit) at the Queensland winter carnival have been scrapped.

He had been booked to leave last Sunday, but trainer Lisa Latta pulled the pin after the six-year-old's effort to finish third under 60.5kg in the Gr.3 Rotorua Cup last time out took its toll.

"He's staying at home – he showed signs of going over the top so he'll have a couple of weeks in the paddock and then we'll get him ready for the Hawke's Bay carnival," she said. Full story here.

Dukedom (NZ) (Bachelor Duke)

Dukedom settling in to new quarters

Levin Classic winner Dukedom (NZ) (Bachelor Duke) arrived in Hong Kong on Sunday to begin his new career.

The Bachelor Duke three-year-old provided Byerley Park part-owner Steven Cole with his first Group One training success in the Trentham feature.

Also placed in the Gr.2 Great Northern Guineas and the Listed Trevor Eagle Memorial, Dukedom was purchased earlier this year by clients of Dennis Yip's stable.
