FIRST STAKES SUCCESS FOR BEAT THE CLOCK IN SPRINT CUP

Beat The Clock (outer) storms home to snatch victory in the Gr.2 Sprint Cup at Sha Tin

Jockey Joao Moreira declared that Beat The Clock (Hinchinbrook) was potentially “the best sprinter” in Hong Kong after the galloper scored his first Group victory with a strong last-to-first win in the Gr.2 Sprint Cup (1200m) at Sha Tin 0on Sunday.

The John Size-trained Beat The Clock had proven his mettle with three runner-up finishes in his last three starts:

in the Gr.3 Chinese Club Challenge Cup Handicap (1400m) to Fifty Fifty (NZ) (Thorn Park), the Gr.1 Centenary Sprint Cup (1200m) to D B Pin (NZ) (Darci Brahma) and the Gr.1 Queen’s Silver Jubilee Cup (1400m) to Beauty Generation (NZ) (Road To Rock).

However, it looked like it might be an uphill task for Beat The Clock to gain his breakthrough in today’s HK$4 million feature when he found himself at the rear of the eight-runner field, six lengths off a sedate pace set by Peniaphobia (Dandy Man).

The first to race up to challenge Peniaphobia upon straightening was December's Gr.1 LONGINES Hong Kong Sprint (1200m) hero Mr Stunning (Exceed And Excel), who had sat just off the leader in second throughout. As Mr Stunning strode up to the lead at the 250m, though, his stablemate was unleashing a powerful run out wide.

The two Size gallopers came away to fight out the finish, with Beat The Clock prevailing by a neck at the wire. His final 400m split of 21.03s was the fastest sectional recorded in any Sha Tin 1200m race in the last decade.

"He showed to me today that he is one of the best sprinters in town," Moreira said of the second favourite. "It wasn't really a fast-run race, for me in the back that made it a bit harder to catch those up front. But even after I went early on him and made a long run, he still attacked the line all the way to the end. That's the mark of a very good horse. He's very classy."

Size concurred: "He did a very good job. He's back last in the race, and he sprinted quickly and sustained the sprint to secure the prize. He's done well, he's always promised to do that and today he's delivered."

Moreira said that he had been mindful to avoid any traffic issues, as he believed they had brought about his downfall in recent races.

"He's been a little bit unlucky," said the Brazilian rider. "He's been bumped in his races and ended up a little farther back, or he's got a little bit lost at the end of those runs. Today, he's made it count."

Size says that he thinks Beat The Clock has promise looking ahead to next season: "He's only four years old, he's younger than the other ones, so he's done a good job. Next season, he's probably got a little bit of improvement in him, just like Mr Stunning did at this time last year."

Beat The Clock is a graduate from the 2015 New Zealand Bloodstock Ready To Run Sale. The classy bay was sold out of the Prima Park draft for $200,000.

SPIETH GETTING READY FOR RACE RETURN

Dual Group One placegetter Spieth (NZ) (Thorn Park) is closing in on his first race appearance for his new stable, Lindsay Park.

Spieth won five of 16 starts for trainer Bryce Heys and was runner-up in both the 2016 Gr.1 Darley Classic (1200m) and 2017 Gr.1 Lightning Stakes (1000m) at Flemington.

After being bought by Aquis Farm, the stallion prospect was transferred to the Lindsay Park stable of David and Ben Hayes and Tom Dabernig and the five-year-old won a jump-out at Flemington on Friday.

Dabernig indicated the Listed Bel Esprit Stakes (1100m) on April 21 at Caulfield was an option for Spieth's return.

"He won the trial and we're learning about him," Dabernig said.

"At this stage they're keeping all options open. It's a new ownership group.

"Damien Oliver rode him in the trial and was happy.

"The Goodwood was always on the cards.

"There's an 1100-metre Listed race at Caulfield on the 21st and we might kick him off in as a bit of a lead-up."

Dabernig said Spieth was obviously a talented horse, evidenced by his close Group One seconds.

There is the chance Spieth could be targeted at Royal Ascot in June along with stablemate, multiple Group One-winning sprinter Redkirk Warrior (Notnowcato).

"Royal Ascot has been spoken about for Spieth but at this stage that will be a decision made more by the ownership group, I think, and what they want to do," Dabernig said.

RAE HAPPY TO BE PROVEN WRONG WITH RESPIN

Respin (red cap) holds on for her first stakes victory in a driving finish at Riccarton

Local trainer Terri Rae was quietly cursing her bad luck at Riccarton on Saturday afternoon when she received a pleasant surprise.

Rae was waiting in the fourth-placed stall in the Riccarton birdcage, convinced her promising three-year-old filly Respin (NZ) (Power) had been knocked out of the placings in a frantic finish to the Listed NZB Insurance Stakes (1600m). Frustration instantly turned to joy when the judge announced Respin in first place by a bare nose over Beneficial (NZ) (Highly Recommended) with a further nose back to Courte Zarindi (NZ) (Any Suggestion).

"I was watching a wee way off the line, but I was convinced we had missed the placings," she said.

"I was standing in the stall where the fourth placed runner returns, cursing away, when they announced the result and I got a very pleasant surprise.

"I asked Alysha (Collett) when she came back in whether she thought she had won and she had been convinced she had been swamped on the post as well."

Respin found her way to Rae's Riccarton operation after having one start as a two-year-old from Tony Pike's Cambridge stable for well-known owners Jim and Anne Gibbs.

"Tony had said to me he thought she would really show her class when she matured a little more and stepped out over ground," said Rae.

“He was dead right as she has just got better and better as we have gone along and the step up to 1600m on Saturday was perfect for her.

“She hasn’t had a lot of luck in this campaign, but Alysha gave her a great ride and she got the job done even though it was a heart-stopper at the finish.

“She is just a lovely filly to do anything with and I’m delighted we could get the win for Mr and Mrs Gibbs.”

Rae will now look to the Listed NZ Bloodstock Warstep Stakes (2000m) on 21 April to complete Respin’s current campaign before turning her out for a spell.

“Provided she comes through Saturday’s exertions okay we will head to the Warstep next,” she said.

“She was bucking and squealing when we put her out in the paddock on Sunday morning after eating everything we put in front of her on Saturday night, so she looks to have handled things in good fashion.

“Actually, keeping the weight off her is one of the issues we have as she doesn’t seem to think about anything but food. That’s quite unusual for a three-year-old filly but it’s a great problem to have as keeping condition on them is normally the main challenge.”

PITMAN ENJOYING BUILD-UP TO AUSTRALIAN OAKS CHALLENGE

Australian Oaks candidate Savvy Coup (NZ) (Savabeel) isn't the only one thriving in the Sydney heat in the build-up to her Group One challenge on the second day of the Championships at Royal Randwick this Saturday.

Co-trainer Michael Pitman is also enjoying his time in the white-hot racing environment as he puts the finishing touches on what he believes could be a career defining moment for his stable star.

"We went out to Randwick on Saturday and it was just fantastic," he said.

"It's the best racing in the world and the atmosphere was just electric. We are really looking forward to being a big part of the day this weekend and win, lose or draw we are going to enjoy the occasion."

Pitman is delighted with how Savvy Coup has settled into her new surroundings after arriving from New Zealand earlier in the week.

"She seems to be thriving and coping well with the heat here which is a great sign," he said.

"She had a nice gallop on Saturday and will have her final fast work on Tuesday. She was very relaxed about it all on Saturday and we're hoping she can acquit herself well in what will be her biggest test."

While Pitman was enjoying the Randwick surroundings he was a keen observer on the performance of his Riccarton team where new stable

Morse Code clears out for rider Parvesh Shaikh as she registers her first win for the Pitman stable in addition, Morse Code (NZ) (Pins), was a clear-cut winner over 1000m at her new home base on Saturday.

"That was a hell of a good win as they were no mugs she was beating," he said.

"I was delighted for her owner Tom Perry as he had run into a few issues with her barrier manners and transferred her to us to see if we could sort them out.

"She seems to have really clicked with our stable routines and has been thriving. We weren't that sure what to expect on Saturday, but she put them away pretty easily with more to come.

"She looks an ideal type for the big sprint races during the New Zealand Cup Carnival so we might just put her aside now and wait for November.

"I will have a talk to Tom about what the plan should be, but that's the way I'm leaning at this stage."

HIGHLAD TAKES OUT TE AROHA CUP

Enigmatic stayer Highlad (High Chaparral) returned to winning form on Saturday with a heart-stopping victory in the J. Swap Te Aroha Cup (2200m).

Co-trainer Andrew Forsman indicated before the race that he was leaning towards the High Chaparral four-year-old over stablemate Show The World (NZ) (High Chaparral) with the prediction of a sit-sprint battle developing in the six-horse field. That scenario went out the window almost immediately however, as Hastings visitor Saint Kitt (NZ) (Keeper) sent a solid pace out in front throughout with Highlad settling well back in a strung-out field.

Rider Michael Coleman improved Highlad into a challenging position on the home corner before drawing clear with the well favoured Bizzwinkle (NZ) (Rip Van Winkle) as they set down to fight out the finish. In a tooth and nail struggle Highlad gained the ascendancy to score by a short-head with Cheeky Boy (NZ) (Lucky Unicorn) running on nicely to gain third.

"That was a good solid effort although he did want to knock off and wait for the other horse a bit in the home straight," said Forsman.

"His record on firm tracks doesn't read that well but it's probably a little circumstantial as he does tend to prefer a reasonable surface.

"All in all it was a good hit-out and should have him right for Hastings next weekend."

Both Highlad and Show The World have the Listed Hawkes Bay Gold Cup (2200m) at Hastings this Saturday as their target although Forsman will wait to see how Show The World pulls up from his Te Aroha exertions before confirming a definite start.

"I'm not so sure about Show The World as he didn't look that comfortable on the ground and couldn't really sprint with them when the speed went on," he said.

Highlad gets his nose in front to deny Bizzwinkle at Te Aroha

"We will wait to see how comes through the race as he looked a little scratchy in the run home so went won't push on if he isn't one hundred percent."

Forsman was also pleased with the performance of the stables four runners in the rich Gr.1 Australian Derby (2400m) which saw Vin De Dance (NZ) (Roc de Cambes) finish fourth as the best performed of the quartet.

"Vin De Dance went a very solid race and battled on strongly to finish fourth," he said.

"Weather With You probably did his chips with a slow start while Mission Hill over-raced and the wide barrier didn't do any favours for Mongolian Marshal.

"I think Vin De Dance and Mission Hill will probably come home for a spell now but the other two might stay around for another race or two depending on how they come through the run." – NZ Racing Desk

SPRATT MAGIC WORKS A CHARM FOR PROMISING STAYER

A copybook display from rider Sam Spratt paved the way for promising stayer Blue Breeze (NZ) (Bullbars) to notch his second career victory when he took out the opening event over 2200m at Te Aroha on Saturday.

Spratt positioned the Bullbars gelding perfectly in the trail throughout before edging into a gap one off the fence halfway down the long Te Aroha straight. With the action looking to be out wide as Princess El Jay (NZ) (Rip Van Winkle) shot to the lead, Spratt bided her time before asking for the ultimate effort from Blue Breeze who responded well to forge past Princess El Jay in the shadows of the post to claim the win.

Despite the apparent ease of the win Spratt admitted she had her doubts before the race about the gelding's capacity to handle the firm track on offer.

"He's been knocking but to be fair I thought the track might have been a little bit good for him," she said.

"Ideally, he needs some easing in the ground, but he got the trip in behind them, got the split and he didn't really have to do much."

Trainer Allan Morley believes his stable star has a bright future ahead of him as he contemplates what his next move will be with him.

"I've always loved the horse, but I think he's still quite immature," he said.

"He's going to be a lovely five-year old next year. Sam thinks he is a Cup horse in the making."

In contrast to Spratt, Morley was pleased to see the firm conditions for his charge on Saturday after a sticky surface at Matamata contributed to an indifferent performance at his last start.

"The last race he didn't like the sticky track," he said.

Blue Breeze and Sam Spratt scoot clear along the inner to score at Te Aroha

"He either wants the rain to loosen it or firm like it was today.

"Things didn't quite go to plan as we were going to lead but everyone else took off, so Sam took a trail – it was a great ride."

Morley will wait to see how the horse comes through his exertions before making any future plans but is leaning towards sending him to the spelling paddock before getting him ready for a spring campaign.

LOCAL FILLY OPENS THE DAY WITH A WIN AT PUKEKOHE

Local filly Kailani Sunset (NZ) (Swiss Ace) sprang a minor upset when she led all the way to take out the Haunui Farm 2YO (800m), the opening event at Pukekohe on Sunday.

The benefit of two raceday starts was clearly in evidence as the Richard Yuill trained runner hugged the rail throughout after jumping from an inside barrier. As her more inexperienced rivals struggled to get balanced after rounding the home bend, Kailani Sunset established a winning break before repelling a stout challenge from Matamata visitor Cavallo Veloce (NZ) (O'Reilly) to notch her first career victory.

Yuill admitted to plenty of pre-race confidence in the Swiss Ace filly's chances as she returned from a brief summer break after showing promise behind Melt (NZ) (Iffraaj) and Nirvana In Fire (NZ) (Showcasing) in her earlier races.

"I was a little bit confident as she is a nice filly who is only going to get better with age," he said.

"The raceday experience made a big difference as the rest were all trial performers who hadn't been to the races.

"She jumped and led on the rail well and did everything right."

Yuill is keen to continue the current programme with the filly although he believes she will furnish into a classy three-year-old next season.

"She's in work now so we will press on with her," he said.

"We'll keep her going for as long as we can before turning her out for the winter and then bringing her back in the spring.

"We're looking forward to a nice three-year-old campaign with her."

Rider Sam Spratt, fresh off a winning double at Te Aroha on Saturday, was pleased with the effort.

"She's had a few starts now and knows what she is doing," she said.

"She flew out of the gates and put herself there.

"She did try to lug out a little when the other one came at her, but she fought on really well."

CHIN'S COPYBOOK RIDE ON WEBSTER VINDICATES MEAGHER

Webster is all class as he clears out at Kranji

Trainer Daniel Meagher was delighted he backed his own judgement when putting his relatively inexperienced apprentice jockey Chin See Cheng on a leading chance like Webster (NZ) (Showcasing) on Sunday.

After tracking up race-leader Marvel Hero (Royal Applause) from the start in the $80,000 Class 3 race over 1200m, Webster was never in doubt once Chin called upon the Showcasing four-year-old at the top of the straight.

Pinning his ears back, the Graham Mackie-owned pint-sized galloper kept finding to hold Baffert (Exceed And Excel) safely at bay by 1 ½ lengths with Dutrow (Beautiful Crown) third another half-a-length away. The winning time was 1min 12.93secs for the 1200m on the Polytrack.

Chin may not be a household name often seen on race-cards at Kranji, even among his peers, but that does not stop him from turning up for trackwork at the Meagher yard every morning.

And that was why Meagher wanted to reward Chin's hard work with a major shot in the arm - as many as seven rides this weekend, with Webster clearly the standout.

There was to be no joy on Friday night when Chin returned empty-handed from his boss's three rides, who, to be fair, were not exactly bright prospects, but he was right on target when it mattered on Sunday. Webster was not only his best chance, but he was also keen to redeem himself after an unplaced finish at his only previous ride on him back in December.

Webster, who was at his 10th outing, has now added a fourth win to his record, but was bringing up his first for the season for prizemoney fast closing in on the $200,000 mark.

"I've been working him since last week and I was happy with the way he's been coming along," said Chin, picked up only two winners last year, both for Meagher shortly after he joined him from Bruce Marsh.

"I was a bit upset after the first time I rode him, but I'm happy he won today.

Good on the team and the boss!

"The boss was right as he told me to just let him stride and not strangle him. I gradually picked him up, and he gave me a good kick in the straight.

"This win can only boost my confidence, and I hope more trainers will support me from now on."

Meagher said apprentice jockeys like Chin can only learn their trade better with more opportunities coming their way.

"Confidence is a great thing. He's been a bit unlucky lately and I gave him Webster who is a really easy horse to ride," said Meagher.

"He is there every day at the stable, but as you know, these apprentices don't have runners every day. CS rode Webster really well today, and it's good for his confidence."
