BERGERSON HAPPY WITH STABLE STAR AFTER FOXTON TRIAL

Savaria winning the Gr. 1 New Zealand Oaks

A comfortable first-up effort at the Foxton trials last week has trainer Roydon Bergerson pleased with the progress of class mare Savaria (NZ) (Savabeel) as he prepares her for a tilt at the Gr. 1 Livamol Classic in October.

The former New Zealand Oaks winner was having her first serious hit-out since finishing third in the Listed Hawkes Bay Cup in April and lobbed along towards the rear of the eight strong trial field before closing off nicely in the home straight.

"We really just wanted to give her a quiet run around to see how she was progressing and she did everything we asked," noted Bergerson.

"She has been back in work awhile after wintering really well so it was good chance to lift her fitness up a notch without putting any pressure on her.

"She came through the trial well and has tightened up nicely so she's ready to go to the races now."

Bergerson has the open mile at Hawkes Bay this weekend as the race to kick-off her spring campaign which he hopes will culminate in Group One glory.

"She had a tough season as a four-year-old where things didn't really go that well for her thanks to some niggling issues and a little bad luck," he said.

“This time in she has really strengthened up and grown into herself so I’m hopeful this will be her year.

“There is a nice race for her this weekend and safely through that we will assess where to go with her next but her major goal at this stage is the Livamol Classic.”

ZANTECO JUMPS TO ANOTHER FEATURE WIN

Zanteco (NZ) (Zabeel) has taken his jumps career to a new height with a stylish victory at Ballarat.

The Darren Weir-trained eight-year-old claimed a third straight feature jumps victory when he took out Sunday's J J Houlahan Hurdle (3200m).

A debut winner over hurdles in May, Zanteco fell at his next start before running second at Hamilton in June.

He followed up with a fifth placing at Warrnambool before starting his string of victories in feature races.

Zanteco went to Bendigo to claim the Brendan Drechsler Hurdle on June 24 before taking out the Grand National Hurdle at Sandown on August 7.

Dropping back 700 metres and rising 6.5kg in weight, Zanteco ploughed through the heavy conditions to score by six lengths from the $2.50 favourite Tremec (NZ) (Zabeel) with Gold Medals (NZ) (Elvstroem) 3-1/2 lengths away third.

"He's become a good money earner this horse," Weir said.

"He's put together three feature races in a row now so we'll probably give him a break and look to next year."

Weir said Zanteco would be given a shot early in the jumps season at the Galleywood Hurdle at Warrnambool's May carnival, a race the trainer won this year with Gingerboy (Elvstroem) who finished at the tail of the field on Sunday.

Brad McLean has been aboard Zanteco for his past two victories and said the key to Zanteco was getting him to switch off and jumping well.

Zanteco did his part by relaxing at the tail of the field and then moving forward before the turn.

McLean was a little worried Zanteco may have got to the front too soon but he said he just helped the eight-year-old through the ground with his big weight.

"He was brilliant today," McLean said.

"He galloped through that ground like it was good ground."

CONSISTENT MARE GETS HER REWARD AT ELLERSLIE

Consistency was rewarded in the last race of the day at Ellerslie on Saturday as handy mare Persuasive (NZ) (Darci Brahma) finally put another victory on the board following a winless drought that stretched nearly two years.

The now six-year-old had looked a galloper of real class during the early stages of her career where she tallied three wins from her first eight starts. A combination of bad luck and a wind operation blunted some of that early promise however she had continued to pay her way through a series of placed efforts.

Saturday's rating 85 1200 metre contest looked a prime opportunity to right the ship with the mare aided by a three kilogram claim from apprentice Sam Weatherley and so it proved as she managed to fend off the attentions of stablemate Secret Spirit (NZ) (Swiss Ace) to notch a deserved victory.

"She is a very genuine mare who tries her heart out," noted co-trainer Lance O'Sullivan.

"She has probably reached her mark so we just have to try and place her right. Getting the claim with Sam was the key on Saturday as 51kilograms was a luxurious weight to carry and made the difference in the end.

"She has a very short sprint and having had a wind operation it can make it tough to get the air she needs but Sam held her up nicely and she finished off well."

O'Sullivan was also pleased with the performance of the runner-up, Secret Spirit. The multiple stakes winning four-year-old was having her second start off a six month break following an unplaced run in the Gr. 1 One Thousand Guineas at Riccarton.

"She had a tough run on a very wet track first up so it was nice to see her bounce back like that," he said.

"She is getting fitter all the time and while the tracks still have give in them she will be competitive in the right grade."

O'Sullivan and training partner Andrew Scott will now turn their attention to the first day of the Hawkes Bay spring carnival this Saturday where former Hong Kong galloper

Willie Cazals (Aussie Rules) will line-up as he prepares to tackle the Gr. 1 Livamol Classic later in the carnival.

"We were delighted with his first-up run at Te Rapa so it's really a matter now of getting as many races into him as we can before the last day at Hawkes Bay," he outlined.

"He will go to Hawkes Bay this Saturday and then possibly to Awapuni a fortnight later but that will depend on the track being drier than it is at present. We are also considering the Counties meeting on the 18th of September as an option if Awapuni doesn't suit.

"Being a nine-year-old we just need to get him racing to get his fitness levels to peak before we tackle the Livamol Classic."

HAWTIN ON THE BOARD FROM NEW BASE

Trainer Brendon Hawtin was quick to admit he was feeling the pressure before racing kicked off at New Plymouth on the weekend.

Hawtin recently moved into the Cambridge property formerly occupied by successful couple Trent Busuttin and Natalie Young but had yet to post a winner from his new base. Keen to make his mark from the new surroundings Hawtin was hopeful his progressive galloper Dynamo (NZ) (Fully Fledged) could break through for him and he got what he wished for, courtesy of some magic from rider Hayden Tinsley.

Despite being a touch slow from the gates Tinsley soon had the rugged five-year-old settled nicely on the fence behind the early speed set by race favorite New York Minute (NZ) (Iffraaj). Things started to look a little tight for the combination as they approached the home turn behind a wall of horses, however Tinsley didn't panic as he eased his mount through a gap one off the fence and forged to the front.

Under a hands and heels ride over the last 100 metres Dynamo repelled a strong challenge from fellow Cambridge galloper Girlsarebackintown (NZ) (Murtajill) to score comfortably by a long neck at the line.

"That was a big relief to say the least," remarked Hawtin after the race.

"I had put plenty of pressure on myself to get things up and running as quickly as possible from the new stable so that win is very welcome."

Hawtin had been confident he had his charge in the right condition to challenge for the victory, his third from his last six starts.

"He has really strengthened up for this campaign and has been very consistent for the most part all the way through," he said.

"We did some tinkering with his gear including putting the visor blinkers on him which seems to have worked the oracle. When he got beaten at Ruakaka back in June he didn't get going until they had gone past him so we changed things up and since then he has won twice.

"It was also a beautiful ride from Hayden as he got him a great position during the run and then didn't panic when it got a little tight in the home straight."

Hawtin was also quick to pay tribute to Busuttin who phoned him directly after the race.

"Trent was on the phone straight after the race to congratulate me which was a really special gesture," he said.

"I think he was just as keen to see me get that first win as I was."

Hawtin is of the belief that Dynamo is still to reach his ultimate potential and will concentrate on placing him through the grades before tackling some of the feature winter events next season. – NZ Racing

McCULLUM MAKES IT TWO FROM TWO AT NEW PLYMOUTH

Co-owner and breeder Emma McKeon is hopeful that exciting galloper McCullum (NZ) (Shinko King) will grow out of his penchant for finding trouble on and off the track as soon as possible.

The dashing Shinko King gelding remained unbeaten after producing a convincing display over 1200 metres in rating 65 company at New Plymouth on Saturday and then immediately threw a scare into his camp by jumping through the front of the winners tie-up stall when being unsaddled.

Other than ruffling the feathers of his jockey, strapper and the nearby television crew the gelding was thankfully unscathed as he looks to further his burgeoning record in the near future.

"I'm glad I didn't see what happened after the race as he just seems to be able to find a way to get himself in trouble," joked a relieved McKeon.

"He has had a number of problems right from day one, most of which he has caused himself.

"We thought we might sell him after he won his first trial but he hurt himself so had to take time off. He then won another trial and we went to take him to the races but he was sore walking on the truck and we found he had a shoulder fracture so we had to tip him out again.

"I remember at one stage he had about three months in his box and as soon as we put him in his paddock he popped himself over the fence tape like a showjumper which is not really the type of thing you want to see after an injury like he had."

McKeon races the gelding with her husband Gavin, father David Read and family friend Steve Cross, the quartet having bred him from Danroad mare Emma's Dilemma (NZ) who they also owned and raced.

"His mother was a very promising type who won her first

McCullum is all determination as he heads to the winning post race but then went amiss and didn't really kick on after that," she noted.

"He seems to have inherited her ability which is very exciting as we did think she could have gone on to better things.

"We are not in any rush with him and I'm not really sure where Ralph (Manning) wants to go with him so we are just going to enjoy it as it comes."

WALKER'S NEWCOMER SHOWS TRUE GRIT

Dream Comes True (NZ) (Alamosa) bounced back from a quiet debut to get right on the money at his next start on Sunday.

A barrier trial winner in New Zealand, the Alamosa three-year-old went on to win two more at Kranji, auguring well for a good career start. He may not have scored when backed off the map to start as the even-money favourite in a Restricted Maiden race over 1100m on July 29, but was far from disgraced when finishing fourth.

With all the attention cast on Daniel Meagher's "namesake" debutant Super Dan (NZ) (Darci Brahma) and promising colt Sir Isaac (Dream Ahead) at his next run in Sunday's $75,000 Esplanade Park Stakes (1200m), Dream Comes True had slipped a little under the radar this time.

Even during the race, Dream Comes True was hardly noticed from the get-go. Upon jumping from his wide gate, he was dropped back to the rear by jockey Manoel Nunes and just ambled along with the early leaders not too far out of reach.

In the home straight, Sir Isaac was being hailed the winner when he swept past race-leader Super Dan to hit the front with a spirited burst. He had, however, not reckoned with Dream Comes True's brilliant turn of foot inside the last furlong, coupled with Nunes' perseverance.

Dream Come True and Manoel Nunes score handsomely at Kranji

The Mark Walker-trained gelding looked like he was left with too much to do at the 300m, but switching across heels from the inside rails, he started to gather steam as he worked his way towards daylight, and all of a sudden, he had a clear shot at Sir Isaac, who was starting to get the staggers upfront. The winning post was looming fast, but Dream Comes True finished faster to nab Sir Isaac by a head on the line.

Super Dan led but weakened late to finish third another 1 ½ lengths away and will surely benefit from that first hit-out. The winning time was 1 min 10.72secs for the 1200m on the Short Course.

Nunes said in his pre-race strategy discussions with Walker, he was not keen to go forward from his wide alley.

"It was a small field. I discussed with Mark, and told him I didn't want to go forward, otherwise I may get caught three wide," said the Brazilian jockey.

"I didn't want him to go and stop as well, so I told Mark I would see how he jumps, but I preferred to ride him quiet from the back.

"He was in a good spot at the back and once he came out, he showed a very nice turn of foot. He's still learning what racing is all about and can only get better with more practice."

DRAGON SHOWS HIS MUSCLE ON TURF

A switch to turf proved to be a winning move for Iffraaj four-year-old Muscular Dragon (NZ) on Sunday.

After two creditable runs on Polytrack, Muscular Dragon passed his first test over turf with flying colours in the $65,000 Singapore Botanic Garden Stakes, an Initiation race over 1400m, on Sunday.

The Iffraaj four-year-old ran a fast-finishing second on debut, followed by an eighth to smart two-year-old Skywalk (NZ) (Battle Paint), but the switch to turf saw him quicken away with a much more devastating acceleration, albeit he was still very wayward in the home straight.

After travelling worse than midfield for regular partner Danny Beasley, Muscular Dragon coursed out four wide to improve his position and be within striking distance by the home turn.

As he flattened to the line, he looked like he would career away to an easy win but the greenness in him acted up as he laid in and lost his concentration at the 200m.

But the experienced Beasley got him to put his head down to the job, and he certainly did not shirk it in spite of his obvious rawness, in the end scoring comfortably with two lengths to spare from a vastly-improved Johnny Kongos (Orpen).

A relieved-looking Alwin Tan said Muscular Dragon brought an end to a recent run of bad luck.

"It's good for the owner (Muscular Stable) who is a newcomer. It's also a boost for me," said the current leading

"We had no winner on Friday and Black Magic bled. This winner has come at the right time.

"He ran twice on Polytrack, but he looks like he runs on better when he is on turf."

Beasley, who was riding back-to-back wins after he saluted aboard $15 favourite Lim's Casino (Casino Prince) in the previous race, said Muscular Dragon was still a big baby, but blessed with a lot of potential.

"I watched his trials in New Zealand and he was brilliant," said the Australian jockey.

"I think taking off the blinkers was also a good move. He is still not mature and not ready

"He was still very green today, especially at the home turn and in the straight, but he sure has ability. He still has a lot to learn."

RELIABLE STALWART JUST KNOWS HIS WAY HOME

Michael Rodd labelled Bring Money Home's (NZ) (Mr Nancho) winning effort as "remarkable" after he steered him to another one of his tradesman wins on Sunday.

The race looked lost when the Australian jockey was seen giving the noted one-batter a few smacks from the 800m as they started to drop back while the rest were moving the opposite way in the $80,000 Hortpark Stakes, a Class 3 race over 1600m.

But the Mr Nancho five-year-old just has this amazing knack of finding another gear when he is on the ropes.

After pinching the lead from Gold Peregrine (Intikhab) midrace, Brilliant Deal (Silent Deal) could not go on with the job upon straightening, but Chase (Nicconi) looked to have the race at his mercy when he took over at the top of the straight.

But Chase also started to shorten up at the 250m. Terms Of Reference (NZ) (Per Incanto) was at that point looking the sharpest, but Bring Money Home, that same horse who was back-peddalling had suddenly come back in full contention.

Raising another gear or two, he stuck his neck in front at the 200m, and under Rodd's strong handling, held off all comers to seal a half-length win from Terms Of Reference.

"It was a remarkable run! You just don't see that happening, especially for a horse going back at the 1600m," said Rodd, full of admiration of the gutsy win.

"I've ridden him before and he's got such a big heart. He was going nowhere at the 800m but once I started to get stuck into him, he got on the bit again.

"He was laying in but he really stuck it out. What a brave win!"

To winning trainer Tan Hor Khoon, he had no doubt who

The ever reliable Bring Money Home scores at Kranji won the race – Rodd.

"Michael is strong with the left hand and that's why we picked him for this horse," said Tan.

"He lays in all the time, and only a strong rider like Michael can get him to stay straight. I thought he was gone at the 700m, but when he started to warm up again, I knew he would be right there."

Bring Money Home has now returned in excess of $270,000 in stakes to his owners, the Happy Life Stable.
