KISS ME KETUT ALL-THE-WAY IN VAMOS STAKES

Kiss Me Ketut and Boris Thornton celebrate a Group Three victory at Launceston.

Trainer Matthew Brown and jockey Boris Thornton celebrated respective career milestones on Sunday, as brave on-pacer Kiss Me Ketut (NZ) (Danroad) delivered the goods in the Group 3 Vamos Stakes (1400m) at Launceston.

Victorian stables took the stakes double in Tasmania, and it was very nearly a double for Darren Weir and Damian Lane as Lyuba (Turffontein) finished a narrow second in the $125,000 race - the pair having earlier combined impressively to win the Tasmanian Oaks with Parthesia (NZ) (Raise The Flag).

But all honours in the Vamos went the way of Brown, 23, and Thornton, 19, via Kiss Me Ketut, who did her usual thing out in front and simply could not be chased down.

"I am thrilled that this mare has been able to win a Group race because she tries so hard and today she was at the top of her game," Brown said.

"I'm not sure how many more starts she will have, it might even be her last because she is due to head to the breeding barn and most likely this year."

Thornton rightly saluted after the winning post. A regular visitor to Tasmania, Thornton has now ridden eight winners at the track but by far, this was his biggest.

"I am so thrilled to have secured my first Group win on this mare and for Matthew (Brown) because he has been a big supporter of mine and to do it in Tasmania is a bonus because this state has played such a dominant role in my career so far," Thornton said.

"When she drew barrier one we thought we could lead and dictate the tempo and that's what happened and from there it all just fell into place."

A track upgrade just prior to the Vamos Stakes from a Slow 5 to Good 4 was just the tonic for Kiss Me Ketut, too - she's unplaced in four runs on a Slow track, while all her wins have been on a Good surface.

LANE LANDS TASMANIAN OAKS BLOW

Damian Lane produced a gun ride as Parthesia (NZ) (Raise The Flag) ended Hot Dipped's (Written Tycoon) winning streak in the Listed Tasmanian Oaks (2100m) on Sunday.

Lane, who sits fifth in the Victorian jockeys' premiership with 31 winners, continued his fine season with a genius ride aboard the Darren Weir-trained filly, who only had a maiden win to show for her first nine trips to the racetrack.

Now, she's a stakes-winning filly, after Lane plotted the demise of the $1.80 favourite Hot Dipped - who had won eight of 11 starts coming in, and was previously unbeaten in all eight starts on the Apple Isle - to perfection.

Parthesia was parked on the inside of Hot Dipped for large parts of the staying contest, but Lane did push a length in front of the race favourite at about the 800m.

Hot Dipped's hoop Bulent Muhcu got going at that point, and looped around the field and looked the winner. Lane didn't get caught napping, though, and kept a close eye on the red silks of the dominant Tasmanian filly.

Lane nearly opted to punch a run between horses on cornering, but wisely changed course and followed Hot Dipped, swallowing her up in the shadows of the post for a thrilling win.

Second favourite Wheal Leisure (Artie Schiller), the impressive filly from the Archie Alexander yard having just her fourth career start, was among the backmarkers throughout, and was last as things heated up inside the last 600m, and while never a winning threat, finished off strongly for third, beaten 0.7 of a length.

Each of the Ballarat-based gallopers Parthesia and Wheal Leisure are owned by John Richards, a Melbourne Cup-winning owner thanks to Prince of Penzance (NZ) (Pentire).

Parthesia was a $20,000 purchase from the White Robe Lodge draft at the 2015 NZB South Island Yearling & Mixed Bloodstock Sale. Selected by well known agent John Foote for the Weir stable, she is another success story for the combination and the progeny of White Robe's resident stallion Raise The Flag, with the pair having snapped up smart Caulfield winner Unfurl (NZ) for $40,000 from the equivalent sale in 2013.

PARSONS QUINELLA SOUTHLAND FEATURE

Residential (NZ) (Pins) left no doubt she is a filly on the rise when she comprehensively downed race favourite Starvoia (Starcraft) to record her second stakes victory in the Listed ILT Ascot Park Hotel Southland Guineas (1600) at Invercargill on Saturday.

The Pins filly had narrowly defeated Starvoia in the Listed Dunedin Guineas a fortnight ago with many predicting the tables would be turned on the weekend. Nobody informed Residential of that scenario as she tracked a hot speed before dashing away in the closing stages to win untouched by just on four lengths from her stablemate.

Dezzies Delight (NZ) (Coats Choice) battled on gamely for third but the first two were in a class of their own and have co-trainer Karen Parsons excited about what lies ahead for the pair.

"It was such a thrill to see them perform so well and back up their form over the past couple of months," she said.

"They are chalk and cheese in a lot of ways as Residential is a filly who is so laid back and a great doer whereas Starvoia is more the nervous type who we have battled to keep the condition on.

"I've said all along you won't see the best from them until they have another year on them so to do what they are doing now is quite special."

Parsons was quick to praise the ride of stable apprentice Gosen Jogoo

Stylish Southland Guineas winner Residential who followed instructions to the letter aboard Residential.

"Gos is on fire at present and he did everything perfectly on the filly," she explained.

"I said to him that he would need to be ahead of Starvoia on the home turn like he was at Dunedin so when he lobbed into the trail I had the feeling that he would be hard to run down. There's not a lot between them so once he got that break on Chris (Johnson) and Starvoia it was the winning of the race."

Parsons, who prepares the pair with husband John, advised they would clash again in a fortnight in the Listed NZB Insurance Stakes (1400m) at Wingatui with Starvoia likely to be sporting blinkers for the first time in the event.

UNCERTAIN WAIT FOR RITCHIE AND HIS DERBY PROSPECTS

The connections of promising three-year-old Excalibur (NZ) (Tavistock) face a nervous wait over the next 10 days before they will know if they have secured a start in the $1m Gr.1 Vodafone New Zealand Derby at Ellerslie on the 4th of March.

Trainer Shaune Ritchie thought a win in the last race at Ellerslie on Saturday would be enough for the Tavistock gelding to sneak into the Derby field as Excalibur duly obliged with a dominant performance. However the result of the Gr. 2 Retina Specialists Avondale Guineas earlier in the day has thrown a spanner in the works which could see him now sit outside the final field for the blue riband classic.

Entering Saturday's racing Excalibur sat in 21st position on the Derby order of entry with the $13,500 he won potentially leapfrogging him into the final 18 starters for the race. However with the first four home in the Guineas all now exempt from the Derby ballot he has been pushed back down the rankings and will need several above to drop out of contention.

"At this stage we thought he might just squeeze into the field provided a couple who have said they won't run do drop out," said Ritchie.

Excalibur strides clear at Ellerslie to establish his Gr. 1 Vodafone New Zealand Derby credentials

“It will get a little tougher if Gingernuts pays the late entry fee as that’s one more ahead of us. We will keep our fingers crossed as our bloke is coming right exactly when you would want and we think he is a live chance.”

Ritchie was delighted with Saturday’s performance which came off the back of a promising run for sixth in the Gr. 2 Waikato Guineas.

“He went nicely at Te Rapa in a good field so we thought he would be hard to beat dropping back in grade on Saturday,” he said.

“He has a lovely action but he does a few things wrong and wanted to knock off when he hit the front on the weekend. When the other horse came up on his inside he got back on the job pretty smartly and went to the line very strongly.

“That’s what you want to see with the Derby in mind and we know he is rock hard fit and won’t have a problem with the distance.”

One of those who has complicated the Derby picture for Excalibur is his stablemate Redeem The Dream (NZ) (Nadeem) who fought doggedly in the Avondale Guineas to secure his Derby start.

“I think he could be the real smokey in the Derby as he has been behind the eight ball so far in this campaign,” acknowledged Ritchie.

“He had some enforced time off before resuming on Karaka Million night over 1400 metres and then stepped straight up to 2100m on Saturday.

“He didn’t chuck it away when they challenged him in the Guineas and can only be better for the run. We will pour the work into him now and he will also go into the Derby as a chance in what looks a really even field.”

SPLURGE KICKS OFF TOP DAY FOR TE AKAU

Promising galloper Splurge (NZ) (Savabeel) got the day started on the right note for the powerful Te Akau Racing team at Ellerslie on Saturday when he added another victory to his burgeoning record.

The four-year-old Savabeel gelding had been an impressive winner at the track on Boxing Day before suffering an interrupted run at Trentham where he was beaten into second behind classy mare Volks Lightning (NZ) (Volksraad). Punters were keen on his chances to go one better on the weekend and they weren't disappointed as he produced a dogged finish in the hands of Danielle Johnson to claim the Ophthalmic Instrument Company sponsored rating 85 1200 metre event.

Co-trainer Jamie Richards was upbeat about the gelding's future prospects as he discussed the performance after the race.

"He continues to step up every time he comes to the races", he said.

"We thought he was a little bit stiff at Wellington last time and today he looked like he may have been in a little bit of trouble at the 600.

"He closed really strongly though which is the sign of a good horse."

Richards, who prepares the horse with training partner Stephen Autridge, indicated a step up to elite company could be the next assignment for him.

"He's only lightly raced so we think he will continue to improve," he noted.

"He could go straight to the Darley Plate but we'll just get him home and have a talk to Dave and Steve and see what we want to do."

Splurge and Danielle Johnson in winning action

Splurge was a $500,000 purchase for Te Akau boss David Ellis at the premier session of the 2014 NZB National Yearling Sale. He is the last foal of ill-fated mare Splashing Out (NZ) (O'Reilly) and a half brother to three individual winners including Packing Pins (NZ) (Pins) who has won six times in Hong Kong.

The Gr. 3 Darley Plate (1200m) is the feature sprint on the programme at Ellerslie on Saturday 4 March where the Gr. 1 Vodafone New Zealand Derby is the headline act.

LAST MINUTE DECISION THE RIGHT ONE FOR WILLIAMS

Trainer Peter Williams was the first to admit he was in two minds about whether to start progressive stayer Gravano (NZ) (Roc De Cambes) at Ellerslie on Saturday.

Williams, who prepares the gelding with wife Dawn at their Byerley Park base, acknowledged he only made the decision to start the horse on Saturday morning after being in two minds throughout the week.

The decision proved the correct one as the Roc De Cambes gelding landed plenty of good bets when he outfinished race favourite Eleonora (NZ) (Makfi) in the closing stages of the Australian Turf Club Trophy (1500). It was the four-year-old's fifth career victory from just 14 starts, with all his wins coming at Ellerslie.

"He wasn't running until this morning," said Williams.

"He was going to go to the Nathans Memorial in two weeks however I didn't have anything suitable to run him in before then so I said to the owners if it rains I will run him otherwise he will stay in his box and we will go to the Kaimai Classic (Matamata) next week.

"When it rained and Doni (Prastiyou) became available to ride him I thought why not let him go. It was a good effort to come back to 1500 metres after 2100m at his last start, he's racing really well."

The promising stayer has Williams

Gravano (outer) and Eleonora slug it out at Ellerslie looking further afield now he has strengthened into his powerful frame.

"This horse has really improved," he noted.

"He won first up as a two-year-old so we put him out and then brought him up to try and get him ready for the Derby. He just wasn't strong enough so he went out for a good spell.

"He's come back in and done a good job this season.

"He will go to the Nathans next and then we'll work it out from there. I thought a race like the Hawke's Bay Cup might suit as he can carry himself now and race handy, so those type of races are now an option for him."

The Nathans Memorial (2200m) will be run at Ellerslie on 4 March, with the Listed Hawke's Bay Gold Cup at Hastings on 15 April.

HENNESSY-BRED FILLY BECOMES OCEAN PARK'S FIRST WINNER

Cox Plate winner Ocean Park (NZ) (Thorn Park) has sired his first winner and appropriately it was bred by the stallion's trainer and former co-owner Gary Hennessy.

Beerzatbernz (NZ), a daughter of the Hennessy-owned Flying Spur mare Flying Rosa, lined up in a 1050-metre two-year-old race at Saturday's Morphettville meeting in Adelaide as second favourite after second placings in her two preparatory trials.

The Tony McEvoy-trained bay trailed on the fence and for a brief period in the home straight it appeared that she was going to be denied racing room. But after working across heels into the clear, she balanced up and put in long strides over the final stages to score by a long neck from another first starter, Per Incanto filly Uninhibited (NZ).

Between himself and Hong Kong-based Steve Yan and Andrew Wong who raced Ocean Park, they have sent a dozen mares to Ocean Park in each of the four years he has stood at Waikato Stud. Beerzatbernz, Ocean Park's third raceday starter, was sold by Hennessy for A$40,000 at last year's Melbourne Premier Sale.

"It's very satisfying to be the breeder of OP's first winner," Hennessy said. "My wife Jenny and I went looking for mares that we thought would suit him when he went to stud and this filly is from one of them.

"After Tony had bought her he commented that he thought he got her for unders, but good luck to him.

She's a lovely big scopey filly, a real Oaks type, and looking at how she won yesterday I'd say she's got a real future."

It was fitting that Ocean Park's first winner came in a weekend that also features racing at Gisborne, where the son of Thorn Park began his own racing career. He dead-heated for first in a maiden three-year-old event there in November 2011.

He went on to win another seven races including the Gr. 1 Cox Plate, Caulfield Stakes, Underwood Stakes, New Zealand Stakes and Makfi Challenge Stakes and at the end of his landmark season he was awarded the Horse of the Year title.

WALKER GRABS TRAINING HONOURS WITH FOUR-TIMER

Hidden Promise delivers as one of four winners for trainer Mark Walker during the early stages of racing at Kranji on Sunday

Mark Walker was the man in the limelight at Kranji on Sunday when he scooped up the first three races on the programme before making it a quartet of wins two races later.

With the bumper team of 31 runners flying his banner over the weekend, the 2015 Singapore champion trainer would have been disappointed if he did not visit the winner's circle at least once.

But from the first 15 to go around on Friday, none of them were able to make Walker meet the minimum quota. Luckily, he still had one race meeting to go to try and restore some pride.

Racing is a funny old game, because the stark contrast between the two days was like night and day. After firing blanks throughout the eight races two days earlier, Walker bounced straight back to winning form in quick-fire succession with Asprey (NZ) (Alamosa), Hidden Promise (NZ) (Postponed) and Nazir (NZ) (Mastercraftsman).

In one fell swoop, the Kiwi handler had sprung to the top of the trainer's premiership before extending the lead to two winners over Alwin Tan with a win by Star Strike (NZ) (Sakhee's Secret) in Race 5.

"There is no secret to the stable going great. I've got a lovely staff and I'm lucky to be racing for the right people, like John Galvin of Fortuna NZ Racing (owners of Hidden Promise), Dato Terry Lee and Teresa (owners of Asprey and Nazir) who are all people who understand the sport of kings," said Walker.

"Star Strike's owners are new to my stable, but we also need new blood in this game.

"It's great to get a win for Dato Tan Chin Nam who owns Nazir in partnership with Dato Terry. He's also a fantastic owner and I hope that win will cheer him up as he's not been in the best of health lately.

"I've won four from five races so far and I hope it continues. I sent out a big team of horses this weekend and it's good to get a few winners after the quiet Friday."

Of Hidden Promise, the second pin of his four-timer, Walker said that the Postponed four-year-old was still mentally immature, but that first win after five starts, could be a trigger to better things to come.

"He is a progressive type of horse, very slow-maturing. He wouldn't do too much at his first prep, and I gave him a freshen-up," said Walker.

"He's still very young and weak in the head, but he's shown some improvement in his work. He was all over the place, as you could see from the way he hung in badly.

"It's good to get another winner for John. David Ellis bought this one out of the Ready To Run at Karaka for John.

"He will go for a break now and hopefully, he will strengthen up further during that time."

While Hidden Promise was at his grand premiere, Nazir, a five-year-old by Mastercraftsman, was recording his third career win in the $80,000 Class 3 race over 1600m, but the first for Gerald Mosse.

"I saw some of his races on video and normally he takes a sit, but he was a bit closer to the speed this time," said the French ace who had his daughter Kimberley at the races.

"He was right behind the leader. I was not worried as I knew he had the distance, and he was running very relaxed.

"He gave a very nice kick and fought on gamely, I didn't know the horse, but he's very genuine. It's nice to have Kimberley to celebrate that winner here with me today."
