KIWIS CELEBRATE GROUP SUCCESS AT FLEMINGTON

Gr.2 Kewney Stakes winner Spanish Whisper – Bruno Cannatelli

Former New Zealand-trained filly Spanish Whisper (Lope De Vega) made a stunning return to the winner's circle on Saturday when she overcame a wide run to take out the Gr.2 Kewney Stakes (1400m) at Flemington.

The Lope De Vega filly won two of her first four starts in New Zealand, including the Gr.2 Matamata Breeders' Stakes (1200m), for co-owners Darren Brady and Daniel and Elias Nakhle before they sold a controlling interest in her to clients of David Hayes' Lindsay Park stable in Victoria.

Hayes, who trains in partnership with his son Ben Hayes and nephew Tom Dabernig, had told Daniel Nakhle that he believed the filly had returned for this campaign in better shape than in her first Australian preparation last spring where her best result was a runner-up finish in the Listed Jim Moloney Stakes (1200m) behind recent Gr.1 Australian Guineas (1600m) winner Mystic Journey (Needs Further).

“She didn’t get a lot of luck in the spring, where they seemed to want to ride her on the pace, which was against the pattern of how she performed best in New Zealand,” Nakhle said.

“They gave her a good break and have adopted a more conservative approach to her racing style which looks to be paying dividends.

“She went a really good race for second first-up and that convinced me to get on a plane and come over for Saturday and I’m sure glad that I did.

“I am paying for the decision a little bit today though as I can hardly talk above a whisper as we were cheering her on pretty hard during the race and celebrating just as much afterwards.”

Nakhle spent time on Sunday morning at the Lindsay Park operation where he reported that Spanish Whisper looked to have come through her exertions well and was looking forward to the next stage of her campaign.

“She was very bright this morning and all reports from the team are that she seems to have handled the race really well,” he said.

“I think they are going to monitor her for a few days and then decide where she goes next. The two options they are looking at could be a run over 1600m at Moonee Valley in a fortnight or a trip up to Sydney for the Coolmore Legacy Stakes (Gr.1 1600m) next month.”

Nakhle was quick to pay tribute to the staff of New Zealand Bloodstock who were instrumental in securing Spanish Whisper’s dam, Cutting Remark for him and his partners.

“We got Cutting Remark from the Patinack Farm dispersal sale thanks to the guys at NZB,” he said.

“They had taken a look at what was going through that sale and made some recommendations to us.

“We liked several of the ones they put up on the list and ended up getting two mares from the sale including Cutting Remark who was in-foal to Lope De Vega.

“Spanish Whisper was the resulting progeny so we wouldn’t be here with her without that help that we got.

“We’ve had a Foxwedge colt out of her (Cutting Remark) along with a lovely Super Easy filly, so the win yesterday has really added some value to her sister even if she never makes it to the track.”

The only disappointment for Nakhle is that Cutting Remark missed getting in foal to champion sire Savabeel this season.

“She missed to Savabeel which is a bit of a blow, but she can have 12 months off, and we will have another go next year.”

STAKES SUCCESS FOR KIWI BRED IN SOUTH AFRICA

JML Bloodstock's Lib Petagna (right) with Bloodstock Agent Bruce Perry – Trish Dunell

New Zealand-bred two-year-old Frosted Gold (NZ) (All Too Hard) shared the spoils with Tiffany Moon (Wylie Hall) when dead-heating in the Listed Storm Bird Stakes (1000m) at Turffontein on Saturday and the undefeated colt will now step up in class.

Bred by Lib Petagna's JML Bloodstock, Frosted Gold is likely to be prepared for the Gr.1 SA Nursery (1160m) on South Africa's Champions Day by trainer Mike De Kock.

Frosted Gold was in touch with the pace early on but jockey Gavin Lerena had to work hard to keep him focused and he responded late to rally and force the dead-heat.

Frosted Gold was the stable's first juvenile winner for the 2018/19 season when won leading from start to finish in a 1000m contest at the Vaal last month and is now two from two.

"We expected Frosted Gold to outpace his rivals like he did last time and he didn't, which was surprising," De Kock's son Matthew said.

"But the good thing was that he fought back well to get a share of the win and that's encouraging. It looks like he wants a bit more ground.

"He is a smart horse who will be prepared for the Juvenile features this Autumn."

Out of the Verglas mare Mary D'Or, JML Bloodstock sold a Tavistock half-brother to Frosted Gold at the recent New Zealand Bloodstock National Yearling Sales through Blandford Bloodstock, the Matamata-based breeding operation owned in conjunction with the Bax family.

The Tavistock colt fetched a bid of $50,000 to the bid of Ohukia Lodge and will likely be re-offered at the New Zealand Bloodstock Ready to Run Sale later this year.

ECHUCA DEE-LIGHT FOR KIWI JOCKEY

It wasn't an Australian Cup or Newmarket Handicap win, but Michael Dee was happy to get away with one of the feature races run over the Victorian Labour Day weekend.

The Kiwi jockey partnered the Mick Price-trained Heptagon (NZ) (Jimmy Choux) to a dominant win in Sunday's $100,000 Echuca Cup (1400m).

Dee had been out of the winner's stall since partnering a winning double at Launceston on February 27, and hadn't ridden a winner in Victoria since February 17, and was thrilled to get home aboard the $1.90 favourite.

"I've been a little while out of the winner's circle of late, but it's good to get one, especially here on Echuca Cup day."

Dee and Heptagon were able to overcome some anxious moments on the home turn to score a commanding 3.25-length win.

The son of Jimmy Choux, who has now won seven of 18 starts, defeated Fox Hall (Foxwedge), who finished 2.25 lengths in advance of third placegetter Malaise (Helmet).

It was Heptagon's fourth win at 1400m and Dee said it was only a matter of getting the split he needed early in the home straight.

"I was always travelling like the winner and we just had to wait for the run to open," Dee said.

"Luckily enough the run came back towards the inside and, geez, he sprinted well when he got through that gap. (After that) it was never in doubt."

DAWN PATROL READY TO RESUME

Progressive three-year-old Dawn Patrol (NZ) (Dawn Approach) showed he is ready to return to the racetrack after producing a stylish display over 1000m at the Rotorua trials last Tuesday.

The Dawn Approach gelding missed a start in the Karaka Million 3YO Classic (1600m) at Ellerslie in late January due to the effects of a virus, with trainer Frank Ritchie adopting a cautious approach with his stable star.

“He just wasn’t one hundred percent for Ellerslie, so we backed off him rather than risk completely flattening him,” Ritchie said.

“His blood just wasn’t right and he has had a few little niggles since, so we have just taken him along quietly to this point.

“The trial was really to see where he was at and he certainly impressed plenty of people who were on hand to watch it.”

Allowed to settle back off a hot speed set by Staccato (NZ) (Swiss Ace), rider Michael McNab angled to the outside on the home corner where Dawn Patrol hit top gear in a couple of strides before cruising to the line under a strangle-hold to win by a conservative four lengths.

“We know he has a real turn of foot and it was good to see him show that without any pressure being put on him,” Ritchie said.

“I think he has matured during the break and he is very forward to resume.”

Ritchie will throw his charge in the deep end for his raceday return with the Gr.2 Norwood Family Wellington Guineas (1400m) at Trentham this coming weekend his immediate target.

“We think he is far better suited going left-handed so the Wellington Guineas was the obvious target for him,” he said.

“If he performs well there then we will look at where he can go next with Australia a definite option.

“I think he would be suited to a roomy track like Randwick or Eagle Farm but it might be best to look at Melbourne so we can keep him going left-handed.”

Ritchie was also encouraged by the performance of Gr.1 New Zealand 2000 Guineas (1600m) winner Madison County (NZ) (Pins), who charged home to finish an eye-catching fourth behind star colt The Autumn Sun (Redoute’s Choice) at Randwick on Saturday.

“It was great to see Madison County go so well on the weekend as we finished second to him in the 2000 Guineas, so it provides some sort of measuring stick for our Australian chances,” he said.

“When he beat us in the Guineas, we were still on a steep learning curve so if the improvement Dawn Patrol has shown lately can be translated into performance, then I think he can be competitive in Melbourne.”

WAITING GAME FOR SWORD IN STONE

Trainer Lauren Brennan is playing the waiting game with promising three-year-old Sword In Stone (NZ) (Redwood) as she contemplates where to next with the Gr.2 Waikato Guineas (2000m) placegetter.

The Redwood gelding is currently under offer for a potential sale to overseas interests which means Brennan's plans are in limbo until that process has been completed.

"He is under offer and we are just waiting to hear back after completing the vetting process," she said.

"Obviously if the sale goes through then he will be on his way, but if it doesn't then we are looking at where to go with him next.

"I think the Queensland Winter carnival is the best option so we will work out a plan on what he has to do to get there from where we are now."

Should the Brisbane plan become a reality, Brennan is mindful that her charge will need to lift his prizemoney earnings to gain a start in the key three-year-old races on offer.

"We would look to run him in the Rough Habit Plate (Gr.3, 2000m) and then the Queensland Derby (Gr.1, 2400m) but at the moment he wouldn't have enough money in the bank to qualify," she said.

"There are two nice races at Ellerslie coming up so they would be our immediate targets. There is a three-year-old mile on March 30 and then the Championship Stakes (Gr.2,

Sword In Stone could be set for a Queensland Winter Carnival campaign should a proposed sales deal not proceed - Trish Dunell 2100m) in April so if he could get a win there it would set him up nicely."

Regardless of what happens over the next few weeks, Brennan is still coming to terms with the disappointment of Sword In Stone missing a start in the Gr.1 New Zealand Derby (2400m) despite being stakes-placed in his final lead-up run.

"I was gutted he didn't get into the race and I'm still feeling it now," she said.

"He was cherry ripe for the race and had drawn perfectly in barrier one. He would probably have enjoyed a lovely, economical run on the fence and I think he would have proved very competitive.

"To be Group Two placed and still only second on the ballot doesn't seem right as I definitely think he should have made the field.

"We can't change it now though, so we have to look forward with him."

SANDRINE PROVES TOO TOUGH IN ELLERSLIE SLOG

A mud-spattered Cameron Lammas completed an early raceday double in the worst of the conditions at Ellerslie on Saturday when he guided promising mare Sandrine (NZ) (Savabeel) home in the second race of the day.

Having taken the opening event on Spindle (NZ) (Pins), Lammas produced a gem of an effort on the Team Rogerson-trained Sandrine as he navigated a path through the water-logged track in the 1600m contest that was run in the middle of a heavy downpour.

Lammas had the Savabeel four-year-old trucking along nicely under her own steam as he trailed his six rivals before angling wide in search of better ground in the home straight. Although not appearing to be completely happy in the going, Sandrine bravely lengthened stride to surge past race favourite Podravina (NZ) (Bel Esprit) in the final 100m to claim victory.

A somewhat dishevelled Lammas admitted he hadn't been confident at any stage of the contest as his mount struggled in the going.

"She was great as she wasn't travelling that good in the (heavy) track," he said.

"She didn't really like it and it wasn't until I came out (wide), that she has just kept finding for me."

Co-trainer Debbie Rogerson was delighted with how the mare had progressed in this campaign as she sets her sights on a possible Group One assignment next month.

"She was really hard and fit as we ran her today to make sure she was up to this grade," she said.

"I don't think she liked the track conditions but he (Lammas) rode her superbly, coming to the best part of the track.

"She's a lot more mature now and we will definitely look at the big mare's race at Te Aroha for her.

"She deserves a go as a four-year-old, although I think next season she will go a lot further."

Rogerson was referring to the Gr.1 Fiber Fresh New Zealand Thoroughbred Breeders' Stakes (1600m) at Te Aroha on April 6.

Bred and raced by Joan Egan, Sandrine is the daughter of Anabaa mare, Klarissa and hails from an extended pedigree that includes Group One winners Bonanova (NZ) (Star Way), Fraternity (NZ) (Star Way) and Telesto (NZ) (Star Way).

SACRED CROIX MAKES IT THREE IN A ROW

Sacred Croix (NZ) (Savabeel) continues to live up to the early promise shown with a third win in a row at Kranji on Sunday.

Trainer Mark Walker for one had always thought highly of the Savabeel four-year-old, and the current winning streak has certainly given the Kiwi handler even more food for thought about loftier ambitions.

“He’s by Savabeel. I hope he’ll end up a Derby horse,” said Walker.

There are still over four months to go before the Group 1 Singapore Derby (1800m) is run on July 21, with Walker mindful he needs to pad up his rating further, but in a timely and smart way at the same time.

“I discussed with (assistant-trainer) Gus (Clutterbuck) on the way down and we may give him one more run before we put him aside and think about the Derby,” he said.

“I hope he does not get too many points today. He didn’t beat much, anyway.

“It’s hard to win three in a row in Singapore, more so when today, he was stopped in his tracks and he had to pick himself up.

“He also had 58.5kgs on his back. It was a very good effort.

“A big thank you to Dato Yap (Kim San of Raffles Racing Stable) who has been a big supporter of Singapore racing for a long time. They deserve all the success coming their way.”

Sacred Croix wins his third in a row at Kranji

Sacred Croix’s treble feat was also owed in a large measure to his partner at all three victories, jockey Benny Woodworth, whose newfound association with Walker seems to have gained further traction since their Group 1 Dester Singapore Gold Cup triumph with Elite Invincible (Archarcharch) last November.

The Malaysian jockey had Sacred Croix in a perfect spot behind the speed in transit, but he had to switch to Plan B when the runs did not come up as expected in the home straight.

“We were sitting in the box-seat behind two horses and travelling well, but at the top of the straight, the leader was not moving and I had to wait and wait,” said Woodworth.

“I had to come off heels, and luckily, he quickened very fast. He showed a very good turn of foot.”

With that third success, Sacred Croix has already returned close to $60,000 in stakes money to the Raffles Racing Stable.

ANOTHER BRILLIANT LAST-GASP WIN TO THE COLLECTION

Champion galloper Debt Collector (NZ) (Thorn Park) overcame all the odds stacked up against him to prevail in a thrilling finish to the $100,000 Class 1 race over 1400m on Sunday.

Resuming against top-notch gallopers who already had a few runs under the belt, the 2016 Singapore Horse of the Year was also giving weight to the vast majority of his 11 rivals.

And on the Long Course E, the timing of the run for the noted backmarker had to be spot-on.

Regular partner Michael Rodd, who can probably ride the Thorn Park six-year-old blindfolded, was equal to the task.

Dropped back to his customary rearward spot, Debt Collector, whose last run came in his Queen Elizabeth II Cup (1800m) win in October, only got on his bike at the 700m as Rodd flicked on the afterburners to launch him on his usual warpath around the outskirts.

Upfront, the win looked up for grabs when race-leader Forever Young (Run Away And Hide) started to show weary legs at the 400m.

For a few seconds, Countofmontecristo (NZ) (Echoes Of Heaven) seemed to be holding sway, but those familiar pink colours of Debt Collector were again looming more ominously than ever on the grandstand side.

With the two leading protagonists poles apart across the E Course, you needed laser vision to split them, but the momentum – and racing Gods - were in the corner of that bombproof customer yet again – as it has been on 10 previous occasions.

Superlatives were again flowing freely at the winner's circle, but trainer Cliff Brown was as usual doing his best to keep his emotions in check.

"This horse means the world to me. He is a dream to train," said the Australian handler.

"He's just remarkable. He's come back bigger and stronger and he did it with 59kgs on his back first-up.

"There were some very good horses like Countofmontecristo, Elite Invincible, Blizzard he had to give weight today, but he still came through.

"Still, it was quite a hard run and we have to be very careful with what we do next with him."

Debt Collector's outstanding record now stands at 11 wins, two seconds and two thirds from 22 starts for stakes earnings in excess of $2.8 million for the Barree Stable of Mr Glenn Whittenbury, who was on hand to see his pride and joy race.

Debt Collector is a product of Windsor Park Stud and was purchased out of their draft at the 2014 National Yearling Sale before making his way to Brown's stable after the trainer outlaid $120,000 for him at the New Zealand Bloodstock Ready To Run Sale later that year.
