AUSTRALIAN CUP VICTORY A SWEET RESULT FOR CARTER FAMILY

John Carter leads in Humidor after Saturday's Gr. 1 Australian Cup

The achievement of a well executed plan is certainly cause to celebrate so there was little wonder that Aucklander John Carter was feeling a little worse for wear less than 24 hours after enjoying his first Group One win on Australian soil.

Carter, who along with brother Mark and sister Rachael comprise the Jomara Bloodstock team, was on hand at Flemington on Saturday to cheer home Humidor (NZ)

(Teofilo) the horse they bred and still share in the ownership of, as he stormed to victory in the Gr. 1 Australian Cup.

Touted as a Group One performer of the future after just a handful of starts in New Zealand, Humidor overcame a strong on-pace bias on the day to down a quality line-up and notch his first elite level victory. Notorious for some wayward tendencies during his races Humidor put his best foot forward as he downed last year's Caulfield Cup winner Jameka (Myboycharlie) in a thrilling finish.

The result was another feather in the cap of master conditioner Darren Weir who had Humidor enter his team in November last year after the Carters sold a 50 per cent share in the horse to a group of Weir's stable clients. Weir has played a patient game with the four-year-old Teofilo gelding who now looks as if he could become a major player at the upcoming Sydney autumn carnival.

Not that Carter and his siblings are looking too far ahead, content to let Weir work his magic as they enjoy the ride.

"To be fair I'm feeling a little dusty," admitted Carter as he made his way to the airport to catch a flight back to New Zealand on Sunday morning.

"It's not often in this game you get to celebrate like that so I think we made the most of it. It was just a magical moment and fantastic to be a part of. We've been lucky enough to win a Group One in New Zealand with Luna Rossa but to get a big one like this on Australian soil is just at another level."

Carter, who flew to Melbourne on the morning of the race, admitted he hadn't really enjoyed the build-up to the race during the day.

"While it's a great feeling when you win, the nerve-racking wait for the race during the day isn't something I really enjoy. It didn't help that the early races were mostly won off the front as we knew our guy needs the rail and time to settle in his races so he was going to get back and make it hard for himself.

"To Darren and Damian's (Lane) credit they stuck to the tactics that work best for the horse. I think in the end he was the only horse to win from the back all day so that makes it a pretty special performance."

While Carter and his family are delighted with the performances of Humidor they are also mindful of the positive effect the victory will have on future progeny of his dam Zalika (NZ) (Zabeel).

"Zalika currently has a Makfi colt at foot who is a grouse little fella," he said.

"She is back in Cambridge and is currently in foal to Shooting To Win. We tried hard to get her in foal to Teofilo again but it didn't happen however we will be sending her back to him later this year.

"We don't have a filly from her as we sold her first daughter before this guy hit his straps so we are keen to see if we can get another filly to keep her maternal side going."

Carter advised that Weir would be making the decision on where Humidor would be seen next but a tilt at the Gr. 1 BMW Stakes later this month is now a distinct possibility.

TAVAGO BACK IN BUSINESS

Tavago bounces back to winning form at Rosehill

He's back. That is the word from Cranbourne trainer Trent Busuttin who, with Natalie Young, trains Saturday's Gr.3 Sky High Stakes winner Tavago (NZ) (Tavistock).

The Cambridge Stud product bounced back from a debilitating illness which steamrolled his spring campaign with a convincing three and a quarter length win over another former Kiwi, Antonio Giuseppe (NZ) (Shocking) at Rosehill. It was the latter's first defeat at Rosehill and the pair now share favouritism for the Sydney Cup.

It has been a long time between drinks for his connections as the Gr.1

ATC Derby winner spent a lengthy period in the spelling paddock after a disappointing run in the Underwood Stakes last September.

"It was too bad to be true and we found we had a sick horse on our hands. He went into the paddock feeling very sorry for himself," Busuttin said.

Having already taken the gelding's first time owners to the heights of Group One success Busuttin did not relish the task of telling them that their Derby hero was going to miss the spring carnival while he recovered.

"They were great," he said. "They copped it on the chin and sat back and let us do our thing and they are getting the rewards now."

Tavago was purchased by first time owner Craig Oldfield and his partner Pam Hatchard after being caught up in the excitement while watching the 2014 yearling sales coverage on TV.

They had initially asked a friend to enquire about an earlier lot which was passed in. With that lot already having found a home, Cambridge Stud's Marcus Corban suggested the son of Tavistock and the Stravinsky mare Sara Ann as another option.

"They asked me to come and have a look at him and I liked him," Busuttin recalled.

Busuttin then had a lengthy phone conversation with Oldfield, who he had not previously met as he convinced the first time owner to take a punt.

"I told him he was a nice horse at a good price," Busuttin said.

While Oldfield and Hatchard maintained the majority shareholding in the horse they convinced a couple of friends Keith Banks and Ross Taylor, to join them in the ownership.

It was far from immediate success and the rookie owners might have been left scratching their heads after Tavago's first four trials.

"He was unplaced in each of them and they were moderate at best," Busuttin recalled.

"To be fair we knew he would be a staying type but he was a very, very average track worker," he said.

Once he got to the races though he was another horse, his debut second placing quickly followed by a win over 1600m at Te Rapa.

"He was just one of those horses which switched on for race day,"

Busuttin said.

Next up he tackled black type with a trip to Otaki and the Gr.3 Wellington Stakes.

Oldfield and Hatchard had recently returned from an extended overseas trip so it was the first time they were on hand to watch their pride and joy.

"He won by a head and was very impressive so we decided to press forward towards the NZ Derby," Busuttin said.

An unlucky third in the Karaka Mile which saw him hampered in the straight and then only go down by a nose and a head was followed by a diabolic run in the Waikato Guineas.

"He ran a very bad last and jarred up so we had to patch him up to get him to the New Zealand Derby," Busuttin recalled.

"He was slow away and wouldn't stretch out for the first half of the race but he rattled home with amazing sectionals."

It is now history that the Tavistock gelding was back to his best by the time the Australian Derby rolled around and, with Sydney delivering a wet track he was a convincing three and quarter length victor over subsequent Caulfield Cup winner Jameka (Myboycharlie).

"Coming into last spring there was a question mark over his form and there was talk about him being a wet track horse," Busuttin said.

"His big wins have been on wet tracks and he genuinely enjoys the cut out of the ground but he can perform on a dead track."

The nature of Saturday's win though was enough to convince Busuttin that Tavago is back to his best and to begin tentatively looking towards a spring campaign in Melbourne. Before that though, there is the small matter of the A$1.5m BMW and A$2m Sydney Cup to get through.

"We're on the top of our game now and if we continue to improve and get conditions to suit in the BMW then I wouldn't be swapping him for any other horse in the field."

OAKS DREAM BECOMES A REALITY

Dreamcrafter (NZ) (Mastercraftsman) has come a long way in a short time with her first preparation to be capped by an appearance at the highest level.

The Matamata three-year-old will end her first campaign in this Saturday's Gr.1 Wellfield New Zealand Oaks (2400m) at Trentham.

The well-related Dreamcrafter was out of the money on debut in the spring, the only time she has failed to return a cheque, and her next five appearances were rewarded with two wins and three placings.

Trained by Mike Moroney and Pam Gerard, the daughter of Mastercraftsman then confirmed her spot in the Oaks with a last-start second behind Eleonora (NZ) (Makfi) in the Gr.2 Sunline Vase.

"She's a very brave and honest filly, who has done extremely well this preparation," Ballymore Stables' racing manager Nick Fairweather said.

"She was really good last time out to finish runner-up behind the best filly in the country. She's come through the race extremely well.

"She has improved with each run and she'll have a go at the Oaks and then go for a deserved break."

Gr. 1 Wellfield New Zealand Oaks contender Dreamcrafter

Dreamcrafter is from the family of the Gr.1 VRC Derby winner Amalfi (NZ) (Carnegie) and the Gr.1 Caulfield Cup placegetter Vigor (NZ) (O'Reilly) and her connections are confident she will cope with the classic distance of 2400 metres at Trentham.

"She can get a little bit keen, but the Oaks is usually a genuinely run race and that's what she needs," Fairweather said.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Werther leaps up world rankings

An international rating of 118 has Tavistock's son Werther (NZ) straight back inside the world's top 15 ranked racehorses.

After a long injury break, reigning Hong Kong Horse of the Year Werther bounced straight back into winning form with a gutsy performance to claim last month's Gr.1 Citi Hong Kong Gold Cup (2000m) at Sha Tin.

Werther was ranked equal third in the world after he won the Gr.1 Queen Elizabeth II Cup by 4½ lengths last year, following his Gr.1 Hong Kong Derby triumph.AAP

PLENTY AHEAD FOR MAIDEN WINNER

Co-trainer Graeme Rogerson believes a recent trip away for racing on the east coast circuit around Gisborne and Wairoa has been the making of Saturday's impressive Hawera maiden winner Make Me Achiever (NZ) (Makfi).

The leggy four-year-old notched his first success at just his sixth attempt when he out-muscled his rivals over 1400 metres on the weekend. The win came off the back of a tidy run for second at Wairoa with Rogerson certain the Makfi gelding is now ready to make his way through the grades.

"He went really well on the east coast without winning one," he said.

"That trip did him the world of good as he's been a different horse since he got home. He's still very green and showed a bit of that on Saturday but he's learning all the time and I think he's ready to step up to the better grades now.

"He's out of the good mare Bella Renza that I trained so he has the breeding on his side. Once he gets over more ground I think he could be a very good horse."

Bella Renza (NZ) (Van Nistelrooy) won seven races for Rogerson including the Listed Westbury Classic (1400m) while she also finished fourth in the Gr. 1 Waikato Draught Sprint (1400m) behind dual New Zealand Horse of the Year, Mufhasa (NZ) (Pentire).

Meanwhile Rogerson and wife Debbie are looking forward to Saturday's Gr. 1 Wellfield New Zealand Oaks (2400m) where they will line-up three-year-old filly Date Night (NZ) (Savabeel) as one of the favourites for the event.

"Date Night has come through her run at Ellerslie last week in great style and she's ready to run a bold race in the Oaks," he noted.

"She didn't have a lot of luck at Ellerslie where it was really a sit sprint affair and she had to make her run from well back. She's been competitive against the fillies all the way through and we think she can go another bold race on Saturday."

The promising Make Me Achiever drives hard for a victory at Hawera

Rogerson also indicated a decision on the immediate programme of Gr. 3 Mongolian Khan Trophy winner Ferrando (NZ) (Fast 'N' Famous) would be made in the next few days.

"I've been having a think about what's best for him and we'll probably make a decision early in the week," he said.

"I'm quite keen to take him to the Wellington Guineas at Trentham this Saturday and then over to Australia after that.

"We have been thinking about the TJ Smith at Randwick but that might be a little too soon for him. There's another nice race, the Arrowfield Stakes, on the 8th of April plus one in Adelaide in May that might also suit him better.

"I think he is definitely a Group One horse, it's just a matter of time until he gets there."

PLENTY TO SMILE ABOUT FOR COWAN

Apprentice Kate Cowan wore a smile that lit up the gloom at Hawera on Saturday when she landed her first career winner aboard the Aidan Schumacher trained Kolee (NZ) (Shinko King).

The softly spoken 23 year-old was having just her 11th raceday ride and produced a polished display to land the four-year-old mare a narrow but decisive winner in the Tree Awareness Maiden (1600m). Despite making a somewhat tardy beginning Cowan soon had Kolee positioned nicely in midfield as the field made their way to the halfway mark in the contest.

With Kolee travelling sweetly Cowan angled her into the clear to make a swooping run to challenge for the lead approaching the home corner. Local runner Skuffle (NZ) (Duelled) took over early in the home straight but under a steady hands and heels ride Kolee responded to the challenge to gain the edge in the final stages.

Cowan, who is the daughter of well known former top jumps rider and now trainer Alex "Snooky" Cowan, was naturally delighted with the victory.

"It was absolutely outstanding, the feeling is just so surreal," she explained when questioned after the race.

"She didn't jump too well as she kind of bounded out of the gates. I was supposed to ride her a little handier so I thought I'd better get going which I'm glad I did as she had such a good kick."

Cowan also had the perfect response when questioned about the smile on her face in the concluding stages of the race.

"I think it might have been a grit of the teeth rather than a smile," she laughed.

It was a red letter day for Cowan, who is apprenticed to Wanganui master trainer Kevin Myers, as she finished second on evergreen galloper Nashville (NZ) (Darci Brahma) along with placing third on Sardeen (NZ) (Nadeem) with her only other rides on the programme.

MAJOR TOM IS RIGHT ON THE MONEY AGAIN

Favourite Major Tom (NZ) (Darci Brahma) did not let his punters down with a gallant win in the $75,000 Novice race over 1400m on Sunday.

Victorious for the first time at his fourth outing, the Mark Walker-trained galloper was considered a top chance to double the dose, even if the field comprised many other promising sorts. Major Tom did oblige, but it was far from being a cosy run to the line, especially the last two furlongs. The $13 top pick gave the impression he would walk in when jockey Shafiq Rizuan was seen barely moving a muscle as he was peeled out three wide at the top of the straight to draw on level terms with Mekanani (Black Tide), the Japanese filly who beat him two starts back.

But Mekanani proved harder to shake off than first thought. Under rider Derreck David's urgings, she rallied again, and for a second, the tables looked as though they might not be turned, but Shafiq was in an unrelenting mood as he punched his mount right out to prevail by a short head at the wire.

Walker praised Shafiq for a positive ride on Major Tom, and was glad the Fortuna NZ Racing Stable-owned galloper had scored again even if he was not the finished article yet.

"It was a good positive ride from Shafiq. He bided his time and they duly scored even if it was not by a big margin," said the current leading trainer who added another win later with Clutha Lad (NZ) (Thorn Park) to sit on 21 winners, two clear of reigning champion Alwin Tan.

Major Tom scores narrowly but well at Kranji

"When you look at him in the parade ring, he's still a big burly horse. We haven't really tightened the screws on him but he certainly has a lot of upsides."

Walker does have the Singapore Three-Year-Old Challenge in mind for the son of Darci Brahma but cautioned he would need to keep going through his grades to earn a berth.

"He will not run in the first Leg (Sprint over 1200m), he will go to the 1400m and 1600m Legs," he said.

"But he has to peak at the right time for these races."

The Group 2 Singapore Three-Year-Old Classic (1400m) is due on April 14 while the Group 1 Singapore Guineas (1600m) will be run a month later on May 14.
