BONNEVAL CLAIMS ANOTHER G1 IN UNDERWOOD

Bonneval makes it two-for-two in her Australian campaign with a scintillating victory in the Gr. 1 Underwood Stakes

New Zealand mare Bonneval (NZ) (Makfi) has joined Humidor (NZ) (Teofilo) at the head of Caulfield Cup betting following her win in the Underwood Stakes at Caulfield.

Sunday's victory gave trainer Murray Baker, who now trains in partnership with Andrew Forsman, his fourth victory in the Group One race over 1800m.

Ridden by Hugh Bowman, Bonneval scored by a length from the well-backed favourite Hartnell (Authorized) with Gailo Chop (Deportivo) a short head away third.

The Underwood was Bonneval's seventh win from 10 starts with her past six in succession, all in Group company.

Included in those victories were Group One wins in the New Zealand Oaks and ATC Australian Oaks, both over the Caulfield Cup distance of 2400m.

Bonneval is the $6 equal favourite for the Caulfield Cup on October 21 with Baker and Forsman potentially having three starters in the race.

Jon Snow (NZ) (Iffraaj), a winner at Moonee Valley on Friday night is comfortably in the line-up while Lizzie L'Amour (NZ) (Zabeel) is 29th in the entry order with a chance to make the 18 plus four emergencies field.

Baker said he was concerned the track may have been too firm for Bonneval on Sunday.

"We didn't know what to expect today being second-up," Baker said.

"She's still got a bit of her winter coat to lose but we thought she'd improved on her last start.

"She relaxes and she can stay. My worry today was she might feel the ground."

Baker said Bonneval would go to the Caulfield Stakes on October 14 before the Caulfield Cup, a ploy the trainer has previously used successfully.

Mongolian Khan (Holy Roman Emperor) ran third in the weight-for-age 2000m event before winning the Cup a week later in 2015.

Bowman says the mare will be hard to beat in the Caulfield Cup but with 52.5kg, she will be running with another jockey.

"She was a dominant winner of the Oaks and is a genuine Cups contender," he said.

"I just wish I was light enough to ride her."

BEAUTY GENERATION MAKES ALL IN CELEBRATION CUP BOILOVER

Beauty Generation leads all the way to capture the Gr. 3 Celebration Cup

Beauty Generation (NZ) (Road To Rock) was drawn widest of 13 in Sunday's Gr. 3 Celebration Cup Handicap (1400m), but was sent to the lead after 200m and could not be caught under jockey Derek Leung, leading every step after that to secure a first success at stakes level.

"That was just a case of a New Zealand horse loving any cut in the ground, which he got today," said trainer John Moore after the second of consecutive Group 3 wins from his stable at the meeting.

"Originally, the instructions were to ride him back, but when Mother Nature opened the heavens up and we got a bit of cushion into the track, I said to Derek, go ahead to the lead."

Both Winner's Way (Starcraft) and New Asia Sunrise (Written Tycoon) broke alertly but soon took a hold in deference to the 17-1 outsider, who was winning in Hong Kong for the third time in eight starts.

"He jumped well from the gate and I didn't need to use too much of him to get the lead," said Leung, who was winning the first international pattern race of his career. "The others did not pressure me and the key to the win was really his stamina. He'd run in longer races last season and even though this was a drop back in trip, he had the stamina to see it out late."

Seasons Bloom (Captain Sonador) was dispatched the favourite after an easy Class 1 handicap win over 1200m on 3 September and rallied late to finish second, one and a half lengths behind the front-running winner.

"It was a fantastic run," said jockey Joao Moreira. "He had a beautiful run through, saved ground on the fence, but was just beaten by a better horse on the day."

"Looking ahead, I will speak to the owners and see if they will let me keep Beauty Generation at a mile, I think that's probably his best distance. If so, he will come back in the 1600m Group 3 later this month," said Moore, referring to the Oriental Watch Sha Tin Trophy.

Beauty Generation's win made it consecutive scores in the Celebration Cup for John Moore, having trained Joyful Trinity (Zanzibari) to success in the race a season ago. Moore partnered with Vincent Ho to land the G3 National Day Cup earlier on the card with 24/1 outsider Dashing Fellow (Duporth).

Beauty Generation was a $60,000 purchase from the Highden Park draft at the Select session of the 2014 NZB National Yearling Sale.

He commenced his career in Australia under the name Montaigne where he had seven starts that produced two wins along with a runner-up finish in the Gr. 1 Rosehill Guineas behind Tazino (NZ) (Tavistock) before finishing fourth to Preferment (NZ) (Zabeel) in the Gr. 1 The BMW.

Host Emily Murphy catches up with team behind first season sire Tazino at Westbury Stud. Aidan Rodley discusses the future of Cambridge Stud with Sir Patrick Hogan before he brings you the latest NZ thoroughbred news from around the world.

DERBY WINNER INFANTRY LANDS PANASONIC KRANJI MILE

Infantry (NZ) (Tavistock) achieved a rare Singapore Derby-Kranji Mile double after he came with a sustained run to take out the $700,000 Panasonic Kranji Mile (1600m) on Sunday.

The Tavistock five-year-old had actually not raced since his Emirates Singapore Derby (2000m) triumph back in July, meaning he pulled off the remarkable feat with no runs in between.

The last horse to do the Singapore Derby-Kranji Mile double was the Laurie Laxon-trained and Noel Callow-ridden Top Spin (Arena) in 2008.

Trainer Alwin Tan, who was at his second Panasonic Kranji

Mile win after War Affair (NZ) (O'Reilly) landed the first Leg of the Singapore Triple Crown series back in 2014, was effusive in his praise of the versatile Thai-owned galloper at the post-race celebrations.

"Full credit to my team, the jockey and also the Thai owner who keeps supporting me, and today is our lucky day," he said.

"This horse has such a big heart. Back to 1600m after the Derby, I put the blinkers back on to sharpen him up a little.

"We didn't want to force him, we didn't want him to go too hard to the front and it's paid off."

Nunes said he had a good hunch he might be on a potential winner shortly after he jumped off Infantry following his winning barrier trial on September 21.

“I’m very happy. He’s a very good horse and can run any distance from 1200m to 1800m,” said Nunes who was at his first Panasonic Kranji Mile success.

“After his trial, when I came back, I was very happy as the horse was so well. Alwin and his boys have done a good job with him.”

Tan had always believed Infantry would turn into a handy stayer even if his early career was forged over sprint races. Unsurprisingly, last year’s Singapore champion trainer is eyeing off the ultimate prize in staying races in November.

“He’ll definitely run in the Raffles Cup, and if he keeps doing well, we will look at the Triple Crown,” he said.

The second Leg of the Singapore Triple Crown series is the Raffles Cup (1800m) on October 22 while the grand final is the Dester Singapore Gold Cup (2200m) on November 12. No horse has yet to complete the Triple Crown, with Tan coming close in 2014 with War Affair sweeping the first two Legs before coming up short at the last Leg.

Bred by Sir Patrick and Lady Hogan of Cambridge Stud, Infantry was sold for $7000 as a weanling at the 2013 New Zealand Bloodstock weanling, broodmare and mixed bloodstock sale.

Infantry was later purchased out of Darrel Lang’s stable by Cambridge bloodstock agent Phill Cataldo for his Singapore owners after impressing when trialling as a two-year-old.

DEE STRIKES FIRST ELITE SUCCESS WITH SYDNEY TRIUMPH

Ex-pat kiwi jockey Michael Dee scored his biggest career victory when he kicked home the Lloyd Williams owned Foundry (Galileo) in Saturday's Gr. 1 The Metropolitan at Royal Randwick.

Dee, who commenced his career in New Zealand, rode 107 winners as an apprentice with the Kevin Myers stable before transferring to Mick Price at Caulfield in 2015. He enjoyed early success in Melbourne where his first major winner was Churchill Dancer (Churchill Downs) in the Gr. 2 Bobbie Lewis Stakes while he also won a Scone Cup on Duca Valentino (Holy Roman Emperor).

However, leading in to Saturday's meeting Dee had yet to taste success at Group One level with his best result being a third on Allergic (Street Cry) in the corresponding event in 2016 as well as finishing runner-up on Rising Red (NZ) (Redwood) in the 2017 New Zealand Derby.

Dee was of the belief he could break his hoodoo in Saturday's contest and so it proved as he provided the former European galloper Foundry with a perfect run in transit before outstaying his rivals in the concluding stages of the 2400 metre event.

"I still can't believe it as it really hasn't sunk in yet," was Dee's reaction when questioned the day after the victory.

"I spoke to my parents straight after the race and they are pretty stoked about it as well.

"It means everything as this is what every jockey dreams of so you can't get better than that."

A natural lightweight in the saddle, Dee credits that asset as the reason for obtaining the ride on Foundry.

"Being able to ride at 50.5 kilograms was the key as Lloyd Williams' racing manager rang me and asked me if I could get to that weight," he advised

"I expected that I could do it and got to it quite easily.

"If you can ride light it opens up plenty of opportunities even at just normal Saturday meetings."

Dee is now looking forward to continuing his association with Foundry who holds nominations for both the Caulfield and Melbourne Cups.

"Going forward I don't want to be on anything else as he showed he is just a true out and out stayer," he said.

"The further he goes the better he gets."

Foundry currently sits at 59th on the order of entry for the Gr. 1 Caulfield Cup on 21 October but will move well up the rankings after his success on the weekend.

WEATHER WILL DECIDE PIKE'S GUINEAS CONTENDERS

Cambridge trainer Tony Pike will keep an eagle eye on the Hawke's Bay weather this week as he configures his runners for Saturday's Gr. 2 Sacred Falls Hawke's Bay Guineas.

With five potential candidates for the first of the season's big three-year-old events Pike is in position to dominate the contest however that scenario will change rapidly should a severely rain affected surface prevail on the day.

"We could have had five in the race but at this stage it will most likely be just the four with that changing if we strike a wet track," he explained.

"Sacred Rebel will run at Te Rapa on the Friday in a three-year-old 1200 metre race while Aim Smart will only be a runner if we get a half decent track.

"Bostonian, Haussmann and Felton Road can all handle it when it is wet so they are the most likely of the group to be running.

"At this stage I'm getting mixed reports on what the day might bring so we will just have to play it by ear and make our final decisions much closer to the day."

Pike is pleased with the improvement he has seen from each of his candidates as he heads towards a busy period with the classic contenders.

"Aim Smart and Felton Road both pulled up superbly after their runs at Ruakaka and they have come on nicely since then," he reported.

"Given the way the track played that day we didn't think we could beat Prom Queen and that's how it unfolded. Aim Smart went in to it without a trial and has improved markedly while

Cambridge trainer Tony Pike will play a major role in this weekend's Gr. 2 Sacred Falls Hawke's Bay Guineas Felton Road took plenty of benefit from the race as well.

"Haussmann was a bit of surprise packet with how he won so well first up at Hastings as we thought he might come to the end of it in the last little bit without the benefit of a trial. He does handle the wetter stuff and will appreciate a step up to the 1400 metres of the Guineas.

"Bostonian is just a real professional which he showed with his win on the first day and has pleased me with his work since then.

"It is a shame that they all have to clash so soon as I have been trying to keep them apart where possible but the wet tracks have put paid to those plans.

"The big races are coming up and we knew they would be likely to meet then so we will know a fair bit more on where they will all go after Saturday."

GUINEAS AIM FOR TALENTED ELLERSLIE WINNER

Promising three-year-old Notabadcraftsman (NZ) (Mastercraftsman) took his next step towards a start in the Gr. 1 2000 Guineas at Riccarton when he scored in determined fashion at Ellerslie on the weekend.

in late August and again caught the eye as he ploughed through a tough Heavy 11 surface to defeat the older gallopers over 1400 metres at just his second start.

Rider Jason Waddell bided his time on the Mastercraftsman gelding before angling between runners to swiftly join issue early in the run home. Notabadcraftsman and Innamincka (NZ) (Lucky Unicorn) set down to fight out the race in the closing stages with Notabadcraftsman proving too strong in the run to the line.

Trainer Craig Phelan paid tribute to Waddell after the race as he set about forming a plan to get Notabadcraftsman to Riccarton for his Group One mission.

"It was a top ride by Jason as when he was headed he angled the horse closer to Innamincka which got him going again as he could see who he was fighting against," he explained.

"That's why you put those top riders on so they can teach them about racing when they are as inexperienced as this guy is.

"He has plenty of ability but still has a lot of maturing to do as he hasn't filled out just yet so when he does we could have quite a talent to work with."

Phelan has always held his charge in high regard after receiving him from co-owners Chris Faulkner and Paul Bibby, who purchased him for $37,500 at the 2016 NZB Ready To Run Sale.

"I liked him when I first saw him and he has come on in leaps and bounds from day one," he said.

"We threw a nomination in for the 2000 Guineas based on what we had seen and he hasn't disappointed us yet.

"I know it's a long way to get to a race like that but while he is on the way up and winning you want to give him every possible chance to do it.

"He has won on pretty heavy tracks so far but Jason is of the opinion he will handle it on a better surface. You never know, we could get rain for the next two months and he might strike a heavy track at Riccarton so you have to take your chances."

Phelan will now send Notabadcraftsman to the paddock for a week before deciding on his next assignment on the road to Riccarton.

THE NAMESBOND SCORES FEATURE WIN AT FAVOURITE VENUE

A revitalised Waikato Hunt Cup steeplechase made a welcome return to the northern region on Sunday with the 4250 metre contest producing a fitting climax to this year's jumping action.

The time-honoured event had fallen off the national calendar in recent years however was revived to take pride of place at Te Aroha where two well performed fencers fought out a stirring finish to the $40,000 contest.

This season's Waikato Hurdles winner Thenamesbond (NZ) (China Cat) has taken to the bigger steeplechase fences with aplomb having won the open event on National Jumps Day at the venue last month. Sent out as a well favoured candidate, he assumed his customary pacemaking role in the hands of James Seivwright and led his eleven rivals a merry chase for the majority of the race.

Hot on his heels was former Wellington Hurdle winner Just Got Home (NZ) (Storming Home) who was returning to the scene of his maiden steeplechase win back in August. This pair dominated proceedings throughout as they slipped clear to fight out the finish with 800 metres to run. Refusing to give an inch Thenamesbond cleared the final obstacle a length in front of his rival and forged clear in the run to the line to score a well-deserved victory.

Trainer Stephen Ralph had been concerned about the very heavy track conditions leading into the race.

"We found mid-week that he had a problem which we sorted out so he was ready to go provided he could handle the track," he said.

"He has won on the last day of the season for the last two years so we were hoping he could continue that pattern. He actually won his maiden steeplechase at this meeting last year."

Ralph now has his sights set on some of the feature chasing events in 2018 with Thenamesbond including the

The victory was career win number 12 for the China Cat nine-year-old, with eight of those having come at Te Aroha, and takes his stakes earnings to just over $225,000.

Earlier in the day promising jumper Laekeeper (NZ) (Keeper) indicated he will be a force to be reckoned with in the major hurdle events next year when he strode home to score a convincing victory in the Mike Fraser-Jones Hurdle.

SHOW FAR SHOW GOOD AT THE TOP FOR WALKER, DURIC

Singapore's leading trainer and jockey combined for an early double on Sunday, cementing further the increasingly distinct impression they are home and hosed in their respective premierships.

Sacred Galaxy (Flying Spur) and Show Far So Good (NZ) (Showcasing) saluted for the Mark Walker-Vlad Duric pairing in Races 1 and 3, widening further their already massive leads.

The double has now taken Walker to 76 winners, 24 clear of Shane Baertschiger while Duric's cushion on reigning champion jockey Manoel Nunes has now increased to 19 winners (71 versus 52) with a high possibility more winners could come their way.

With just over two months left in the season, both leads look unassailable. Duric is chasing his first title while Walker, the 2015 Singapore champion trainer, would be at his second crowning.

Both men would rather focus on the task at hand, though - produce the next winner instead of falling into any title talks.

"Every win counts, they all add up," said Walker.

"Show Far So Good is one good example. He is racing well and he continues to do so.

"Today, he had a soft lead, and at the top of the straight, Vlad still had plenty of horse under him. I knew it would be hard for the rest to pull him back."

TWO IN A ROW FOR YABADABADOO

Champion jockey Manoel Nunes was thankful to connections for reinstating him back on two-from-two winner Yabadabadoo (NZ) (Makfi) on Sunday.

At his debut, the Makfi three-year-old had Derreck David up as Nunes could not make the lightweight of 50kgs in the Restricted Maiden race over 1100m. The Brazilian jockey was also recovering from a knee injury at the time.

The Joe Giovanni-owned chestnut has since been tipped out because of shin soreness. At Yabadabadoo's comeback race in the $75,000 Waikato 2009 Stakes, a Novice race over 1200m, Nunes was the one in the pigskin.

Even though they were sent out as the $13 favourite, Nunes still had to overcome the outermost alley against a fairly handy bunch. In a tight tussle Yabadabadoo reigned supreme to score by 1 ½ lengths from Speedy Phoenix (Interactif) with Mokastar (Poet's Voice) third another three-quarter length away. The winning time was 1min 10.94secs for the 1200m on the Short Course.

Nunes, who is currently facing an uphill battle to land a fourth title, sitting 18 winners astern of runaway leader Vlad Duric, is delighted with any leading opportunities that come his way, especially when it is one who nearly slipped through his hands.

"He's a very straightforward horse to ride, a lovely and intelligent horse," said Nunes.

"He's a jump-and-run type of horse, but is still a big baby. He will win a lot of races for sure.

"I'd like to thank the owner Joe Giovanni who put me back on his horse. At his first run, he carried a light weight and I couldn't make it, and I also hurt my knee.

"He then got shin-sore, but they told me they would put me back on and I'm so grateful they did."

Clements, who was at a training double after saddling smokie Spur Me On (Flying Spur) to an earlier win, could not hide his delight at the winner's circle.

"He's got a bright future here. He came back a bit shin-sore after his first run and we gave him a let-up to get over that," said Clements.

"Today he jumped from the outside barrier and had to do a lot of work early, but then he came back and settled off the girth of the other horse, which I thought was a good option from Manoel.

"The horse settled very well and kicked on strongly up the straight. He's still young and still learning, but he has improved a lot from his first start."
