SACRED ELIXIR CAMP OPTIMISTIC OF GUINEAS DOUBLE

Sacred Elixir is out to snare his second Australian feature on the weekend when he contests the Gr. 1 Caulfield Guineas

Tony Pike wasn't expecting Sacred Elixir's (NZ) (Pour Moi) first-up victory, but he certainly won't be surprised if the three-year-old reigns supreme again on Saturday.

The Cambridge trainer has been delighted with the Raffles Stud-owned gelding's progress since his Gr.3 Caulfield Guineas Prelude win and he is quietly confident of their chances in the $A1 million Gr.1 Caulfield Guineas.

"It looks like he's going to get every possible chance this weekend," Pike said.

"He's got the perfect barrier (7) and his work on Tuesday morning was really good for him. He's eating well and is nice and sound.

"He worked solo and it was the most professional he's been since arriving in Melbourne. He had worked left-handed at home, but had two jump-outs at Flemington and was quite awkward getting around the corner.

"But he's becoming more used to the left hand way of going now and learning all the time. He's been a lot better this week. He's beaten the best Melbourne colts over 1400m and he will be better over a mile.

"He has to meet the good Sydney colts as well this week, but given luck in the running we would be disappointed if he couldn't run in the top three."

SACRED ELIXIR CAMP OPTIMISTIC OF GUINEAS DOUBLE

Sacred Elixir is still a Cox Plate entrant, but he would need to be a dominant winner on Saturday for it to remain a viable option.

He is more likely to take on the three-year-olds in the Gr.2 AAMI Vase on the same day in preparation for the $A1.5 million Gr.1 Victoria Derby.

Also in the Caulfield Guineas field is the Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman trained Saracino (NZ) (Per Incanto). Jumping from barrier four the Lib Petagna-owned colt will have Damien Oliver on board.

DALZIEL EXCITED ABOUT HARLOW GOLD

A filly bought in New Zealand as an Oaks prospect could give her syndicator and young rider a breakthrough at the elite level in the Thousand Guineas at Caulfield.

Harlow Gold (NZ) (Tavistock) is the current VRC Oaks favourite but will first chase her third-straight win this spring in Saturday's Gr.1 Thousand Guineas at Caulfield for which she is on the fourth line of betting.

Wylie Dalziel, whose Wylie Dalziel Roy Higgins Racing was formed with the late champion jockey in 2009, said victory in Saturday's race would be his first at Group One level with his best result so far Bring Me The Maid's (Sebring) third in the 2014 Golden Slipper.

Connections of the David and Ben Hayes and Tom Dabernig-trained filly have stuck solid with apprentice Regan Bayliss.

"Regan, I believe is very level-headed. He's very disciplined and he's a super rider," Dalziel said.

"He deserves a shot at a Group One, just like we do.

"If it's our first Group One, it will be his first Group One. He's done all the work on her. He's a good kid. And he's a superstar.

"He'll give her a good ride and he'll be pumped if she wins."

Karaka Yearling Sale graduate Harlow Gold will step out as a leading candidate in tomorrow's Gr. 1 Thousand Guineas at Caulfield

Harlow Gold was bought at the Karaka sales from the draft of Highden Park last year for $200,000.

"I probably had room for about four or five to be able to syndicate and this was a filly that we looked at and straight away got a good vibe about her," Dalziel said.

"We just said 'there's no budget on her'. She was just one of those horses that grabs you and you really want to take home with you."

Harlow Gold won over 1600m at Caulfield last start, beating the colts and geldings, and Dalziel said that form had been franked by runner-up Rocketeer (Smart Missile) almost winning the UCI Stakes at Flemington on Sunday.

While Dalziel said Harlow Gold was probably more of an Oaks filly, he said the fact she had already won over 1600m was a plus.

"If we can win a Group One Thousand Guineas over 1600, we'll be pretty excited going forward for the Oaks," he said.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Legless Veuve (NZ) (Pins)

Expect improvement from Legless Veuve

Caulfield trainer Stuart Webb has no doubt Legless Veuve (NZ) (Pins) has improved since her last start win in the Gr.2 Schweppes Thousand Guineas Prelude (1400m).

The lightly raced daughter of Pins makes her first appearance at Group One level in Saturday's Gr.1 Schweppes Thousand Guineas (1600m), at just her fifth career start.

"She was only second up in the prelude and she had a really big blow after the race," said Webb who trained Yosei (Invincible Spirit) to win the race in 2010. "She's improved and hopefully we see the best of her on Saturday."

"From an early age she's shown us that she's well above average. She couldn't have done any more this season she's won the two races we've put her in but it is a step up in grade on Saturday."

She's a beautiful big filly with a terrific stride and great attitude she's one of the nicest fillies you could put a saddle on and I think she'll be even better as an autumn three-year-old."

He's Our Rokkii (NZ) (Roc De Cambes)

He's Our Rokkii ready for Group One assault

Co-trainer Tom Dabernig is confident He's Our Rokkii (NZ) (Roc De Cambes) can make the step to Group One company when he lines up in the Toorak Handicap at Caulfield.

Drawing barrier one and to be ridden by Dwayne Dunn, He's Our Rokkii is the $4 early favourite and will be aiming to stretch his winning streak to five on Saturday.

After winning his final two starts of a Sydney autumn campaign, He's Our Rokkii has won two 1400m races at Caulfield since resuming.

Dabernig says He's Our Rokkii will be suited by the rise in distance and the trainer is already looking further ahead to the Melbourne Cup carnival. Full story here.

Well Done (NZ) (Falkirk)

Well Done resumes Sunday

Singapore's 2016 Derby hero Well Done (NZ) (Falkirk) will make his first raceday appearance since winning the prestigious event in Sunday's SIN Gr.1 Panasonic Kranji Mile.

Trainer David Kok has given the son of Falkirk plenty of time to recover as he looks towards the lofty goal of winning all three legs of the Singapore Triple Crown Series, a feat that has never before been achieved.

"He's had two barrier trials," said Kok. "The first one was quiet but he went super at the second one."

"The horse has done pacework since and had a gallop on the main track (Polytrack) last Friday. Glen Boss rode him and was very happy with his condition."

"He's not overcooked or undercooked, just nice. The whole time, I've tried to keep him as fresh as possible as his target is all three Legs in a row, with no other races in between."

Well Done meets a quality field including fellow NZ-breds War Affair (NZ) (O'Reilly), Majestic Moments (NZ) (Darci Brahma), Mr Spielberg (NZ) (Pentire) and Debt Collector (NZ) (Thorn Park).

Top Kiwi ready to cut Loose

New Zealand's champion sprinter and middle distance horse of last season, Turn Me Loose (NZ) (Iffraaj) will kick off his spring campaign in the Gr.2 Schillaci Stakes (1100m) at Caulfield on Saturday.

The Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman-trained entire earned more than $A1 million in Melbourne last season with four wins, a second and a fourth from six attempts. He recorded Group One wins in the Emirates Stakes and Futurity Stakes and also won the Gr.2 Crystal Mile.

Turn Me Loose failed in two starts in Sydney last autumn, but had a bone chip removed from a knee following his Sydney runs, which delayed his return this spring.

He won a 1000m trial at Avondale on September 20 and galloped between races at Te Rapa last Friday to ready him for his resuming run.

"He seems to be back to his old self and is a very happy horse at the moment," said Baker. "He's a pretty good horse. He's like a big machine when he gets going and right up to the very best."

Prince Of Penzance (NZ) (Pentire)

Prince on track for Herbert Power

The Melbourne Cup winner Prince of Penzance (NZ) (Pentire) impressed with his gallop between races at Warrnambool on Wednesday ahead of Saturday's Gr.2 Herbert Power Stakes (2400m).

"I'm absolutely delighted with that," said Darren Weir's stable foreman Jarrod McLean after Prince of Penzance partnered stable mate Howard Be Thy Name (Redoute's Choice) over 1600m.

"Prince Of Penzance is on track to be competitive on Saturday and then we have a really exciting two weeks heading into the Moonee Valley Cup."

John Allen partnered Prince Of Penzance, as will be the case on Saturday.

NEWS IN BRIEF

McLean said he was not surprised that Prince Of Penzance travelled so kindly throughout the workout.

"He's not dour by any means – he's very sharp."

Track could provide Angst for Lady Le Fay

A firm surface is the only concern the Chris Waller stable has heading into Saturday's Gr.3 Angst Stakes (1600m) at Randwick with Lady Le Fay (NZ) (Thorn Park).

The daughter of Thorn Park hit the line strongly when only a length from the winner in the Bill Ritchie Handicap last start.

"She's a lovely mare, she has a nice light weight and she has won three times over a mile previously," said Chris Waller's racing manager Charlie Duckworth.

"She probably needs a little more give in the ground than she'll get on a good three but she is pretty adaptable."

Listed Southland Guineas winner Replique (NZ) (Darci Brahma) will be among Lady Le Fay's rivals. The four-year-old is having her second start from the stable of Gai Waterhouse and Adrian Bott after being well beaten over 1350m at her Australian debut.

Rocknrolla (NZ) (Towkay)

Weather only worry for stable newcomer

Karen Fursdon is keeping an eye on the weather before confirming a trip to Hawera for the Gr.3 Rich Hill Stud Taranaki Breeders' Stakes (1400m) for her new boarder.

The Matamata trainer has taken over the preparation of the multiple winner Rocknrolla (NZ) (Towkay), with a switch of stables made to facilitate the next stage of her career.

Rocknrolla will be served in the coming weeks and she was transferred to Fursdon from the Ruakaka stable of Donna Logan and Chris Gibbs to be nearer the heart of the breeding industry.

"The main aim is to get her in foal with some black type to enhance her pedigree," she said. "Once the warmer weather arrives everything will fall into cycle and she'll be going to Shocking."

The former Melbourne and Australian Cup winner stands at Rich Hill Stud, and Rocknrolla's connections may get the opportunity to bank their service fee straight from the farm on Saturday. Full story here.

Blizzard (NZ) (Any Suggestion)

Cranbourne Cup to define Blizzard's campaign

David and Emma-Lee Browne will be all the wiser after Sunday.

The Cambridge trainers are looking forward to Blizzard's (NZ) (Any Suggestion) Australian debut in the Listed Cranbourne Cup, after which they will decide the stayer's future programme.

"We decided to give him his chance over here and he arrived late on Wednesday night," Emma-Lee Browne said.

"We'll see how he settles in over the next couple of days and after Sunday we can make a plan for him."

Blizzard has had an interrupted domestic preparation after he took ill following his unplaced effort when resuming on the opening day of the Hawke's Bay carnival.

Combination due to break through

A lengthy run of outs between jockey Sam Collett and trainers Kenny and Lisa Rae might come to an overdue end on Saturday when they combine with Kaharau (Ad Valorem) in the Listed Team Wealleans Matamata Cup.

"It's become a standing joke that I haven't ridden a winner for Kenny or Lisa so it would be nice if the first one was in a stakes race," Collett said.

They have unsuccessfully teamed up 45 previous times, but there is confidence in Kaharau's ability to break their duck.

"I rode him in a trial and first-up at Ruakaka and then he went a super race at Ellerslie," Collett said.

Kaharau was ridden by three kilo claiming apprentice Emily Farr when he finished fourth behind Cheeky Boy (NZ) (Lucky Unicorn) last time out under 58.5kg.

Fanatic (NZ) (Shocking)

Trainers happy to roll the Cup dice with stable star

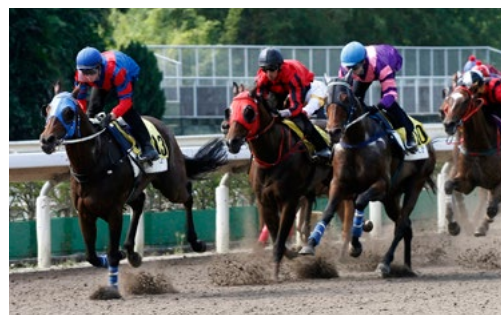

Graeme Sanders and Debbie Sweeney are relaxed about Fanatic's (NZ) (Shocking) chance of securing a start in the $A3 million Gr.1 Caulfield Cup.

The father and daughter training partnership will take their chances with the daughter of Shocking, who won't race again before the October 15 feature.

"She flies out to Melbourne on Wednesday and the plan is to run in the Caulfield Cup, but there are other options if she doesn't get in," Sweeney said.

"It's going to be pretty tough, but we know she can stay so we'll have a crack while she's got a nice, light weight."

"If she can't make the Caulfield Cup then there are always races like the Geelong Cup or the Ballarat Cup." Full story here.

Gunpit (Dubawi)

Karaka graduate on target for Breeders' Cup

Gun Pit (Dubawi) looks like he has earned himself a trip to California for next month's Gr.1 Breeders' Cup Dirt Mile.

The Karaka graduate remained on course for the Santa Anita feature after an impressive spin under Zac Purton in a 1200m all-weather trial in Hong Kong on Tuesday.

"He's trialling with a little bit more purpose now and he seems to be moving better, so it looks at this stage like he's going to go to America," Purton said. "He feels fine

NEWS IN BRIEF

- there's nothing wrong with the way he's going."

Gun Pit was purchased by agent Michael Steadman out of Lyndhurst Farm's 2012 New Zealand Bloodstock Ready to Run Sale draft for $250,000. He trialled twice in New Zealand, finishing second in his first and winning the other for Lance Noble before he was sent to Hong Kong.

Heroic Valour (Fastnet Rock)

Guineas hope to head south early

Ashburton is likely to be the venue for Heroic Valour's (Fastnet Rock) final lead-in to his Group One goal.

Trainers Stephen Autridge and Jamie Richards have the Listed Barneswood Farm Stakes on Saturday week in mind to complete the Fastnet Rock colt's preparation for the Sothys New Zealand 2000 Guineas.

Heroic Valour was beaten for the first time last weekend when he finished third in the Gr.2 Hawke's Bay Guineas at Hastings where the Group One-winning juvenile of last season struck a Slow 8 track.

Regular rider Matt Cameron was of the opinion that the horse may have been pinching himself, but Autridge felt the rain-affected going may have been the contributing factor to his downfall. Full story here.

Caulfield trainer eyeing Riccarton opportunities

Henry Dwyer is making tentative plans for a black type assault on the New Zealand Cup carnival.

The Caulfield trainer could have up to three runners at Riccarton in November with the progressive filly Swampland (NZ) (Redwood) in line for a crack at the Gr.1 gavelhouse.com NZ 1000 Guineas.

"I'm not certain how it's going to play out at the moment, but it's been in the back of my mind for a while," Dwyer said.

"Swampland will have her next start over 1400 metres on Caulfield Cup day and then go to Flemington on Melbourne Cup day.

The 1000 Guineas is 11 days after so it will depend on a flight."

Purchased by Dwyer for $82,500 out of Westbury Stud's Select Sale draft at Karaka last year, the daughter of Redwood was runner-up on debut at Moe last season and successfully resumed in a Mornington maiden last week. Full story here.

The Soultaker (NZ) (Iffraaj)

Talented 3YO to continue career in HK

The Soultaker's (NZ) (Iffraaj) brief New Zealand career is over with confirmation of the smart three-year-old's sale to overseas interests.

His connections had been approached by a buyer prior to his last-start victory in the Gr.3 Bonecrusher Stakes and the grey is now bound for Hong Kong.

"We agreed a price before the race – win, lose or draw," said George Simon, who bred the son of Iffraaj with his wife Maryanne and they remained in the ownership syndicate.

Trained at Ruakaka by Donna Logan and Chris Gibbs, The Soultaker finished runner-up on debut last season and beat Manolo Blahniq (NZ) (Jimmy Choux) in the Listed Murdoch Newell Stakes at Avondale at his next appearance.

He then finished second behind the subsequent Group One winner Sacred Elixir (NZ) (Pour Moi) before unplaced runs in the Karaka Million and the Gr.1 Diamond Stakes.

Waldorf comes Highly Recommended

Precocious youngster Waldorf (NZ) (Highly Recommended) has opened the account of his sire Highly Recommended (Fastnet Rock) in good time.

The Andrew Campbell-trained juvenile was successful on debut at Tauherenikau on Thursday to give the Berkeley Stud Stallion his first winner from only three race day representatives.

"He sat wide and still won nicely – it was a good effort and he's Karaka Million-nominated so we'll aim for that," said Campbell, who also won the opening event with Werther's brother Gobstopper (NZ) (Tavistock).

A son of Fastnet Rock, Highly Recommended won two races in Victoria including the Gr.2 Alister Clark Stakes.

NEW ZEALAND RACING
HALL OF FAME

Remembering our Hall Of Fame Heroes

Rising Fast- The first horse to win the spring grand slam in one season

Controversy was to haunt Rising Fast for much of his career, yet this son of Alonzo and Faster was undoubtedly one of the best stayers and middle-distance gallopers that ever graced the Australasian turf.

The 1954 Melbourne Spring Carnival saw Rising Fast win three of five lead-up races in Melbourne, before he successively won the Caulfield Cup, Cox Plate, MacKinnon Stakes and, under 9st 5lb (59.5kg), the Melbourne Cup. For good measure, on the final day at Flemington, he added the C.B.Fisher Plate to his tally.

Despite mixed form in 1955 he charged to victory under 9st 10lb (61.5kg) in the Caulfield Cup and was odds-on favourite to complete the never-achieved "double-double" – two Caulfield Cups and two Melbourne Cups. He struck all the interference going in a roughhouse Melbourne Cup and still went under by only three-quarters of a length to Toporoa who carried 34lb less.
