MATAMATA TRIO SNARE FIRST ELITE BREEDING SUCCESS

Rider Luke Nolen celebrates as he scores in the Gr. 1 Thousand Guineas at Caulfield on kiwi filly Aloisia

Local Matamata trainer Jason Price was feeling surprisingly chirpy on Sunday morning after taking time on Saturday night to celebrate the win of Aloisia (NZ) (Azamour) in the Gr. 1 Thousand Guineas at Caulfield.

Bred by Price, wife Kelly and brother-in-law Michael Hall, the plucky Azamour filly provided them with their inaugural success at the elite level as breeders when she stormed along the rail to snatch a courageous victory in the A$500,000 feature.

The victory capped a top day for the Price family who had also scored at their home track earlier with promising staying mare She's Prismatic (NZ) (Mastercraftsman).

"It was quite a day alright and one you can normally only dream of," admitted Price.

"It was great to get the win with our horse at Matamata but we were glued to the television when Aloisia went around as we thought she was a big chance in the race.

"We always thought she had the ability to get to the top level but to see her win like that was such a thrill and has given us such a boost for the future."

Aloisia is from the Perfectly Ready mare Queen Boudicca who Price bought for $39,000 at the 2010 Karaka Select Sale. Placed in the Gr. 2 Matamata Breeders Stakes she was retired at the completion of her four-year-old season and mated with the ill-fated shuttle stallion Azamour to produce Aloisia as her first foal.

"We bought and raced Queen Boudicca who was a pretty handy juvenile but probably didn't reach her true potential during her career," noted Price.

"We weren't really in the position to breed from her so we tried to sell her at the National Broodmare Sale but she didn't reach her reserve so we ended up taking her home.

"In the end we decided to give breeding a try so we went and saw Nick and Anne-Marie King at Brighthill Farm as they had just had Azamour arrive at their property.

"He was a wonderful specimen, with a great race record and had been going well as a sire in the Northern Hemisphere so we decided to give him a go with Aloisia being the result."

Another disappointing result at Karaka, this time at the 2016 Select Sale, saw Aloisia head home after being passed in before joining Price's Matamata stable later in the year to commence her two-year-old career.

"We weren't going to give her away at Karaka so when she didn't reach her reserve we took her home," he said.

"At the time it was a little deflating but looking back now you could say it was the best thing that could have happened.

"She showed us plenty early on and kicked off with a nice fifth before she ran second to Belle du Nord at Wellington.

"At that stage we had plans to run her in the Manawatu

Sires' Produce Stakes but we got a call from Phill Cataldo who said he had a buyer for her in Australia if we were looking to sell.

"We ummed and aahed about it but really the best commercial decision we could make was to sell and hope she could do something special in Australia as we knew it would help make her dam as a broodmare.

"She has well and truly done that now so we have got a very exciting time ahead of us."

The potential displayed by Aloisia has seen her owners, OTI Racing, come knocking at the Price door again, this time purchasing her half-sister Wyetta (NZ) (Keeper) after the filly finished third on debut at Pukekohe last month.

"They obviously know just what they have with Aloisia so they made an offer for Wyetta which we have accepted as well," noted Price.

"Again, it was a business decision as Queen Boudicca is still a young mare so hopefully we can get another filly from her in the future that we can retain for breeding purposes ourselves."

Price is hopeful that result can be achieved in 2018 with a mating to Brighthill's new sire Preferment who is standing his first season at the farm in 2017.

"Queen Boudicca produced a Dalghar colt last Monday and she will go to Preferment for her next mating," he said.

"Her Swiss Ace colt will be go the Karaka yearling sale in January so we have high hopes for him as he is a lovely type.

"In the meantime, we are hoping Aloisia can step up to the Victorian Oaks next as we would love to experience the same feeling we had on Saturday as that's something that takes a lot of beating."

BAKER PAIR READY FOR CAULFIELD CUP

Kiwi gallopers Bonneval (NZ) (Makfi) and Jon Snow (NZ) (Iffraaj) are ready to produce peak efforts in the Gr. 1 Caulfield Cup this coming weekend despite recording contrasting performances in their final lead-up race on Saturday.

The pair contested the Gr. 1 Caulfield Stakes on the weekend with Jon Snow battling strongly for third behind winner Gailo Chop (Deportivo) while Bonneval made up late ground to finish sixth after having trouble finding clear running in the home straight.

"I thought they both went well with Bonneval becoming a victim of circumstances through her outside barrier draw," noted co-trainer Murray Baker.

"Once she drew wide we had to go back with her and she didn't really get much of a crack at them in the run home.

"Jon Snow was very good and battled on strongly which is what we wanted to see."

Baker admits he is confused by reports that Bonneval had sustained an injury during the race that could place her Caulfield Cup spot in jeopardy.

"I'm not really sure what they are talking about as she pulled up in good shape and trotted up perfectly on Sunday morning," he said.

"There's nothing amiss with her and she will be ready to run the race of her life.

"We will be keeping an eye on the weather however as there have been reports there might be some rain around in the last few days before the race.

"That would play into the hands of Jon Snow and wouldn't hurt Bonneval's chances either."

The Baker and Andrew Forsman trained pair could be joined in the Caulfield feature by a third member of the stable with Zabeel mare Lizzie L'Amour (NZ) (Zabeel) still a chance to make the final field despite finishing well back in Sunday's Listed Cranbourne Cup.

TAN PULLS THE PIN ON RAFFLES CUP FOR INFANTRY

Trainer Alwin Tan has confirmed Infantry will not take his place in the upcoming Raffles Cup at Kranji this Sunday

Trainer Alwin Tan has confirmed that Infantry (NZ) (Tavistock) won't run in the Raffles Cup next Sunday.

The winner of the first Leg of the Singapore Triple Crown series, the Panasonic Kranji Mile (1600m) on October 1, came under an injury cloud when he sustained a deep cut to his near hind fetlock during the race itself.

The appropriate treatment was given, and even if the Tavistock five-year-old is showing good signs of recovery, Tan has decided, in consultation with the Thai owner Krit Chisattani, to pull the pin on the Raffles Cup (1800m) on October 22.

Infantry did a strong canter under race-rider Manoel Nunes on Saturday. Tan could not fault the workout but with the Raffles Cup coming up too soon, he preferred to err on the side of caution.

"He worked okay yesterday, and he is recovering well, but I'm worried that he has missed too many days of work," said Tan.

"It wouldn't be fair on him to go into a race like the Raffles Cup with such a prep, he would be underdone. He's too invaluable a horse and it's not worth risking him for just one race or even the Triple Crown.

"It's very sad but we are doing what is in the horse's best interests."

The Singapore Triple Crown series

made up of the Kranji Mile, Raffles Cup and Dester Singapore Gold Cup (2200m) has not been won yet. Tan himself came close in 2014 with War Affair (NZ) (O'Reilly) taking the first two Legs but coming up short in the Singapore Gold Cup, which was then sponsored by Longines.

"We really thought we had the right horse who could have a go at history, but his welfare is more important than history," said Tan.

"He will still go for the Gold Cup.

I will give him another two weeks to fully recover and I will step up on his work, which will be more on endurance."

With Infantry a non-runner, Nunes will now be riding Countofmontecristo (NZ) (Echoes Of Heaven) for Michael Clements in the Raffles Cup.

The ride on the Kranji Mile runner-up became up for grabs after previous regular partner Glen Boss was booked to ride Lim's Cruiser (Casino Prince) instead.

Needless to say, Nunes had some mixed feelings about the sudden twist of fate, but is overall grateful to be jumping on a horse considered as one of the leading hopes.

"It was the right decision to pull Infantry out of the Raffles Cup," said the Brazilian three-time Singapore champion jockey.

"The wound is still not fully closed. I gave him a slow canter yesterday, but even though he feels okay, he hasn't been working properly for a Group 1 race like that.

"The horse has been good to Alwin and myself and it's best we save him for the Gold Cup. Not sure what his handicap will be, we can also look at next year as he's only five.

"By the same token, I'm very glad and grateful to Mike and the owner Joe Giovanni for approaching me for the ride on Countofmontecristo. All the other riders were already booked, and I suppose it was easier for me to get the ride.

"He's a very hard horse to get past, as I found out in the Kranji Mile. The only question mark is the 1800m, but he's such a quality horse and you have to respect him.

"I've never ridden him, but I will probably ride him in his work on Tuesday. I'm sure Mike has him ready to go."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Ocean Park enjoys Australian success

Waikato Stud based stallion Ocean Park enjoyed success across the Tasman on Saturday when quality filly Ocean Jewel produced a scorching performance to win the A$100,000 Bunbury 3YO Classic (1000m) in Western Australia.

The Simon Miller-trained three-year-old stormed home from eighth on the turn to score by three-quarters of a length with Miller indicating he has big plans for Ocean Jewel, including a tilt at the Group 3 WA Champion Fillies Stakes (1600m) on November 18.

"She's a miler," Miller said.

"She's just doing this on ability. The world's her oyster.

"I know how good she is but I sort of don't get too far ahead of myself with her.

"There were some good horses in this race and you see her pick them up wide and working and she's not even screwed down yet."

The victory took Ocean Jewel's record to three wins from just four starts.

Ocean Park was also represented by impressive three-year-old colt Ocean's Fourteen (NZ) who scored over 1620 metres at Donald on Friday.

Milestone achieved for Savabeel

The Darren Weir trained Savaheat (NZ) (Savabeel) took out the Listed Hill Smith Stakes at Morphettville on Saturday to provide his sire with his 66th individual stakes winner.

In the hands of John Allen, the lightly raced three-year-old colt got the better of Glam Guru (Medaglia D'Oro) and Box On Collins (Lope De Vega) to register his first career victory for Weir.

Bred by Whakanui Stud, Savaheat was a $220,000 purchase by Weir and Australian agent John Foote from the Trelawney Stud draft during the Premier session of the 2016 NZB National Yearling Sale at Karaka.

HELLO M'LADY READY FOR STAKES CHALLENGE

A comprehensive victory at Hawera on the weekend could see promising mare Hello M'Lady (NZ) (Shocking) tackle Listed company at Rotorua this coming weekend as her next assignment.

The Matamata trained mare thrived on the step up to 1600 metres of Saturday's rating 75 contest as she bolted clear in the home straight to down a handy field by a comfortable four length margin.

Stakes placed on two occasions during her three-year-old campaign, the Vicki Prendergast co-owned and trained galloper looks to have furnished into the type of galloper capable of competing at the highest level over the summer months.

With Prendergast unable to make the trip to Hawera due to commitments at the Equidays Expo in Hamilton, Hello M'Lady was placed in the care of fellow Matamata trainer Karyn McQuade and her husband Hamish who weren't surprised with the ease of her victory.

"We've always rated her," noted Hamish McQuade after the race.

"Vicki was a little apprehensive about pushing her to the mile today but I had watched her race at Counties last time and said to her I thought she was looking for a mile.

"She was probably a little too weak for the mile when she was a three-year-old but she was definitely ready today."

Rider Cameron Lammas was full of praise for his mount's effort after being forced to race wide for much of the contest.

"We jumped from an awkward draw and were three wide for a fair while but I was happy out there as we had good cover," he said.

"Her work on Tuesday was enormous and her last two runs have just been at distances a little too short for her.

"I said to Vicki that she was looking for a mile now and she did the job well."

A decision will be made on where the daughter of Rich Hill Stud based stallion Shocking would head next with McQuade hinting strongly a tilt at the Listed Swaynesse Stakes (1950m) at Rotorua this Saturday was the preferred option.

FROST RUNNER THE PUNTERS FRIEND AT HAWERA

Otaki trainer Rachael Frost was the toast of punters at Hawera on Saturday after lightly raced five-year-old Travimyfriend (NZ) (Tavistock) scored in impressive fashion over 1400 metres.

Sent out at prohibitive odds after some inspired betting support prior to the rating 85 contest, Travimyfriend didn't disappoint as he cruised home by a neat half-length at just his second run in his current campaign.

The powerhouse Tavistock gelding cuts an imposing figure on the track with Frost admitting he isn't the easiest individual to handle through his tough-minded attitude.

"He's a good horse but he hadn't raced for a month so we couldn't be that certain on how he would go," she said.

"He just over-raced a little as there wasn't much pace on.

"He's pretty tough though as he has a few problems but he overcomes them through bravery.

"He can be a bit of a handful at home but if you want to do anything with him you have to jump him as he just loves it."

Frost is in two minds with respect to the immediate program for her charge as she weighs up the option to step him up to a 1600 metres.

"He's in the Coupland's Mile but he will probably go to Trentham in a fortnight first," she explained.

"I'm just a bit windy about the mile at Riccarton for the Coupland's as he might pull too hard so we might have to get a run in over a mile before then.

"I'm not sure whether we will tackle the Thompson Handicap at Trentham as I will make my mind up when I see how he pulls up from this one.

"He does appreciate a bit of easing in the ground so we will just play it by ear at this stage."

The Gr. 3 Anuka Smoker Thompson Handicap is the feature event at Trentham on 28 October with the Gr. 2 Coupland's Bakeries Mile run at Riccarton on 15 November.

EASY DOES IT FOR NEW GRAY SYNDICATION

Easy Does It (inner) holds on to score his first win for some excited owners at Kranji

Debut winner Easy Does It (NZ) (Super Easy) had a happy bunch of new owners experiencing the joy of racing a winner at their baptism of fire on Sunday.

The three-year-old is the first horse to run for trainer Stephen Gray's novel idea of syndication in Singapore, the brainchild of his racing manager, former Singapore Turf Club racing presenter Gareth Pepper.

The well-named Easy Does It is also the first progeny of Singapore's former two-time Horse of the Year Super Easy (NZ) (Darci Brahma) to win at his now New Zealand-based sire's former stomping ground.

Syndication, the popular concept that gives a wide cross-section of people from all walks of life the opportunity to own a racehorse is not new at Kranji, but Gray said it was the first such public syndication he has undertaken at his stables.

"I've had groups of owners buying a horse, but this is the first public syndication I've had at my stables," said the Kiwi handler who has trained in Singapore since 2000.

"These are totally new people to racing, except for Mr Hong (Ying Kwee), Super Easy's former owner.

"He's had a bit of bad luck in racing lately and I asked him to join this and have a bit of fun."

Gray again called upon his main bloodstock agent, Garry Carvell, to help him find that first buy for the new outfit made up of five new owners, mostly New Zealanders and Mr Hong.

“Garry picked him out at the two-year-old sale in New Zealand. Gareth Pepper is the one who looks after these new owners and he went to the sales to buy this horse, too,” said Gray.

“This horse was quite impressive at his barrier trials (won one in New Zealand and one at Kranji). He had to be good to win today, especially from the other horse (Ateej) who has more experience than him.”

After sitting outside race-leader My Gold (Globetrotter) from the start, Easy Does It went for broke at the top of the straight as he hit the front.

Showing great balance for a first-timer, Easy Does It quickened kindly under rider Alan Munro’s urgings, but at the 100m, it looked like he would be hard-pushed to counter the fast-finishing Ateej (Equal Stripes).

But either Ateej peaked on his run, or Easy Does It somehow found an extra length when the favourite came upsides, but he was able to last with a neck to spare. The winning time was 1min 10.47secs for the 1200m on the Long Course.

Pepper said he was grateful to Carvell for his help and guidance while hunting for that first racehorse.

“These are fantastic people who have been very patient. Five of six of them are owners for the first time,” said the South African.

“I’d like to really thank Garry Carvell for his help when I was in New Zealand with him.”
