STIRRING STORY BEHIND STUNNING MOONEE VALLEY WINNER

Flying Monty with Nurse Kitchen at foot

If Saturday's ultra impressive Moonee Valley winner Nurse Kitchen (NZ) (Savabeel) is even half as tough as her mum Flying Monty (NZ) (Montjeu) then the Savabeel filly is in for one hell of a career.

A remarkable back story has emerged after the Peter Moody bred filly, who races in his wife Sarah's name, surged to victory in Saturday's Gr. 2 PW Glass Fillies Classic. Although owned and raced in Australia the filly is a New Zealand product having started life here courtesy of the care and dedication of the staff at Waikato Stud who saved her dam Flying Monty when she experienced difficulty during a foaling back in 2012.

Waikato Stud's Mark Chittick takes up the story from there.

"Peter had sent us Flying Monty in foal to Reward For Effort back in 2012 with the thought of her going to one of our stallions after she had foaled down," he explained.

"She was an early mare and started foaling late one Friday night in August. I think it was around midnight and things went okay to start with but it started to drag on and we found she had a real problem. It was basically a foaling known as a "dogsitter" where the foal's back legs are facing forward and not backwards.

"We managed to finally get the foal out after about 90 minutes but it wasn't in good shape and our vet found that the mare couldn't get herself up as she had a form of paralysis associated with her sciatic nerve."

By this stage it was closer to 5am on Saturday and Chittick and vet Fauna Smith knew if they couldn't get the mare up there would be no chance she could be saved.

"I rang one of my mates at J Swap Contracting and within 30 minutes he was around with a Hiab Loader which we could get a makeshift sling attached to.

"We got it in position and managed to get her up."

At that stage Chittick rang Moody and told him to hope for the best but expect the worst for the stricken mare.

"I think I rang Peter at around 7am and when he rang me back at 10am things had started to get a little better," he said.

"By noon the mare was improving and by around 2:30pm she had started to show enough movement that we started to breathe a little easier.

"Actually seeing her being able to move under her own steam was a very emotional moment for us all and one I won't forget."

Over the next 24 hours the mare was constantly monitored by Stud staff, most who had been there throughout the entire episode including those who had the day off and by Sunday Flying Monty was well on the way to recovery.

"She still had problems getting up so she and I worked an arrangement where when I saw her go down we would let her rest then I would take a large bale of hay on the front end loader and rest it up against her when she was ready to get up," said Chittick.

"She would start to rise and I would wedge the bale against her to give her leverage. After about two days she could do it on her own and just went from strength to strength."

After a further eight weeks of recuperation the mare was fit and healthy enough to be served by Savabeel with the resulting filly foal becoming Nurse Kitchen.

"Some people asked us why we would even contemplate serving the mare after that trauma," noted Chittick.

"We had her fully checked and all the signs were very positive so we went ahead and look at how that has turned out.

"Moods has always said I should have a bronze statue of him at our place given his success with horses that we have bred but I think I will be telling him now he'd better get one of us for his place after that result!"

NYMPH MONTE ON TARGET FOR NEW ZEALAND CUP

Nymph Monte powers clear for a comfortable Riccarton win on the weekend

A missed opportunity at the recent Hawkes Bay Spring Carnival might turn to gold for trainer Grant Nicholson with his progressive stayer Nymph Monte (NZ) (Tavistock) entering New Zealand Cup calculations with an impressive win at Riccarton on the weekend.

Nicholson had the five-year-old Tavistock gelding primed for a start in the Livamol Classic on the last day at Hastings but when he couldn't make the final field for the Group One contest Nicholson set his sights on a different goal. The first step on that new path was taken in Saturday's Listed Christchurch Casino Spring Classic (2000m) where the gelding simply destroyed his rivals in the closing stages to score by a comfortable four length margin.

The victory was just what Nicholson was looking for as he gets ready to pay the late nomination fee for the Gr. 3 Christchurch Casino New Zealand Cup (3200m) on the 12th of November.

"I knew he was well but I wasn't quite sure how he would measure up given he hadn't had a run for just on a month," remarked Nicholson when questioned about the performance.

"He was quite dominant in the end which is great to see as we get him ready for the Cup next month.

"He got a track that really suited him and Alysha (Collett) rode him superbly so I'm delighted with how things worked out."

Nicholson has always had a big opinion of his charge as a staying prospect although it is only this season where he has felt the horse had finally strengthened up enough to match his early potential.

"He really seems to have come of age for this preparation and you could see that when he won first up at Te Rapa," he noted.

"He was good enough to run in the Derby of his year whilst last season we just tried to take things slowly and work him through the grades.

"This was always going to be the campaign where we really wanted to test him so that's why I set him for the Livamol. He went super races on the first two days there but we just couldn't make the final field so I had to go back to the drawing board.

"That's when I decided to see if we could get to the New Zealand Cup and it's so far so good."

Nymph Monte will now return to Riccarton on the first day of the three-day Riccarton Carnival on the 5th of November to contest the traditional Cup prelude, the Gold Metropolitan Trophy Handicap (2500m).

"He has pulled up well so we are pressing ahead with our plans which will see him run in the Metropolitan next," said Nicholson.

"Safely through that it will then be on to the Cup a week later. If he can strike a similar surface to Saturday I think they will know he has been in the race."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Rokkii confirmed for Cantala

Last start Group One winner He's Our Rokkii (NZ) (Roc De Cambes) has been confirmed as a starter in the Gr. 1 Cantala Stakes at Flemington this Saturday.

He's Our Rokkii has won all three of his starts this campaign and will carry half a kilogram more at 55.5kg than when he won the Gr. 1 Toorak at Caulfield on October 8.

Co-trainer Tom Dabernig said He's Our Rokkii, to be ridden by Dwayne Dunn, had pleased the stable since his Toorak victory and could back up a week later over 2000m in the Emirates.

"We'd have to see what is likely to run out of the Cox Plate and I'd like to hear that Winx is not going to it," Dabernig said.

"The Emirates in years to come could turn out to be a real super race, especially if you get horses backing up from the mile on the Saturday and from the Cox Plate."

SUMMER CUPS BECKON FOR CLASSY CHENILLE

Classy mare Chenille (NZ) (Pentire) kicked off a superlative day for the Cambridge based Tony Pike stable when she returned to form with a vengeance at Ellerslie on Saturday.

The lightly raced five-year-old was having her third run back in this campaign and registered her sixth career success as she powered home to score decisively in the South Auckland Racing Club sponsored 1600 metre contest. It was the mare's first victory since she triumphed in the Listed Hawke's Bay Gold Cup back in April and showed she is ready to make her presence felt in the upcoming summer staying features.

"We're proud of her today," said co-owner and breeder Vicki Pike who was representing the stable with son Tony across the Tasman at Moonee Valley with star three-year-old Sacred Elixir (NZ) (Pour Moi).

"She's been a difficult mare to get fit as, with the tracks we've had through the winter, we just haven't been able to get the work into her."

Pike acknowledged the mare had needed the first two runs in her current preparation but had felt she was ready to show improvement on the weekend.

"She's a big, gross mare," she said.

"Her first two starts were very similar to last year as she has just taken the time to get fit. Today we expected her to go a much improved run as the weather has been good but we didn't expect her to win.

"We're looking forward to a good season with her now."

Trainer Tony Pike had indicated in the past he felt the mare was a genuine summer cups contender with her programme likely to be aimed at races such as the Gr. 3 Ssanyong Counties Cup (2100m) in mid November or Gr. 3 SKYCITY Hamilton Waikato Cup (2400m) in December.

While Pike would have been delighted with the performance his day got even better when Sacred Elixir rounded off his preparation for next week's Gr. 1 AAMI Victoria Derby with a stirring performance to score in the last race of the day at Moonee Valley, the Gr. 2 LUCRF Super Vase (2040m).

COUNTIES CUP NEXT FOR MEGABLAST

Progressive stayer Megablast (NZ) (Shinko King) didn't let his army of supporters down when he dealt to his rating 85 rivals over 2400 metres at Trentham on Saturday.

The stylish grey five-year-old was heavily backed to start a $2.40 favourite in the contest and after enjoying a comfortable midfield position was sent to the front by rider Jonathan Riddell with 600 metres to run. He kept up a powerful gallop in the run home before being eased down by Riddell, still three and a quarter lengths to the good of his nearest challenger at the winning post.

It was the gelding's sixth career victory and second for trainer Nigel Tiley in just three starts after he was transferred to the Pukekohe conditioner's care from the Kevin Myers stable.

"It was impressive and didn't surprise me," said Tiley after the race.

"I just thought if he got through the ground he was a big chance. He is a very progressive horse that didn't have much chance last start in a slowly run race."

Tiley was referring to a second placed finish behind New Zealand Cup candidate Pacorus (NZ) (Tavistock) at Ellerslie last month where the Shinko King gelding made up many lengths in the home straight. That run and his subsequent victory on the weekend has Tiley looking forward to a major target closer to home next month.

"I think we will be looking at the Counties Cup," he advised.

Megablast and Jonathan Riddell ease down as they hit the line at Wellington

"It will be on his back doorstep and he is a horse in form so we will head there."

The victory by Megablast capped a good day for the Tiley stable with three-year-old filly Midnight Gossip (NZ) (Showcasing) scoring narrowly but well at Riccarton while two-year-old Oscar Eight (NZ) (Showcasing) impressed when finishing second behind the flying Gilhoolie (NZ) (Guillotine) at Ellerslie.

LOGAN & GIBBS KEEN TO ACHIEVE NOTABLE WEEKEND DOUBLE

Ruakaka trainer Donna Logan is quietly confident she has the firepower to take out the second leg of a three-year-old stakes double for the weekend when the Gr. 2 James & Annie Sarten Memorial Stakes (1400m) is contested at Te Rapa today.

Logan and training partner Chris Gibbs produced three-year-old filly Astarta (NZ) (Dalghar) to triumph in Saturday's Listed Dunstan Feeds Soliloquy Stakes and will have Gr. 1 Sothys NZ 2000 Guineas candidates Mongolian Falcon (Fastnet Rock) and Wyndspelle (NZ) (Iffraaj) as their representatives for the Labour Day contest.

Although both colts are coming in fresh off the back of contrasting performances in the Gr. 2 Hawke's Bay Guineas, where Mongolian Falcon won handsomely while Wyndspelle plugged on to finish fifth, Logan believes there is little to choose between the pair.

"They have both come on really well since Hastings and I couldn't be happier with them," she said.

"Mongolian Falcon has just thrived since his Guineas win. We were originally going to go straight to Riccarton for the Group One with him but he has done so well we thought he needed one more run hence why we have him in the race.

"He has drawn beautifully in gate two which should mean he can take up a forward position but whether he leads or not will be up to Leith (Innes)."

Logan warned not to overlook the prospects of Wyndspelle despite a bad barrier draw and being beaten comprehensively by his stable mate at Hastings.

"He actually went an enormous race at Hastings where he just didn't get the rub of the green," she said.

"He got back in a bad spot and didn't really appreciate the going on the day. He was a long way from them on the corner but ran home very resolutely which we were delighted with.

"He is one that is definitely going to appreciate the step up to a mile at Riccarton but we think he can go a very cheeky race."

The Logan & Gibbs pair won't have it all their own way in the contest with fellow 2000 Guineas candidates Ugo Foscolo (NZ) (Zacinto) and Xiong Feng (NZ) (Iffraaj) along with promising fillies Honey Rider (NZ) (Pins) and Bella Gioia (NZ) (Swiss Ace) all appealing as genuine winning chances.

GRAY SEES STAYING FUTURE FOR BRILLIANT WINNER

Trainer Stephen Gray praised Alan Munro for a perfect ride on Brilliant One (NZ) (Showcasing) in Sunday's first race at Kranji, but also spared a thought for jockey Vlad Duric, especially for his selflessness.

Duric last rode the Showcasing three-year-old when finishing runner-up in a Maiden event over 1400m a month ago, but with the handicap being only 51kgs in Sunday's $65,000 Initiation race over 1400m, he would have had to cut an arm off to make the weight.

With Duric caught in a riveting title fight with Manoel Nunes and Danny Beasley, every ride counts, and Gray, who is the Australian rider's No 1 supporter, could have skipped that race to look for another race where he could jump back on.

But Duric had the last say which way to go.

"Vlad wasn't selfish about the whole thing. He couldn't make the weight, but he told me to give the horse a run in that 1400m race as he was fit and well, don't waste it," said Gray.

"We booked Alan and he's ridden the horse very well, but I have to give Vlad credit for putting the horse's interests first."

Sent out at lukewarm odds of $51, Brilliant One was seen as just the early pacemaker when he jumped on the bunny, especially with short-priced favourite Mr Lewis (NZ) (Darci Brahma) tucked away right behind, ready to pounce once in the clear.

But that opening never materialised for Mr Lewis, who put in a half-hearted bid when Brilliant One rolled off the fence ever so lightly, not leaving sufficient room for him to dart through. Munro kept his horse on the rise, which Brilliant One responded gamely to, plugging away to hold a three-quarter length edge over Mr Lewis with Prince Ferdinand (NZ) (No Excuse Needed) third, another half-a-length away. The winning time was 1min 24.02secs for the 1400m on the Short Course.

Brilliant One leads all the way at Kranji

Gray realised luck played a bit of a part in the win, but said Brilliant One also won on his own merits, predicting a staying future for the gelding raced by East Malaysian connections

"He won a nice race today, though we were lucky the favourite (Mr Lewis) couldn't get off the fence," said the Kiwi handler.

"I bought the horse from the Karaka Ready To Run sales. He's a neat horse with a great temperament, and he will stay, though we thought he would be a sprinter at first as he is by Showcasing.

"He's my first winner for the owner, Peter Chin who is the Chairman of the Royal Sabah Turf Club. Well done to Peter."

the job done in the $75,000 Restricted Maiden race over 1200m on Sunday.

Taken on for most of the six-furlong journey after he pinged to the front, Chariots Of Fire rounded the home turn in a fairly bunched-up field, but started to race clear the moment jockey Vlad Duric pulled the stick.

He was inclined to hang out under pressure at the 200m, but Duric did his best to keep him on a straight course while extracting the best out of the three-year-old. Chariots Of Fire never let up to score by half-a-length from Draco (NZ) (Falkirk) with the luckless One Kinabalu (Dane Shadow) having to settle for third place another length away.

The second consecutive progeny of leading New Zealand sire Showcasing to score after Brilliant One in the opener, Chariots Of Fire, who carried the silks of leading New Zealand outfit Go Racing, impressed trainer Bruce Marsh with his winning attitude despite his relative inexperience.

“That was a very gutsy run. He had no peace in front but he kept on very well,” said the Kiwi handler.

“He’s still doing a few things wrong. I don’t think he liked the Polytrack at his first couple of runs.

“But I think he’s going in the right direction. I will speak with Vlad to see if he will be better over 1400m.”

From the way the Australian jockey rated the colt and his future endeavours, the answer was a resounding yes.

“It was a good gallant effort from a very progressive type of horse,” he said.

“Every time Bruce puts a saddle on a horse, he is going to improve further. This horse will get 1400m to 1600m on his ears.”

Chariots Of Fire carries the familiar Go Racing silks to a victory at Kranji

NEWS IN BRIEF

Top NZ stallion Showcases three winners at Kranji

New Zealand stallion Showcasing (Oasis Dream) took the honours at Kranji on Sunday when he sired three of the 11 winners. Brilliant One (NZ) and Chariots Of Fire (NZ) gave the Haunui Farm shuttle stallion a great start in the first two races before Casing Royal (NZ) completed the hat-trick later in Race 8, the $100,000 Open Benchmark 83 race over the metric mile.

Trainer Alwin Tan, who thought like most racegoers that Robin Hood (NZ) (Nom Du Jeu) would be his first pick, could not hide his surprise at the winner's enclosure, but said the owners and him took a chance and were well rewarded.

"It's very hard to find a good 1400m Polytrack race for him. I thought the mile would be too far, but we decided with the lightweight over the distance, he was worth a try," said the Singaporean handler.

"He was also up in class, and to be honest, I didn't have much confidence in his chances. But I have to say Munro rode him very well.

"He knows how to settle the horse and he just let him come into the race without bustling him up. After that win in such company, I guess I have one more prospect for next year's Singapore Four-Year-Old Challenge."
