UNDERWOOD THE CUP LEAD-UP FOR TAVAGO

Caulfield Cup prospect Tavago will continue his campaign in the Gr. 1 Underwood Stakes this weekend

Australian Derby winner Tavago (NZ) (Tavistock) has caused some headaches for trainers Trent Busuttin and Natalie Young as they plan his program to the Caulfield Cup.

Tavago furthers his preparation towards next month's 2400m handicap in the weight-for-age Underwood Stakes (1800m) at Caulfield on Saturday.

Ideally the trainers would have liked a 2000m race but Busuttin said the Turnbull Stakes on October 2 was too close to the Caulfield Cup.

"If the Naturalism had been run under weight-for-age conditions he would have run in that race," Busuttin said.

"He's only a small horse and with 59 kilos, giving weight away to Jameka and Set Square and those sorts of horses, he didn't need to be having a hard run with 59 kilos.

"It's not like he's a tough five or six-year-old gelding with a heap of racing under his belt."

UNDERWOOD THE CUP LEAD-UP FOR TAVAGO

Jameka (Myboycharlie) was promoted to equal Caulfield Cup favourite alongside Hartnell (Authorized) after her stylish win in Saturday's Naturalism Stakes.

Tavago had been entered for the Hill Stakes at Randwick won in spectacular fashion by Hartnell but the trainers decided to stay close to home.

Busuttin is still learning about Tavago and is haunted by the gelding's flop in the Waikato Guineas earlier in the year.

That was the only time Busuttin has backed Tavago up within a two week period.

"He's only had eight runs and only one prep," Busuttin said.

"I am mindful that I might get him to the Turnbull and with Flemington such a good drying track he could cop a hard track which could make a 13-day turnaround to the Caulfield Cup a bit tough.

"I'd rather have three weeks between runs and while it's 1800 metres I think he's one horse that can get away with it."

Busuttin said he doesn't expect going into the Caulfield Cup third-up to be a problem.

He pointed out the European and Japanese horses coming to Australia for the major races have sometimes not raced for three months.

He said the facilities at Cranbourne where he and Young have set up base since moving from New Zealand were fantastic.

"There's enough tracks to do something different," Busuttin said.

"We've got these bush walks that the horses really enjoy.

"They prick their ears and have a good look around and the sand is deep enough that they do a bit of work at the same time."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Sky Kingdom adds another stakes victory for sire Montjeu

The Paul Makin owned and bred Sky Kingdom (Montjeu) took out the Prix du Prince d'Orange (Gr. 3, 2000m) at Maisons- Laffitte on Saturday, providing the late Montjeu (Sadler's Wells) with his 122nd stakes winner.

The William Haggas-trained colt came home strongly from off the pace to beat the favourite Mekhtaal (Sea The Stars) by a short-neck, with a further three lengths back to Spectroscope (Medaglia d'Oro) in third.

Sky Kingdom is out of the dual New Zealand Group One winner We Can Say It Now (Starcraft) who is a granddaughter of Group Two winner Courtalista (NZ) (Pompeii Court).

Montjeu, who died in March 2012, is the sire of some of the world's best gallopers including multiple Group One winners St Nicholas Abbey, Fame And Glory, Hurricane Run and Cambridge Stud's burgeoning stallion sensation, Tavistock.

SACRED ELIXIR BEGINS CAMPAIGN IN PRELUDE

Sacred Elixir will open his three-year-old campaign at Caulfield this weekend.

Form lines will converge in the Caulfield Guineas Prelude with the field set to include Group One winners Astern (Medaglia D'Oro) and Sacred Elixir (NZ) (Pour Moi) who will both be making their Melbourne debuts.

Godolphin colt Astern was dominant in the Group One Golden Rose last Saturday week in Sydney and is the $3.20 favourite for next month's Caulfield Guineas.

The Tony Pike-trained New Zealander Sacred Elixir won the Group One J J Atkins Stakes (1600m) in Brisbane during the winter carnival and has his first start as a three-year-old in Saturday's Prelude over 1400m.

Sacred Elixir's program includes the Caulfield Guineas on his way to the Victoria Derby and Pike has been delighted with the gelding's build-up to the spring.

"He's really going well. He's settled into Melbourne really well," Pike said. "He'll kick off in the Caulfield Guineas Prelude which is going to be 1400 metres which is well short of his best, but we'll just be looking for him to hit the line strongly in that race.

"And obviously once he gets up in trip, he should be able to pick up one of the nice three-year-old staying races over the carnival."

After the Caulfield Guineas (1600m)

Sacred Elixir is likely to go to The Vase over 2040m on Cox Plate day at Moonee Valley before the Victoria Derby (2500m).

“Obviously he’s nominated for the Cox Plate but, to be honest, he’d probably have to be dominant in the Caulfield Guineas to take that path,” Pike said.

“We’ve always thought he was more of a Derby-type of horse than a short-course horse. So that looks like the likely option at this stage.”

Pike took notice of Astern’s Golden Rose win and also the early season Melbourne races.

“I think the Sydney three-year-olds have probably got it on the Melbourne three-year-olds at this point in time,” he said.

“He looks pretty impressive, Astern. Going through the markets after that, there’s four or five three-year-olds that are all around the same sort of price and it’s pretty wide open behind him at the moment.”

Damian Lane is set to ride Sacred Elixir in the Prelude and stablemate Rangipo (Stryker) in the Sir Rupert Clarke Stakes if Pike is happy with the New Zealand Derby winner after he gallops on Tuesday.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Berkley Stud stallion on a high

The progeny of Berkley Stud’s freshman sire Highly Recommended (Fastnet Rock) have hit the ground running with his first trial runner a winner.

The unnamed two-year-old colt out of Princess Halo won his 650m heat at Rangiora on Tuesday for Michael Daly. He is the first foal for multiple winning My Halo mare Princess Halo (NZ), who hails from the family of Gr.3 winners Nouvain (NZ) (Truly Vain) and Zatella (NZ) (Zabeel).

A son of Fastnet Rock, Highly Recommended was a precocious juvenile who won on debut at Flemington as a two-year-old, and then went on to be competitive in the spring three-year-old races starting almost exclusively in stakes races.

Highly Recommended’s biggest win was the Gr.2 Alister Clark Stakes for Peter Moody and he is a half-brother to Gr.1 winner Sky Cuddle (Snippets) and Gr.3 winner Sky Love (Octagonal).

Well supported in his first three seasons serving over 300 mares, Christchurch based Highly Recommended is standing for $4000 +GST in 2016.

ADMIRAL SAILS HOME AT PUKEKOHE

Former Pukekohe trained galloper Admiral (NZ) (Align) made a triumphant return to his old home patch when he streeted his rivals in Sunday's Listed Haunui Farm Karaka Classic (1600m).

Although most pundits expected the free-going Align gelding to make the pace in the race, popular opinion had it that he would be found wanting by his better credentialed rivals at the business end of the contest.

Admiral and rider Viktoria Gatu initially followed that script as they set off at break neck speed to establish an early lead on their rivals however, as they approached the home turn, it became apparent no-one had told Admiral how the story was supposed to finish.

Gatu had the powerful gelding pinging along beautifully and increased the lead margin as they rounded the home bend as their rivals started to become urgent in their chase. The pursuit was ineffectual though as Gatu and Admiral maintained a spirited gallop throughout as they relished the heavy underfoot conditions to lead all the way and score easing down by just over five lengths at the winning post.

Cambridge visitor Blizzard (NZ) (Any Suggestion) closed strongly from well back to grab second while former Hong Kong galloper Willie Cazals (Aussie Rules) showed he was returning to his better form with a tidy effort for third.

Ecstatic trainer Stephen Ralph, who is now based at Te Rapa after moving from his initial Pukekohe base, admitted he was one of those who had concerns about how his charge would cope with the 1600 metre journey after having never previously won past 1200 metres.

"That light weight really does help, it was what we needed," admitted Ralph after the race.

"He was coming back home as this is where he started off so he knows the place well.

Admiral streets his rivals in Sunday's Listed Haunui Farm Karaka Classic

"I thought he was going to faint when they were so far out in front but good on Viktoria, a job well done."

Ralph also admitted he hadn't initially planned to tackle the contest with Admiral but was persuaded to do so by the gelding's owner, Stuart Seath.

"I wasn't looking at the race but it was Stuart who wanted him in the field," he said.

"That's what we did so good on him as well."

The win was the fourth for Admiral from 24 starts and took his prizemoney close to the $100,000 mark.

KAWI TO SKIP HASTINGS FOR PERTH DATE

Connections of Gr. 1 Livamol Classic contenders can breathe a sigh of relief.

Kawi (NZ) (Savabeel) will be missing when the third leg of the Hastings triple crown runs in a fortnight.

"He won't be going over for the last one," his New Plymouth trainer Allan Sharrock confirmed on Sunday.

Kawi's sensational win in the Windsor Park Plate (1600m) on Saturday came off the back of a victory on day one of the carnival in the Gr. 1 Makfi Challenge Stakes, placing him in position to complete the rare triple crown for the first time in the series history.

But sentiment has been set aside to chase cold hard Aussie dollars in two races in Perth, the first over 1600m on November 19 followed by an 1800m race on December 3, both A$1 million Group I races.

"He'll have a week in the paddock now," Sharrock said. "He's a tired horse right now and he can have a break and then I'll set about preparing him for the mile.

"Obviously flights and everything have to work out - it's a long way to go with the travel involved.

"But he's a good traveller and a good eater so he should be fine."

That will come as relief, not only to Livamol contenders but also battered bookies.

A $40,000 wager on Kawi at $1.85 was the biggest single bet on the day but it was the vast number of multi's that "hammered" the cleaned-out bookies.

"It's hard to remember a day quite like it," TAB bookmaker Thad Taylor said. "It was certainly in the top three of days when we've been bashed especially in the galloping code.

"Punters were bashing us wherever we looked - it was excellent day for the multi punters."

Smart kiwi galloper Kawi will forego an attempt at the Hastings triple crown for the riches of Perth

HUMIDOR STRENGTHENS HIS CASE FOR LIVAMOL INCLUSION

Otaki galloper Humidor (NZ) (Teofilo) has strengthened his case for a start in the Gr. 1 Livamol Classic on the last day of the three-day Hastings Spring Carnival with a dominant victory at the track on Saturday.

Having just his eight career start the rangy four-year-old was sent out a warm favourite in the AON Insurance Brokers sponsored open 2000 metre contest. Sporting the distinctive green colours of his owners and breeders, Jomara Bloodstock, the gelding didn't disappoint as he held out a strong challenge from fellow Livamol contender Savaria (NZ) (Savabeel) to clinch his fourth victory and underline his claims for the feature weight-for-age event on the 1st of October.

Co-trainer Johno Benner, who prepares the Teofilo gelding with partner Holly Wynyard, was well satisfied with effort as he looks forward to tackling elite company at his next start.

"There's still a lot of improvement in him as we haven't done a lot in between his win on the first day and this race," said Benner after the race.

"I think that will get him a start in the Livamol Classic and we do have two weeks to decide if he will run. We feel he's up to it and he will learn a lot from this one as he didn't get it all his own way."

Benner was alluding to the early part of Saturday's contest where the gelding tended to over-race when trying to find a mid-field position after jumping well from the barrier.

"He was a little keen when he was trying to find a spot early in the race but he settled down after that and travelled well," he said.

"He's still a big baby and tends to pull and do silly little things but he has come a long way and we are thrilled to bits with that. We know it is a big step up to a Group One race but we think he can cope and after today you will see him at 110 percent for the Livamol."

Rider Mark Du Plessis was also taken with the run despite being a victim of the horse's idiosyncrasies after the race when he shied and parted company with his rider on the way back to the birdcage.

"He showed today that, if not this season then next, he is going to be a good horse," he said.

"He's doing everything we ask him and if doesn't win the Group One this time he will win it next year."

KINAGAT IMPRESSES IN SEASON DEBUT

The Michael and Matthew Pitman team strengthened their hand for the major sprint races on their home patch this season when Kinagat (Street Cry) made an emphatic start to a new campaign at Riccarton on Saturday.

The five-year-old gelding had impressed many in his first New Zealand campaign last season when he put together a brace of victories after Michael Pitman purchased him off the track in Sydney where he had won two of his 10 career starts.

Pitman had expressed the opinion his charge had developed into a serious contender for major honours this year after spelling well during the winter months. Those sentiments looked well on the mark on Saturday where he treated his open class rivals with contempt as he eased to a comfortable three quarter length victory over 1200 metres in the hands of in-form rider Samantha Wynne.

“He really is all class and I had been expecting a big run for him as he has progressed really well for us this time in,” noted Pitman.

“He probably only did what he had to do on Saturday and they didn’t go that quick so there is plenty of improvement in him. He got to the front a little early in the run home but held them out comfortably so it was a pleasing effort.”

Pitman has ambitious plans in place for the Street Cry gelding with the first major target being the Gr. 3 Lindauer Stewards Stakes (1200m) on the middle day of Riccarton’s New Zealand Cup Carnival in November.

“Provided he comes up as we think he can I’ve earmarked the Stewards, the Railway at Ellerslie and the Telegraph at Trentham for this campaign,” he outlined.

“He showed us he can handle Ellerslie when he won second up for the stable last season and I do think his preferred pattern of racing makes him an ideal Trentham type. He went 1.07 for the 1200 here at Riccarton in his third start so he can definitely run the times required to win those big races.”

Pitman is hopeful that Kinagat will provide one of three prongs to the stable’s attack on the Stewards with classy mare First Serve (NZ) (Swiss Ace) and evergreen veteran El Chico (NZ) (Stravinsky) also being aimed at the race.

Meanwhile the stable looks to have unearthed a potential juvenile star following a scintillating trial by Sensei (Dream Ahead) before Saturday’s racing commenced at Riccarton.

Named in honour of Pitman’s son Johnny, who tragically died in 2013, the Dream Ahead colt unleashed a devastating closing sprint to scorch home by four lengths in 46.58 seconds for the 800 metre journey.

Sensei will make his race debut at Riccarton on the 1st of October with Pitman declaring the colt is the best juvenile he has ever worked with.

RICHARDSON PHILOSOPHICAL FOLLOWING HASTINGS SETBACK FOR GUINEAS CONTENDER

Matamata trainer Graham Richardson is taking the “glass half full” approach to the result of Saturday’s Gr. 3 Hawke’s Bay Breeders Gold Trail Stakes after experiencing more than his share of bad luck with his three stable runners.

Richardson saddled up two unbeaten fillies in Volpe Veloce (Foxwedge) and Babe (NZ) (O’Reilly) along with the promising Tesia (NZ) (Pins) for the contest, where he had high hopes for each contender. Those hopes were dashed early in the piece with race favourite Volpe Veloce late scratched after kicking out in her barrier while both Babe and Tesia endured some wretched racing luck that saw them finish well back at the line.

“It’s a great leveller this game,” Richardson said ruefully as he analysed what went wrong for the team.

“I’m never confident going into a race as you never know what can happen but anything that could go wrong certainly did for us in this one.

“You would never expect Volpe Veloce to do what she did in the barrier as she has never looked like it at the trials or in her first two races. Then Tesia was caught wide and never got on the track at any stage while Babe ran into a brick wall in the straight and went to the line under a stranglehold.

“I can tell you it wasn’t quite the result we were looking for and I’m just so disappointed for the connections of each filly.”

Richardson was quick to acknowledge the right decision was made to scratch Volpe Veloce and praised the work of rider Johnathan Parkes and the barrier staff to keep the filly safe.

“Johnathan said she got a fright when she kicked out in the barrier and got her leg tangled up in the back of the gate,” he said.

“She panicked a little and tried to sit down which didn’t help at all. Johnathan did a great job and so did the barrier guys to get her out safely and the vet definitely made the right call in scratching her.

“She has come through it better than I had expected and seems quite free in her action at this stage. I will trot her up on Monday just to see how she is before we make any further decisions with her.”

Richardson will have to reassess how he gets the filly to her main mission, the Gr. 1 gavelhouse.com NZ 1000 Guineas at Riccarton in November, following the incident.

“I had planned to take her to the Sarten Memorial at Te Rapa next but that’s over 1400 metres and I’m not keen to line her up against the boys over that distance first up,” he explained.

“I’m not going to make any plans until I see how she is but once I’m satisfied she is okay I’ll sit down and see where we can go as I think she can still get to Riccarton, albeit using Plan B.”

BLISTERING FINISH CAPS TOP DAY FOR BAKER FORSMAN TEAM

The Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman stable added further firepower to their assault on the spring riches available both here and across the Tasman when one of their promising three-year-olds from last season made a scintillating reappearance at Hastings on Saturday.

Four-year-old gelding Get That Jive (Street Sense) was rated one of the leading contenders for classic honours during his three-year-old campaign but some niggling issues and bad luck combined to thwart those aspirations.

The Street Sense gelding, who is owned and raced by predominantly the same connections as multiple Group One winner Turn Me Loose (NZ) (Iffraaj), collected a trio of Group Two placings without being able to crack an elusive elite level victory. That achievement looks a mere formality this season based on Saturday's performance as the powerful gelding unleashed a blistering finish to put paid to a handy rating 85 field over 1400 metres and provide one of the day's racing highlights.

"He has really matured over his break and has come back in good order for this campaign," noted an understated Forsman.

"He didn't have a lot go right for him as a three-year-old and although he went some top races against the best of his age, he didn't manage to win a race. His only unplaced run was in the New Zealand Derby, where he didn't get the trip, so we put him aside after that and gave him a good, long break."

Forsman admitted he wasn't sure what to expect on Saturday despite the gelding producing a sound performance at the Cambridge trials just over a week ago.

"We thought he was forward enough to be prominent but it was a very handy field to strike for your first run of the season," he said.

"As it panned out the race was run to suit as they went very hard up front and he got a nice run into it on the corner and put them away well."

Future plans for the gelding are currently undecided but Forsman did expect to see the gelding make his way to Australia at some stage.

"We haven't thought past this first run so I can't say where he will go next," he admitted.

"There are plenty of options for him and we do think that he is best suited to a mile or further. I would also guess that his connections would like to see him in Australia if possible so once we see how he comes through this first run Murray will sit down and work out where he will be best placed over the coming months."

NOBLE LIAISON MAKES WINNING DEBUT FOR PETERS

Trainer James Peters' decision to put off the racing debut of promising galloper Noble Liaison (NZ) (Darci Brahma) proved to be right on the mark when the New Zealand-bred newcomer took out Sunday's $65,000 Magneto 2014 Stakes, an Initiation race over 1200m.

In work for a while now, the Darci Brahma four-year-old was even carded to go through his maiden Kranji run a couple of times, but was somehow pulled out each time.

Peters later explained the reason behind the non-starts was nothing too serious, just precautionary, but in hindsight, it has given his charge a little more time to sharpen up – and get off to a victorious note for good measure.

"He had a few niggly issues that forced us to hold off his debut, but as he's a nice horse, we didn't want to take any risk with him until we were 100% happy," said the English handler.

"We knew from Day One that he's got a lot of ability, and he will also get a lot better over more ground."

Beasley also agreed that the second winner for the new Singapore-Australian joint venture of Lim's & Mark's Stable runs more like a stayer, which was a little at odds with his pedigree.

"I rode him in his trials and to me, he feels like a long-distance horse," said the Australian jockey.

"But being by Darci Brahma, it may limit the distance to a mile. Today,

I was pretty confident all the way, though there was a bit of a nervous moment at the top of the straight."
